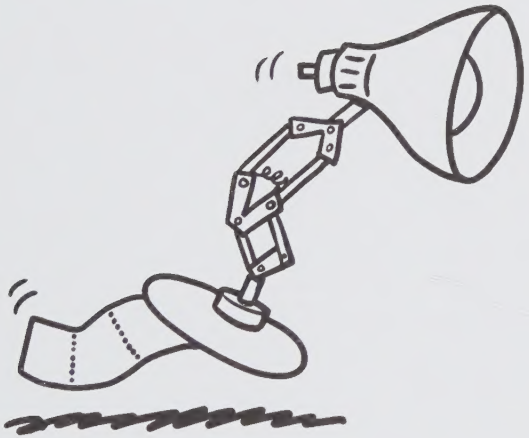
Disney · PIXAR
FUNNY!
Twenty-Five Years of Laughter from the Pixar Story Room
THIS WASN'T IN the MANUAL
W.A.L.-E
HIGH TOP SNEAKER
Ouch!!
Foreword by JOHN LASSETER
Introduction by JASON KATZ

In each of the sixteen feature films Pixar has released to date, from Toy Story to Finding Nemo and The Incredibles to The Good Dinosaur, the most iconic and hilarious moments originated with a group of artists sitting in a room, attempting to be funny. Some of their ideas rise to the top, becoming part of a film and getting a wide release and an opportunity to make us all laugh. Other gags don't make it past the cutting room floor or out of the sketchpad for a variety of reasons—but even these (sometimes especially these) are laugh out loud funny, and reveal the nuance and range of the humor created by the artists in Pixar's story department. This book collects the best of these gags, showcasing classic moments from Pixar's beloved films and bringing to light never-before-published illustrations and doodles from Pixar's archive.

Funny!



Disney · PIXAR

FUNNY!

Twenty-Five Years of Laughter from the Pixar Story Room

Foreword by JOHN LASSETER

Introduction by JASON KATZ

CHRONICLE BOOKS
SAN FRANCISCO

Copyright © 2015 Disney Enterprises, Inc and Pixar Animation Studios.
All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced in any form without written permission from the publisher.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data is available.

ISBN: 978-1-4521-2228-1

Artists included in cover image collage: Erik Benson, Max Brace, Jason Deamer, Harley Jessup, Jason Katz, Robert Lence, Matthew Luhn, Patrick McDonnell, Teddy Newton, Bob Pauley, Jeff Pidgeon, Joe Ranft, Chris Sanders, Domee Shi, and Nate Stanton
Back cover, clockwise from top left: Domee Shi, pen; Matthew Luhn, digital; Joe Ranft, marker
Front flap: Jeff Pidgeon, marker
Back flap: Teddy Newton, marker
Title page: Matthew Luhn, digital

Manufactured in China

Jacket design by Liam Flanagan
Book design by Liam Flanagan and Neil Egan
Cover photograph by Deborah Coleman, Liam Flanagan, and Neil Egan

10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1

Chronicle Books LLC
680 Second Street
San Francisco, California 94107
www.chroniclebooks.com

Contents

7 Foreword

8 Introduction

10 TOY STORY

14 TOY STORY 2

22 TOY STORY 3

34 A BUG'S LIFE

46 MONSTERS, INC.

60 MONSTERS UNIVERSITY

74 FINDING NEMO

82 THE INCREDIBLES

94 CARS

102 CARS 2

106 RATATOUILLE

116 WALL•E

128 UP

138 BRAVE

148 INSIDE OUT

158 THE GOOD DINOSAUR

166 Acknowledgments

Foreword

At Pixar, every film we make is guided by the story's heart, by its core emotion. But as we work out a story, discovering its character development and the twists and turns of its plot, we also always keep an eye out for where the humor will be.

Humor is not just a funny line of dialogue that can be said by any character. True humor comes from character, from a character's unique personality and the character's reaction to a particular set of circumstances. It's no surprise, then, that story artists, with their incredible ability to bring characters and moments to vivid life, are often some of the funniest people you'll ever meet.

When you bring a group of story artists together into a single room, the result is magical. Whether they're meeting to discuss a scene in the movie, or just goofing around, raucous laughter echoes from the story room every day. I've always firmly believed that if you're having fun working on a film, that fun will come through on screen. And as you'll see in these pages . . . there's not a group at the studio that has more fun than the story department.

John Lasseter

Joe Ranft, marker, pen, and pencil

Introduction

This book is filled with images you were never supposed to see. It's a chance to peek behind the curtain at the wonderful, sometimes weird process of creation at Pixar. The following pages showcase sketches, doodles, half-thoughts, crude one-liners, complete non sequiturs, and a handful of brilliant ideas that were not intended to be shared with anyone outside of the story room in which they were created. They were drawn to inspire—simple gags created to make the filmmakers, and ultimately the audience, laugh. This book celebrates the moment when a spark of an idea can take shape and grow into something the world can enjoy.

Every idea starts somewhere—Buzz and the gang crossing a busy road under orange traffic cones; Mrs. Incredible sailing her children to Nomanisan Island, her body stretched into the shape of a boat while her son's feet churn the open ocean like a propeller; or a monster emptying a full trash can onto a plate, turning the refuse into a gourmet lunch. Before these iconic moments made it to the screen, they existed as sketches, simple drawings created by skilled artists in the attempt to sell an idea. Often, in the development of our movies, the filmmakers will have a problem to solve or a moment in the movie that needs more entertainment. To remedy this issue, a team of artists (sometimes from across different departments throughout the company) will be assembled in the story room for what we affectionately call a "gag session." The goal of this meeting could be quite broad—perhaps the director feels the second act needs more humor. Or it could be targeted—maybe trying to come up with fifty ways a room full of preschool toddlers could turn a toy's life into a living hell. Ideas fly fast and furious and if the room is successful, the director will walk away with something that is sure to make the movie stronger.

The term "gag session" is nothing new to animation. Filmmakers have been tasking groups of artists to come up with humorous ideas for cartoons since long before the first animated feature was created. Early animated shorts were merely a handful of gags strung together to form a loose storyline. Walt Disney was notorious for paying cash on the spot to the person with a session's best joke. Warner Bros' animation would host "No No Sessions," meetings in which people in the room were forbidden from saying "no" to any ideas (a tenet mirroring the "Yes, and" rule of acceptance in modern improv). At Pixar, the "gag session" follows our predecessors' examples. The funniest people in the company work together to solve a problem, committed to the belief that there are no bad ideas. The only rule is to try to make the person next to you laugh. Anything goes, and many times gags that we deemed too "out there" when pitched made it into the final film with great success (Buzz Lightyear switching to "Spanish mode" comes to mind). It's a shotgun approach to problem solving and a wonderfully spontaneous brain dump of creation. Having been lucky enough to be in the room for many sessions myself, I can tell you they are one of my favorite parts of the story process. I love the energy of a group of artists building off each other's ideas with a hive mind level of efficiency. Egos are checked at the door and most of the time no one can recall the origin of a gag. I might get a laugh for a drawing that was inspired by something another artist said in reaction to a third artist's doodle. A "gag session" is a true team effort and a heck of a lot of fun.

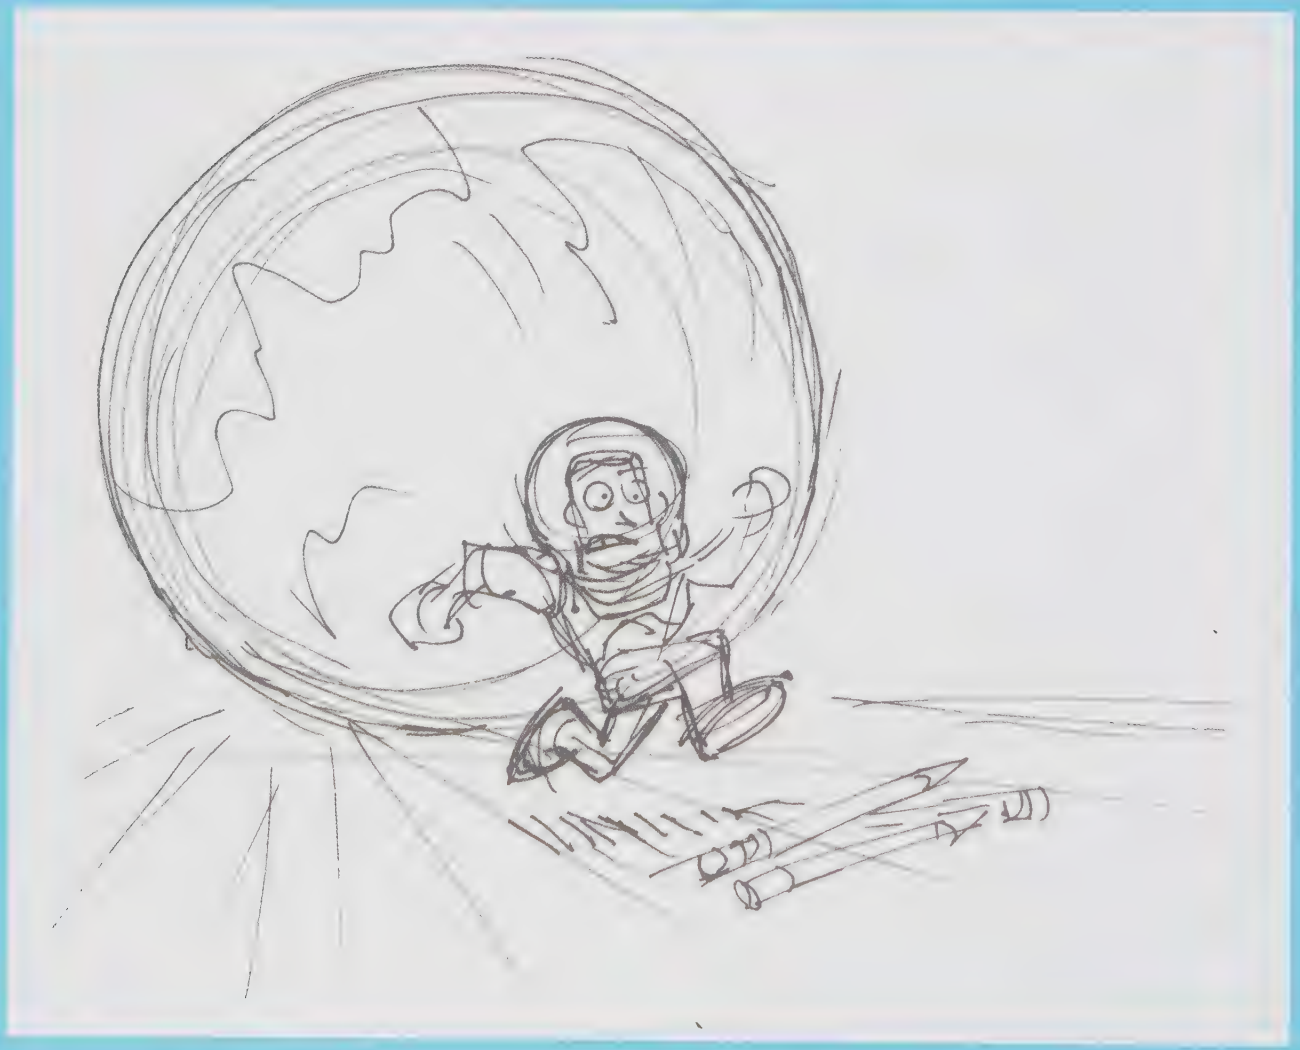
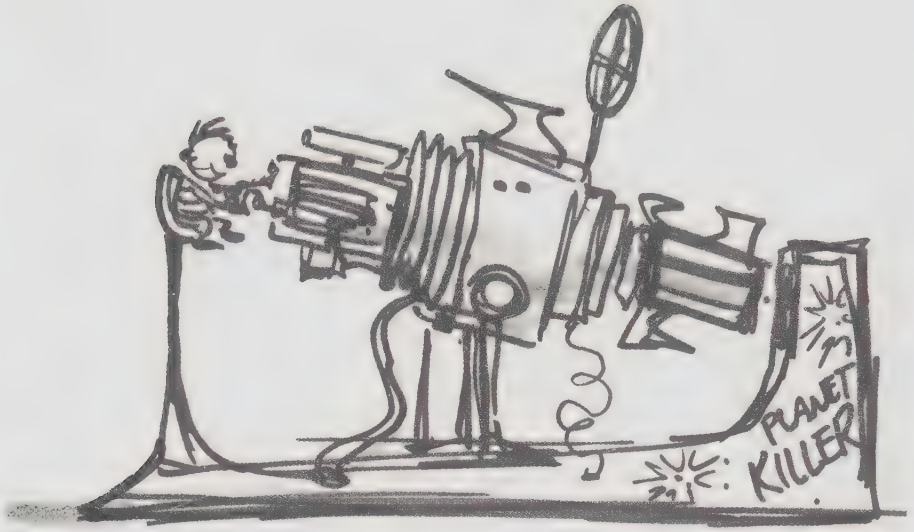
In your hands you hold a snapshot of the Pixar story process in its purest form, revealing the sometimes crude, but often hilarious path to creating our films. It's an opportunity to recognize the artists, many unseen, who lay the foundation of the studios' sense of humor. It's a chance to see a handful of gags, most of which were destined for the trash, but gave life to some of our proudest moments.

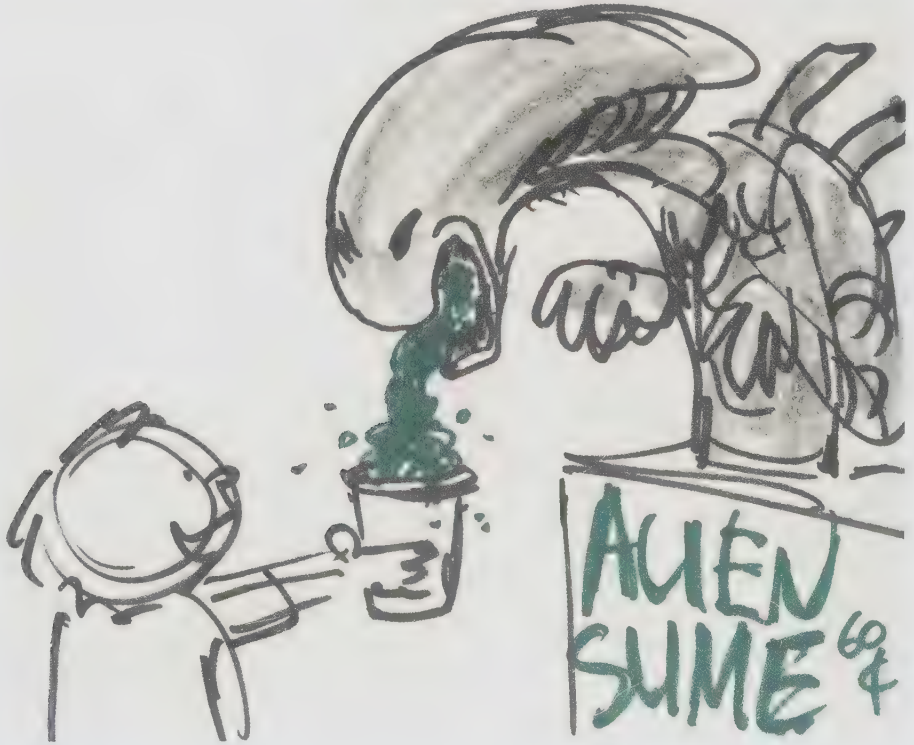
Welcome to the Pixar story room.
Jason Katz

Jason Katz, pencil



Joe Ranft, marker





THIS PAGE
Jason Katz and Robert Lence, marker and pencil

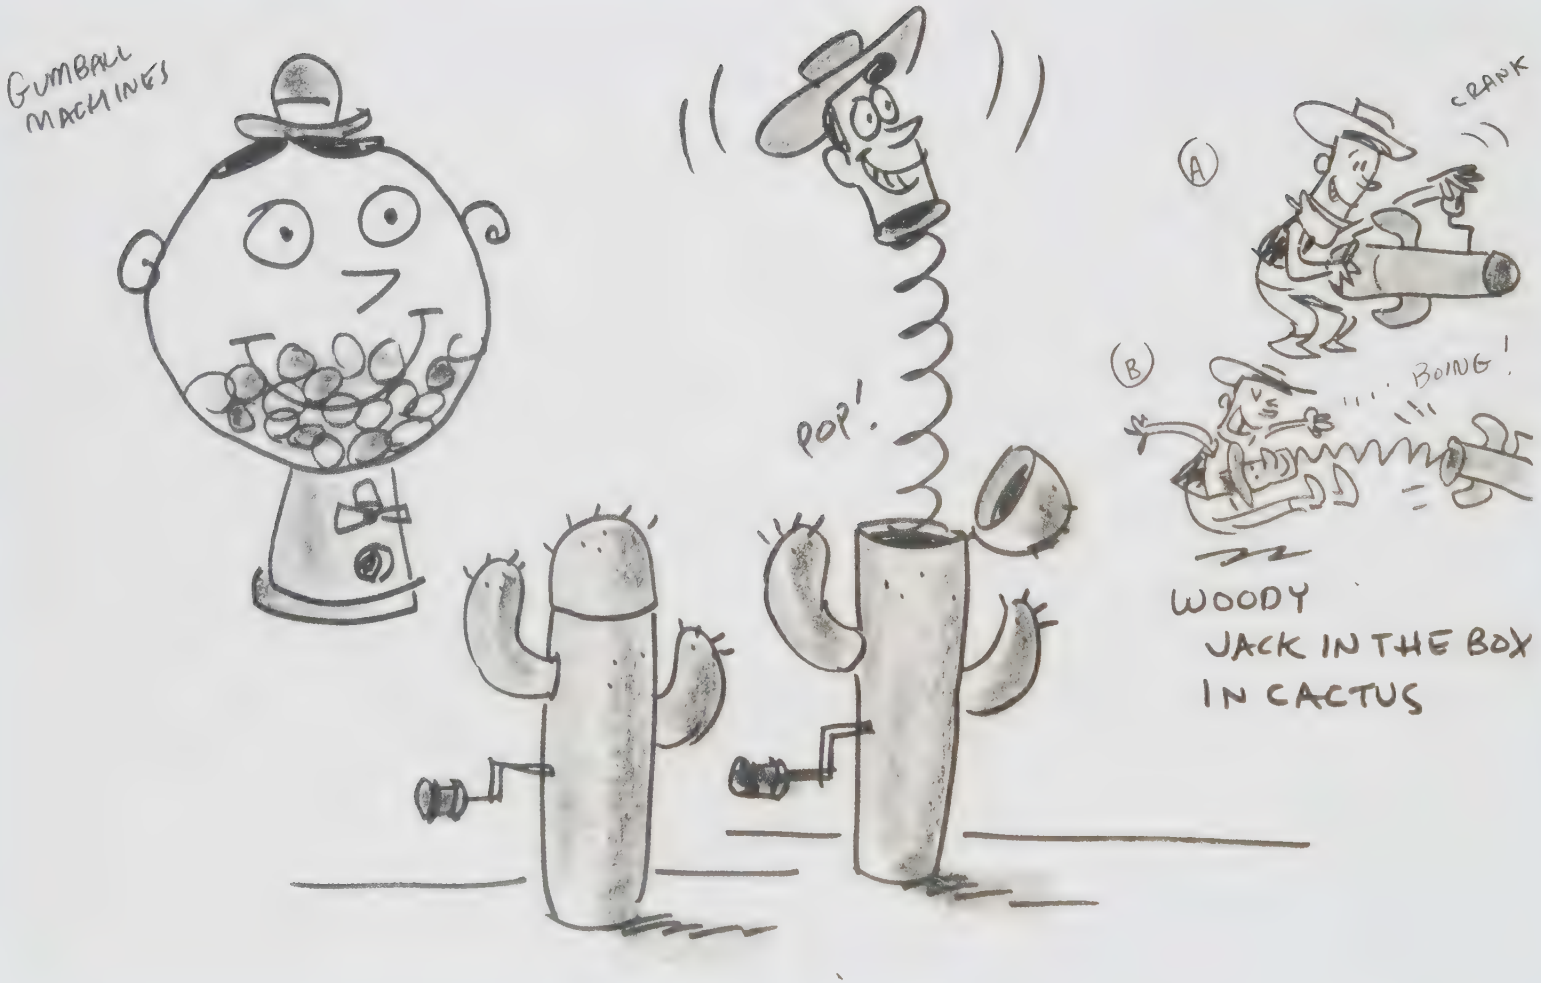
ALIENS!
Do not Blink OR you will Not be Chosen
Do not Breathe OR you will not be chosen!
Do not say the letter "S" or you will not be chosen

THIS SPREAD
Chris Sanders, china marker

A gag session isn't the sort of thing I'd volunteer for, as I don't see myself as a particularly funny person in a room. I'm the guy that thinks of something funny to say about three hours after a party has ended. But this particular situation in Toy Story was different–I lit up when I saw it. Claw games fascinate me: so many little happy, fuzzy, colorful things trapped inside a brightly lit prison, waiting for a notoriously unreliable claw to pluck them from the mob. How lucky the chosen one must feel. And how melancholy the ones left behind must be. To be dropped into that place like Buzz was, would be like landing in a little tub of madness.
—Chris Sanders

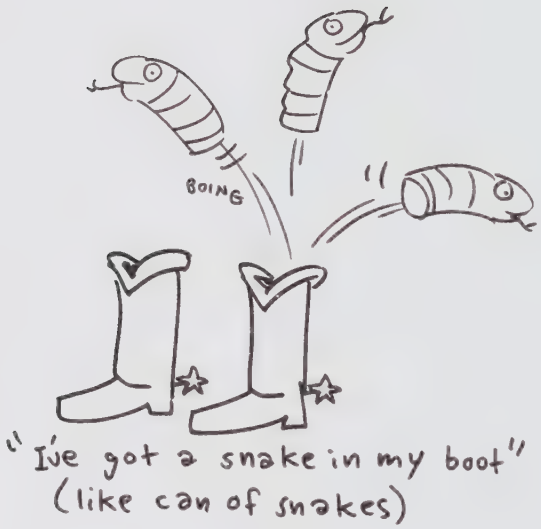
Ken Mitchroney, pencil

Jeff Pidgeon, marker

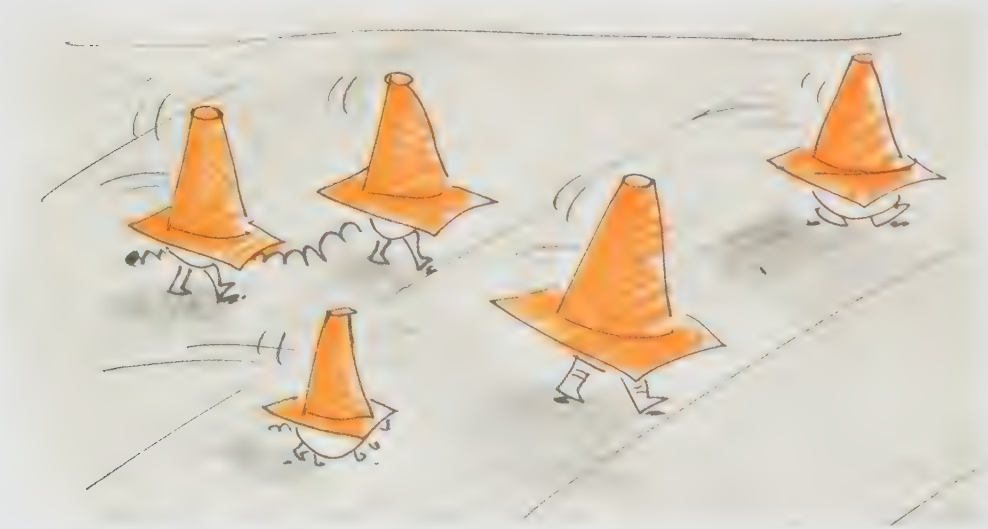


THIS SPREAD
Matthew Luhn, marker and pencil

Matthew Luhn, pen and pencil

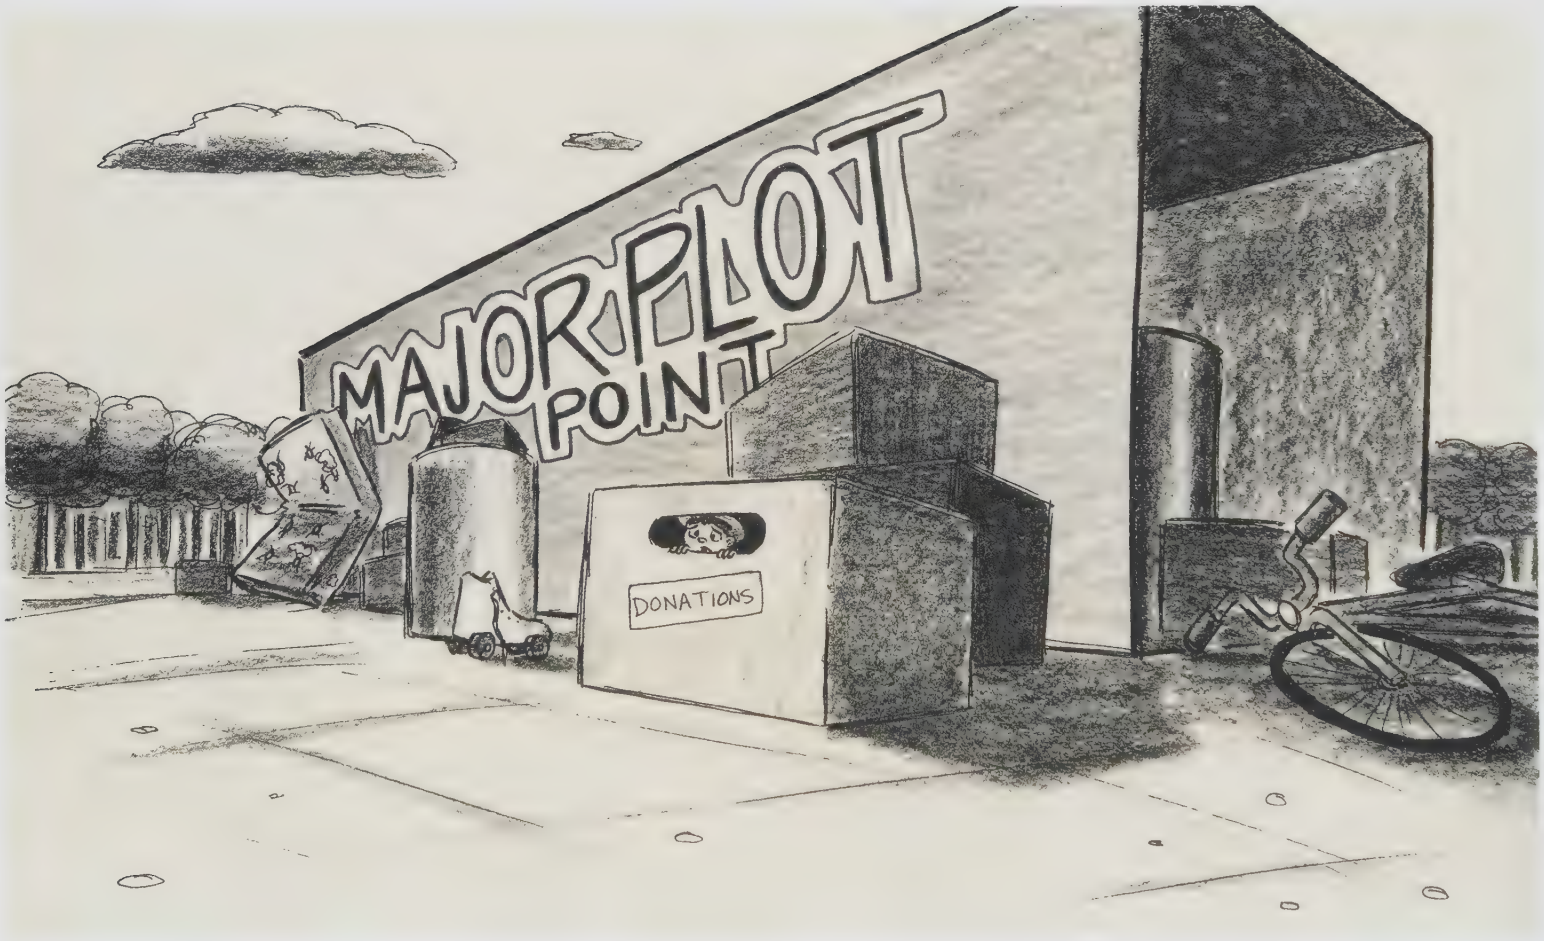


Matthew Luhn, pen



LEFT
Matthew Luhn,
pen and colored pencil

OPPOSITE
Jason Katz,
marker and colored pencil

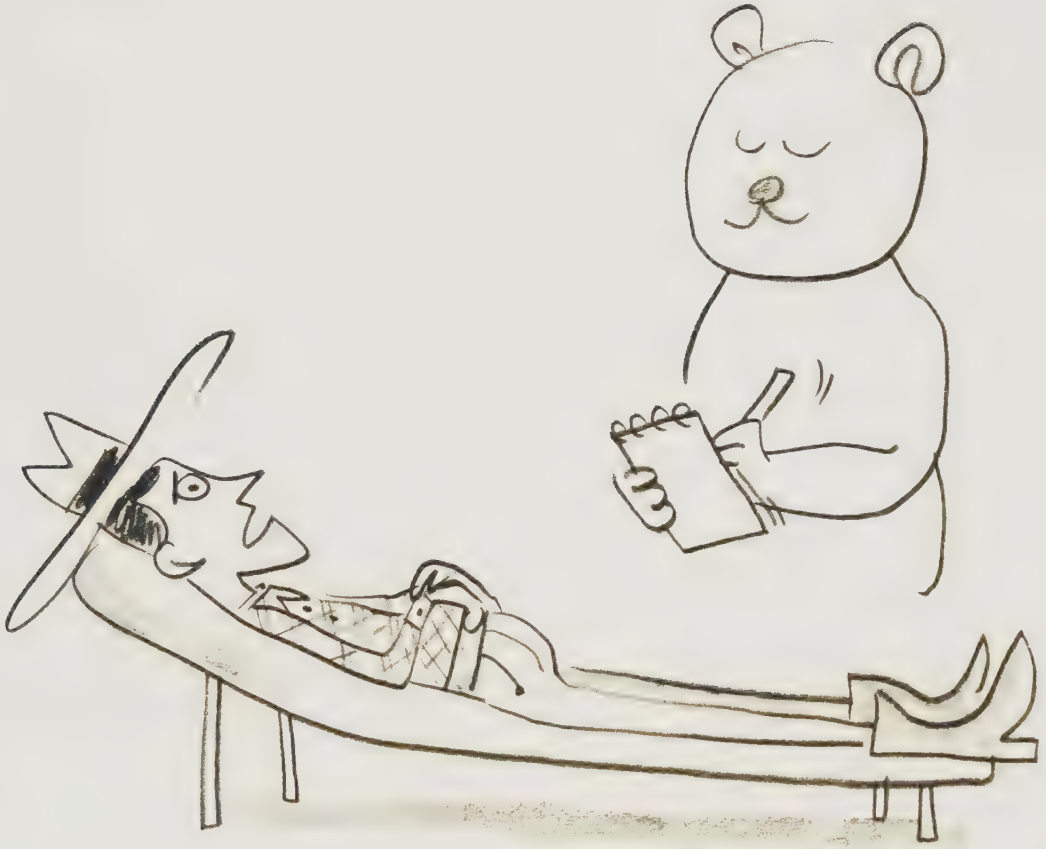


Bobby Podesta, pencil and marker

THIS PAGE
Matthew Luhn, marker, colored pencil, and white-out

Greetings
Earthlings
UFO

THIS SPREAD
Matthew Luhn, digital

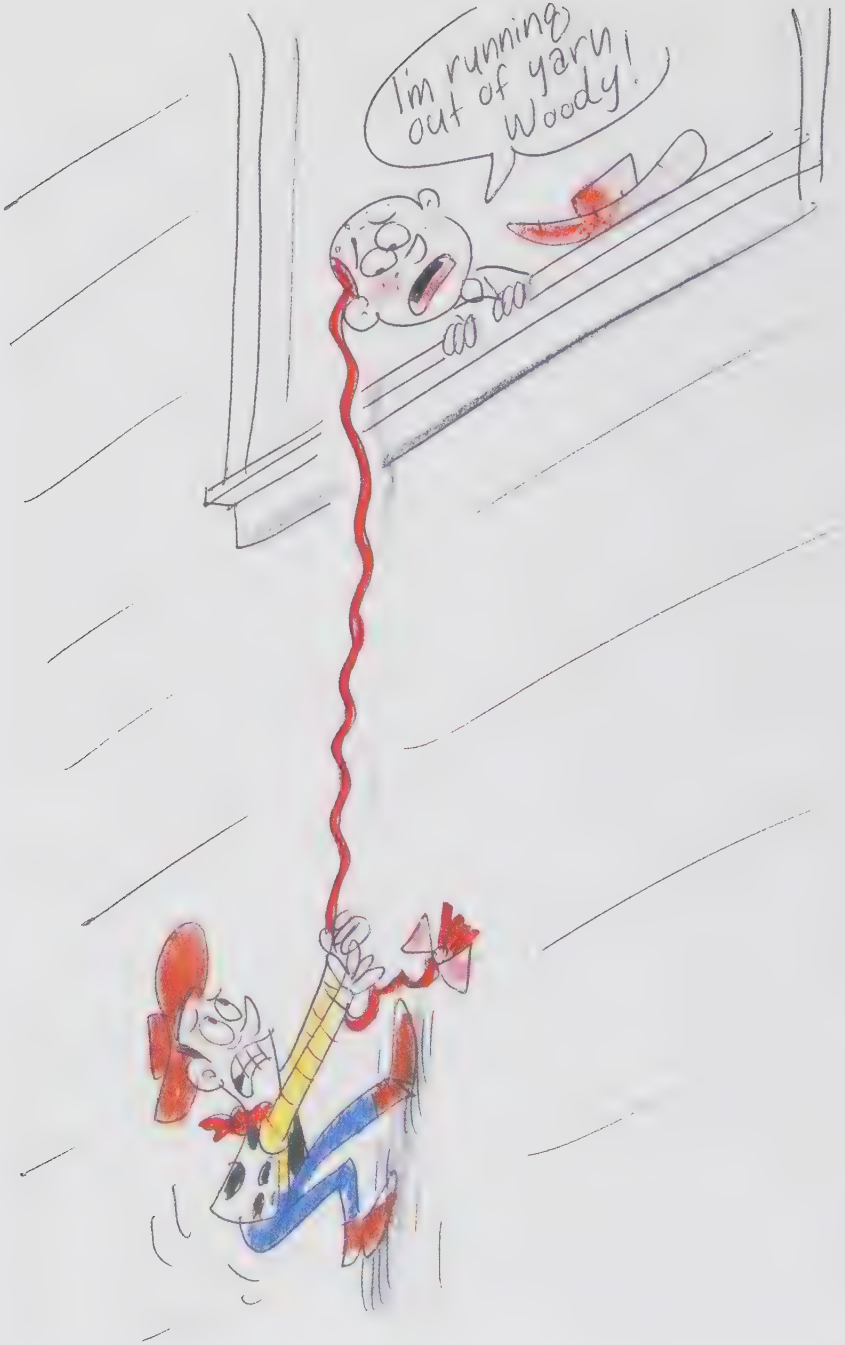


I just become lifeless everytime my "kid" enters the room.

OPPOSITE
Teddy Newton, pencil

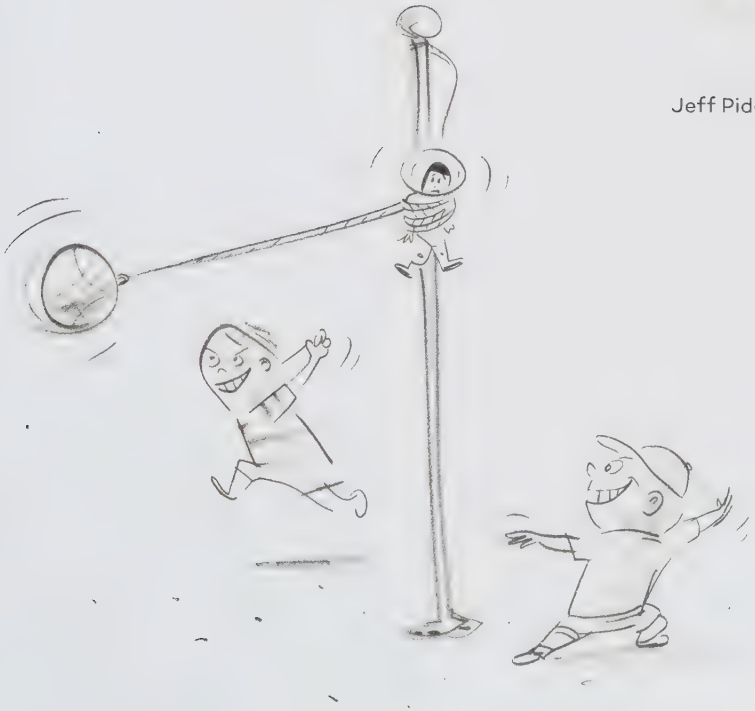
BELOW
Jeff Pidgeon, china marker

RIGHT
Matthew Luhn, pen and colored pencil



Teddy Newton, pencil

Jeff Pidgeon, marker



Teddy Newton, pencil

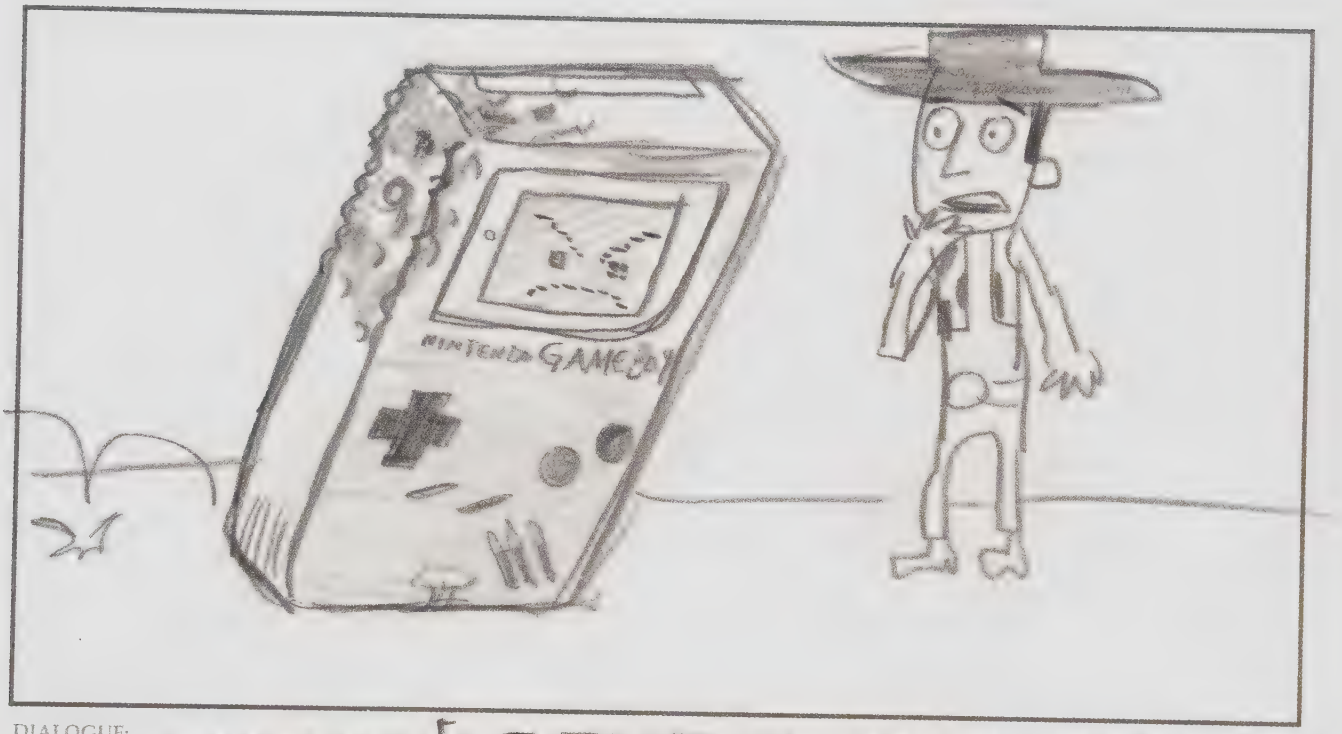
Jeff Pidgeon, marker

Jeff Pidgeon, marker

Matthew Luhn, marker
and colored pencil

ABOVE
Jeff Pidgeon, china marker

RIGHT
Jeff Pidgeon, marker



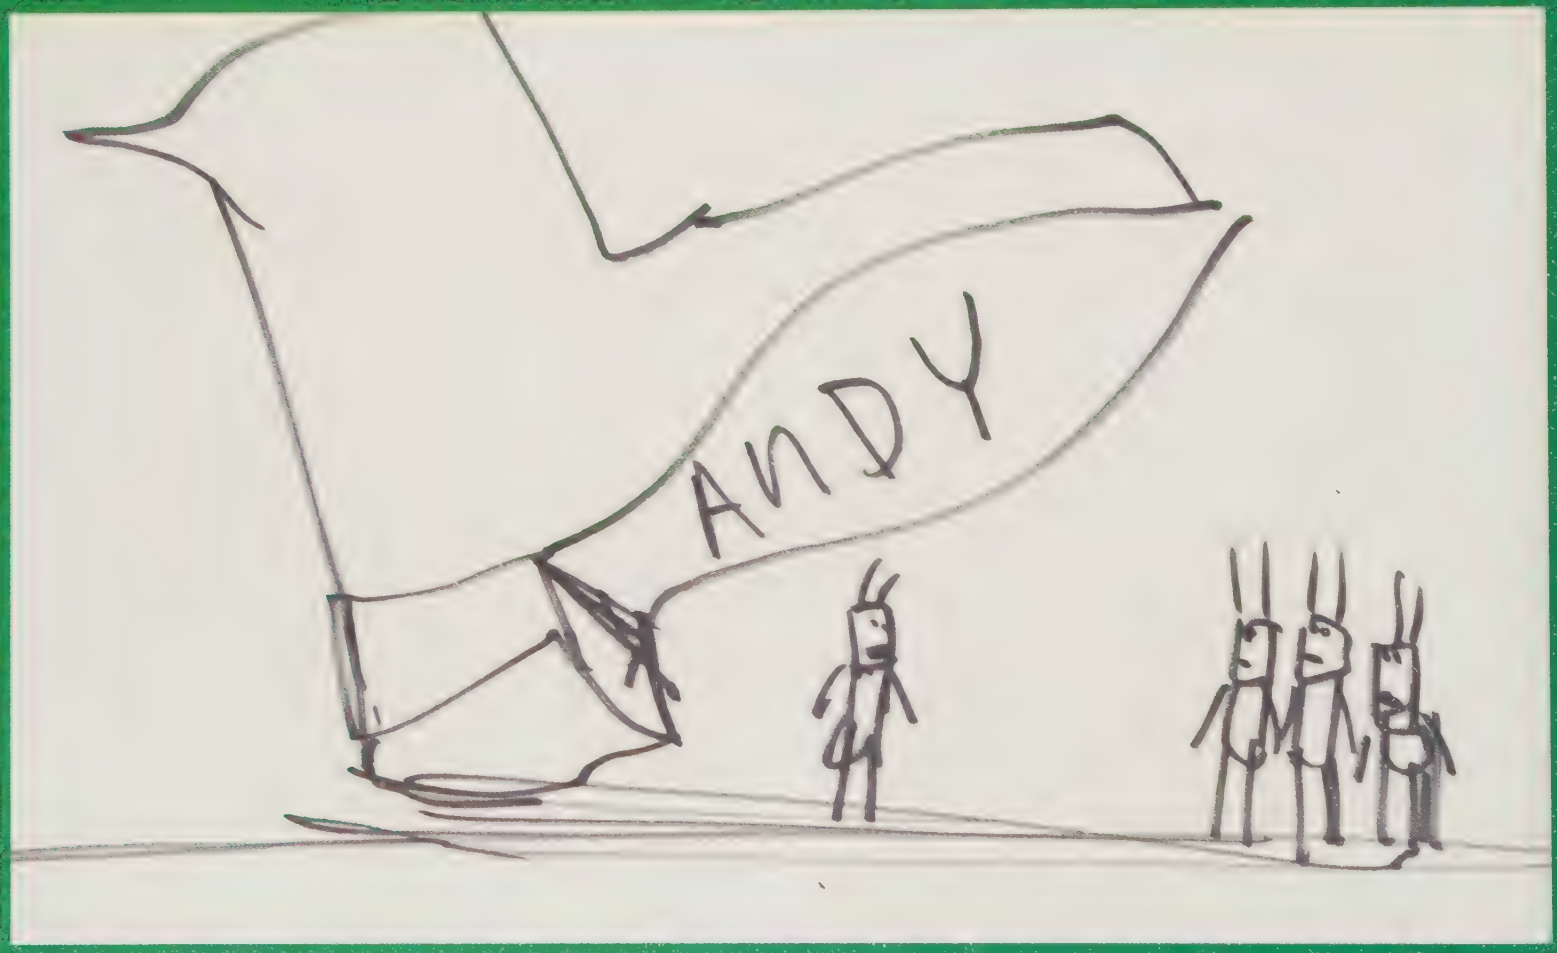
DIALOGUE:

GAMEBOY: ♪♪ A TEAM OF FORTY JAPANESE COMPUTER SCIENTISTS DIDN'T ENGINEER ME TO BECOME A CHEW TOY!!! ♪♩

Adrian Molina, pencil

Matthew Luhn, digital

THIS PAGE
Jeff Pidgeon, digital



Joe Ranft, marker

ABOVE

Joe Ranft, pen and colored pencil

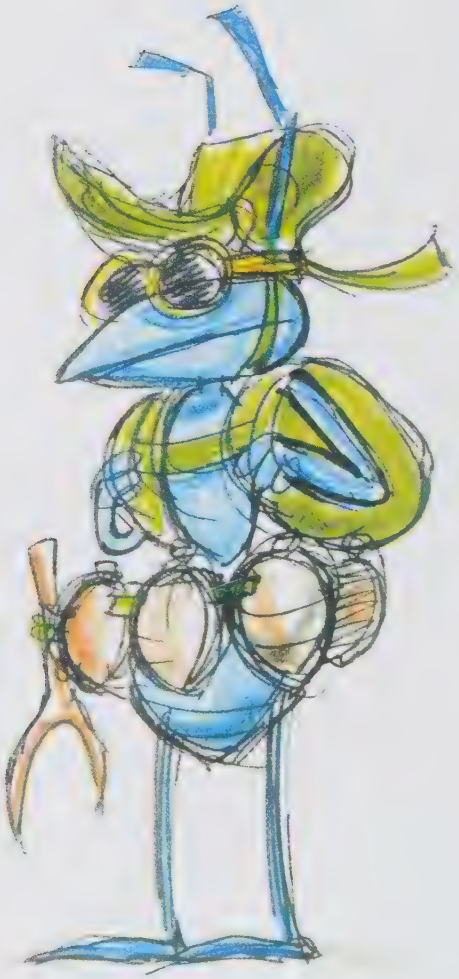
Joe Ranft always had a wonderfully macabre sense of humor and his drawing of Heimlich being sliced and diced by the Blueberries highlights this. The drawing ultimately inspired Joe's storyboards for the scene in which the ants welcomed the "warrior bugs" with a mural depicting the upcoming battle with the grasshoppers. Heimlich's death served a dramatic highlight. Contrasting the honest reality of life in the insect kingdom with the more lighthearted, family-friendly world of A Bug's Life never failed to make us laugh. The story room was often littered with drawings of one character gruesomely eating another. —Jason Katz

RIGHT

Bob Peterson, pen and colored pencil

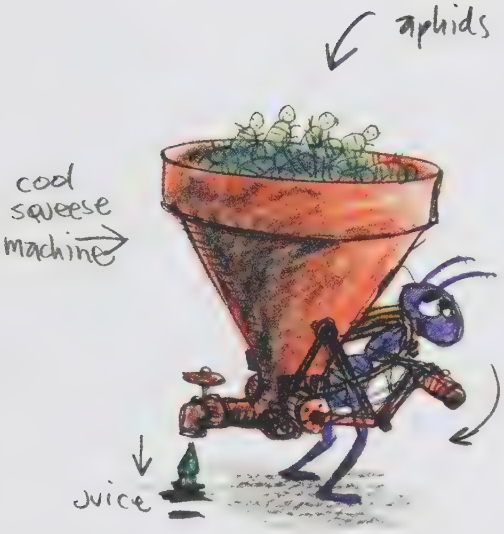
THIS PAGE
Joe Ranft, pen and colored pencil

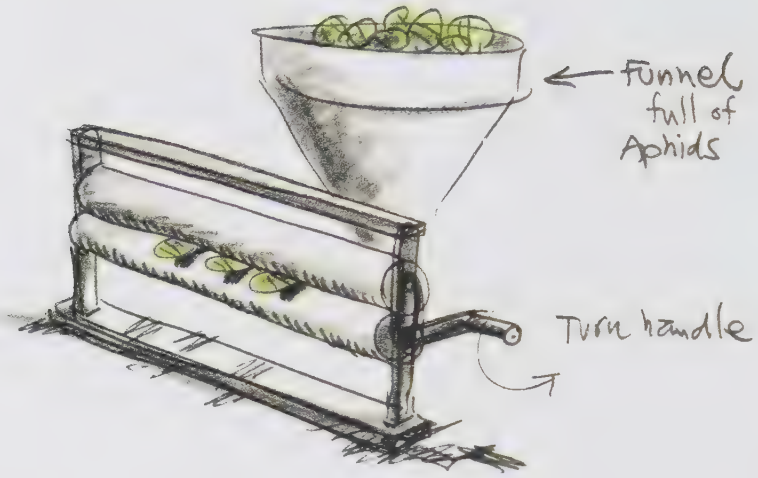
Jason Katz, pen and colored pencil

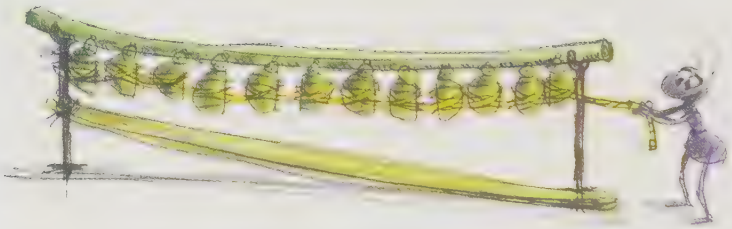


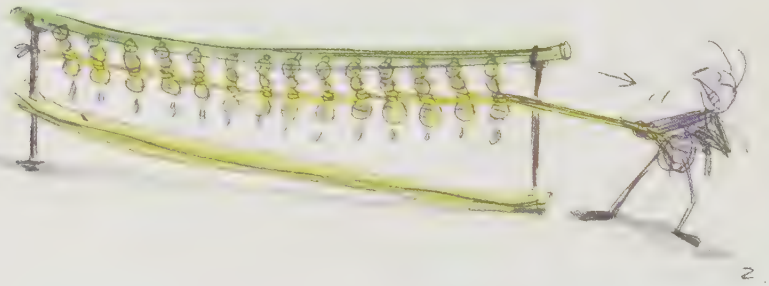
Bob Peterson, pen and colored pencil

This drawing of Flik as adventurer was not a design assignment for me. Instead, I needed to create his gear as part of a sequence I was storyboarding where Flik leaves the colony. I tried to find a balance between cool and dorky. His garb, gathered from nature, covered the bases of food, shade, and defense. I really like the hat I created for him which was a bit conquistador, but also had a mad Napoleon shape to it. —Bob Peterson



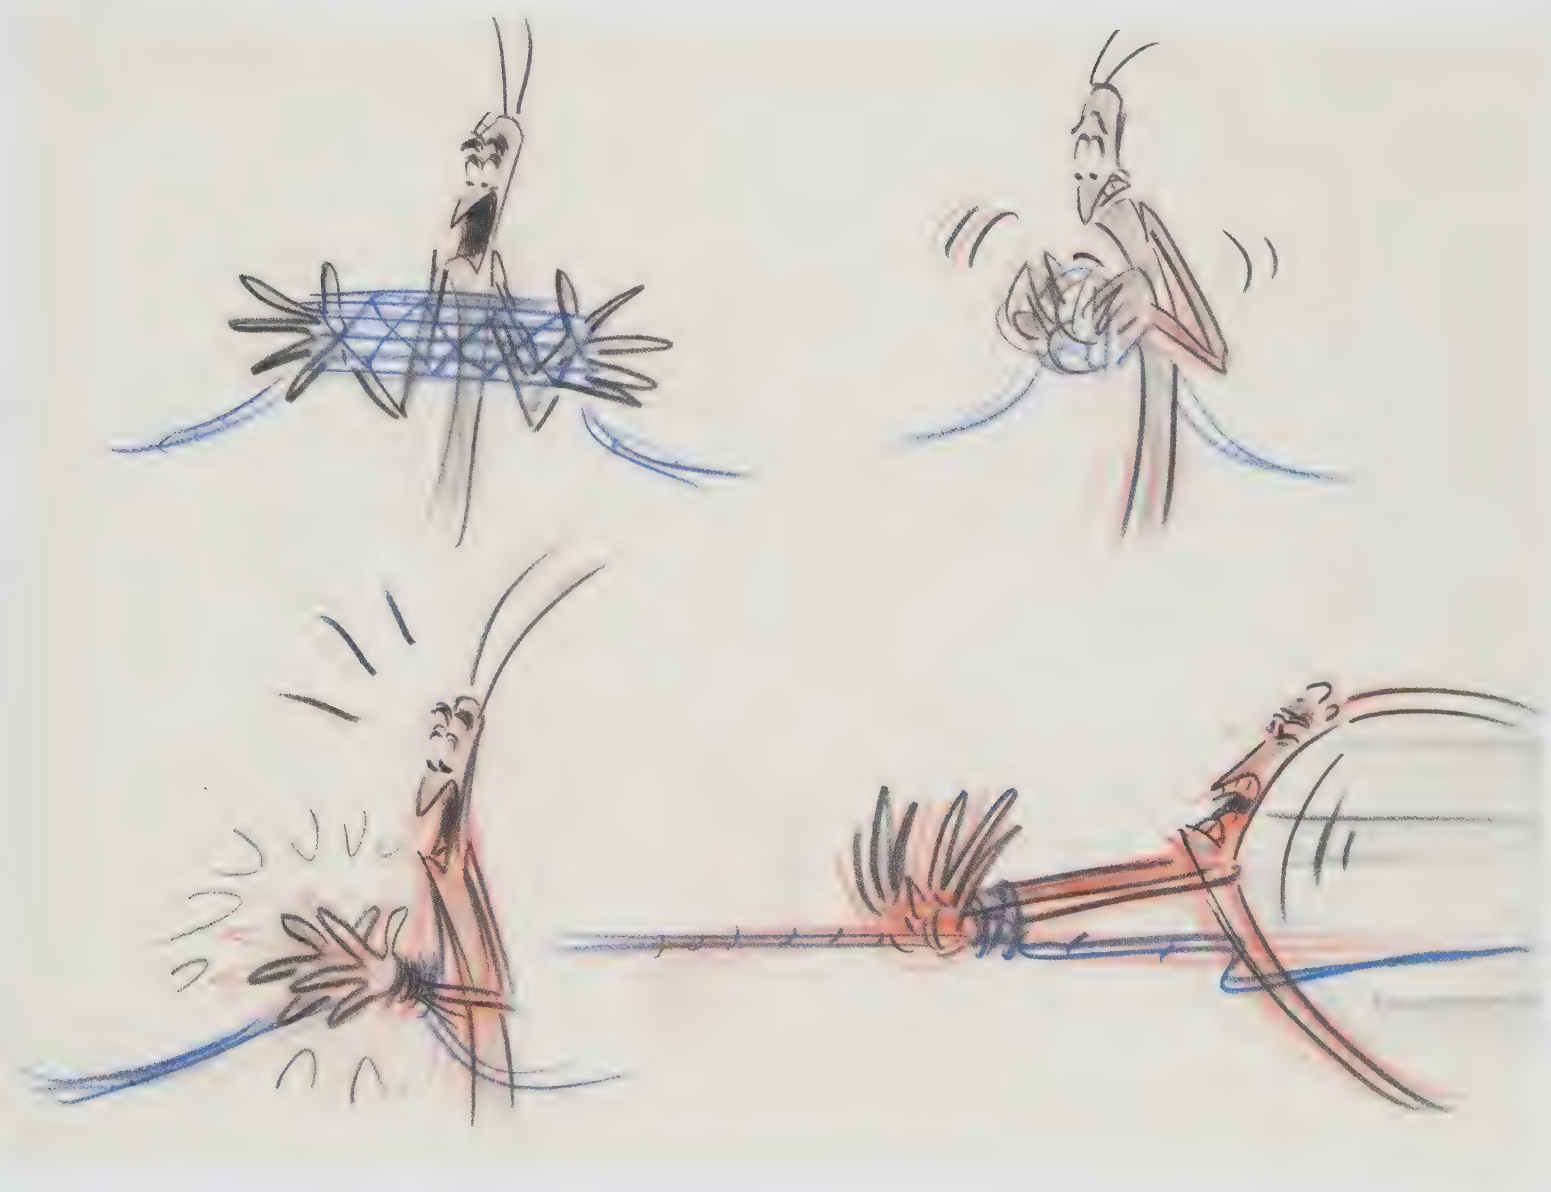




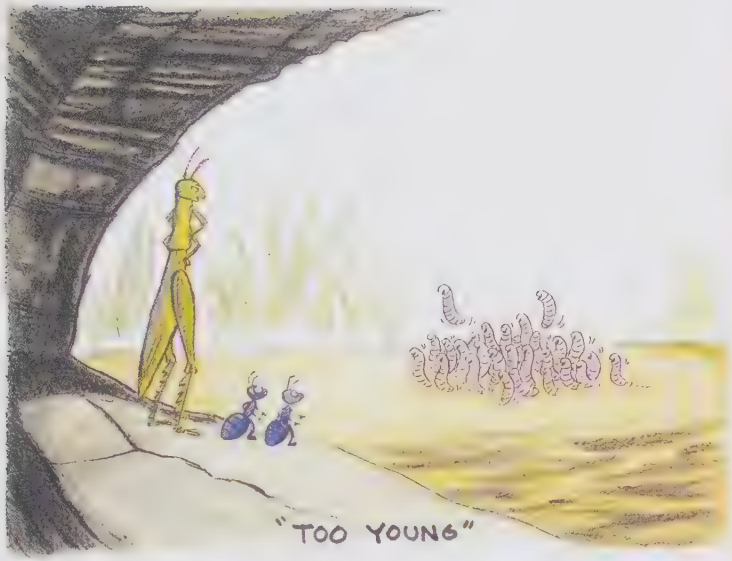


- could be connected to Bill Cone's wind mill

THIS PAGE
Jorgen Klubien, pen and colored pencil



Jason Katz, colored pencil



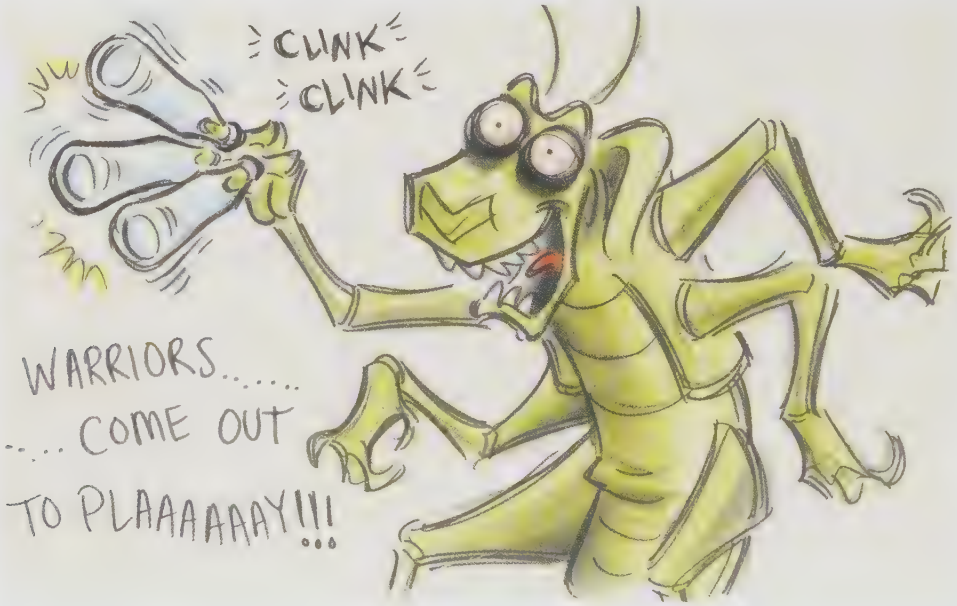
THIS SPREAD

Robert Lence, watercolor, pencil, and marker

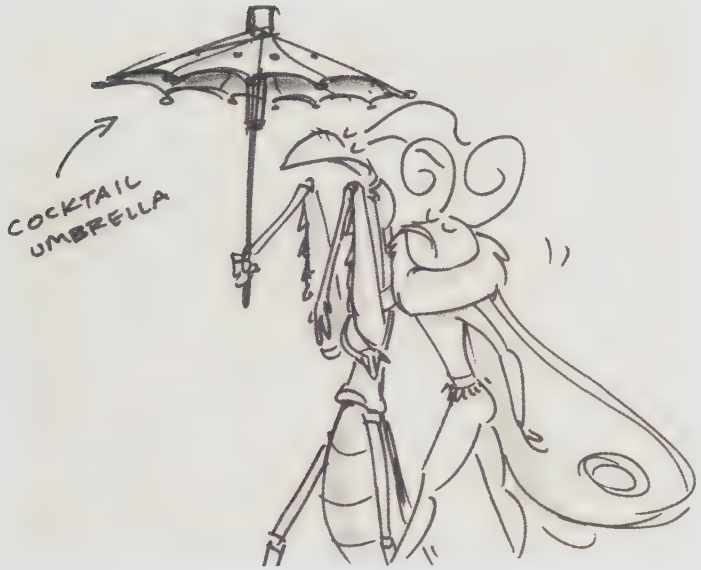
Jason Katz, pen and colored pencil

Jason Katz, pen and colored pencil

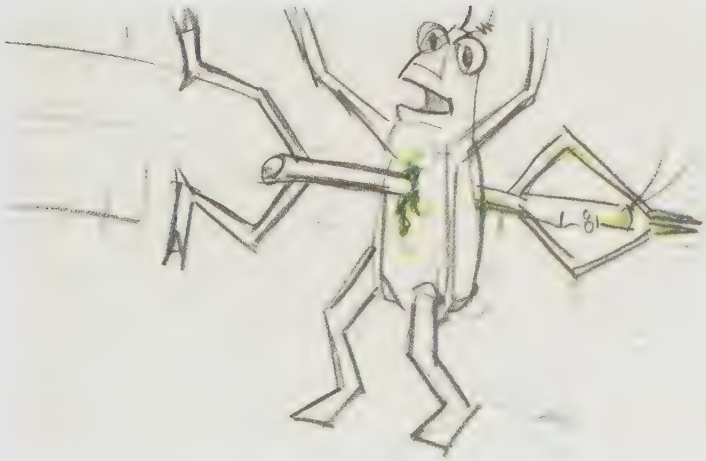
Jeff Pidgeon, pen and pencil



Nate Stanton, pen and colored pencil



Jason Katz, pen and pencil



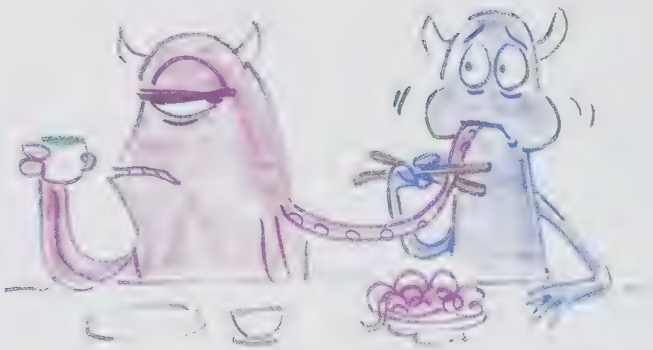
Dave Feiten, colored pencil

Rob Gibbs, pencil

Jason Katz, pen and pencil

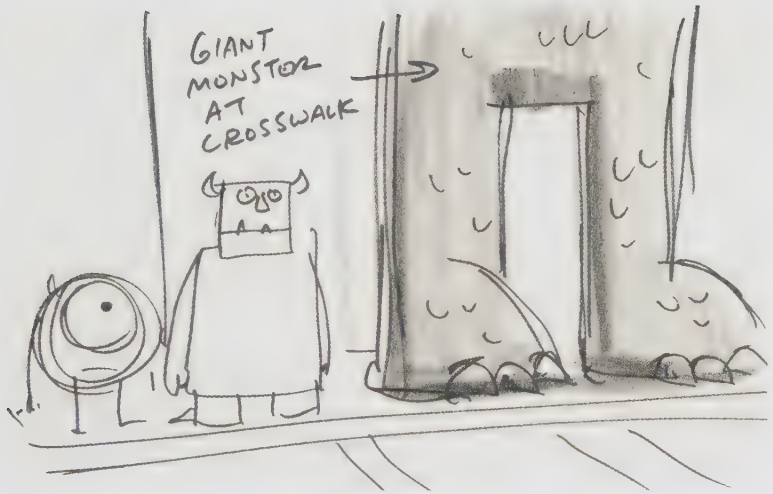
Disney PIXAR
MONSTERS, INC.

Jason Katz, pen, marker, and colored pencil



THIS PAGE

Matthew Luhn, pen and colored pencil



Bob Peterson, pen and pencil

Bob Pauley, pencil

Bob Pauley, pen

Matthew Luhn and Max Brace, pen and pencil

Rob Gibbs, pencil

OPPOSITE, CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT
Bob Peterson, pen and pencil
Rob Gibbs, marker
Rob Gibbs, pencil
Bob Peterson, pen and pencil

Monsters, Inc. was a fun assignment because it juxtaposed the most mundane things in our human world with an exotic, yet goofy monster twist. Although, the newspaper tabloids were an interesting challenge because they were already filled with things that rival the craziness of the monster world! Just for the record, my mother in law is not a monster. And is not me. —Bob Peterson

TRY NEW ROARGAIN
BEFORE AFTER

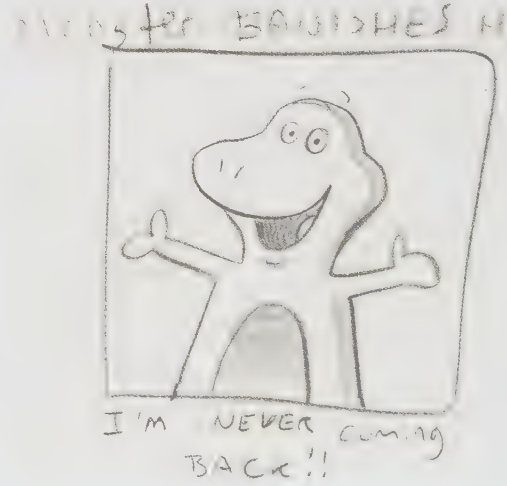
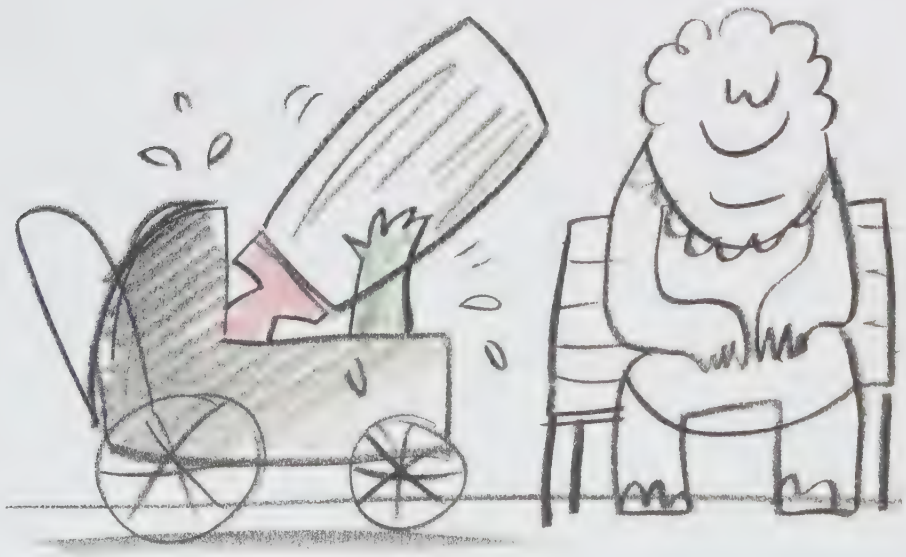
MONSTER LOSES HEAD . . . IN TAXI!
NEWS
I MARRIED MYSELF!
BERMUDA TRIANGLE
CLOSES DOORS
THOUSANDS OUT OF WORK

MY MOTHER-IN-LAW IS ME!!



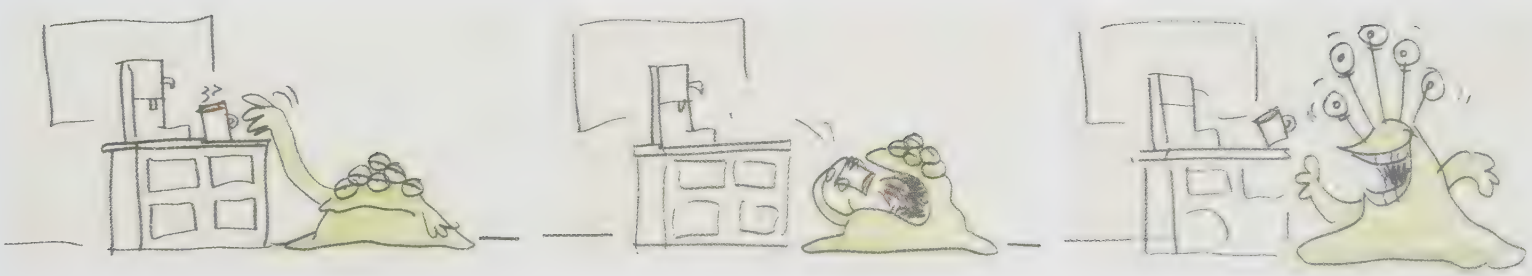
I'M NEVER COMING BACK!!



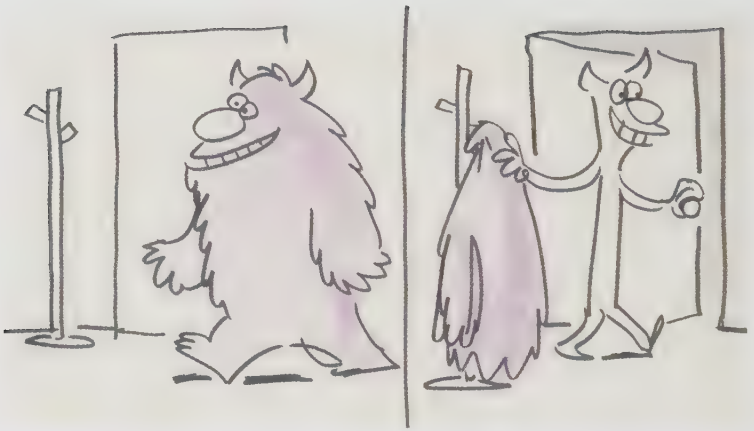
CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT
Bob Peterson, marker
Bob Peterson, marker and colored pencil
Rob Gibbs, china marker and colored pencil

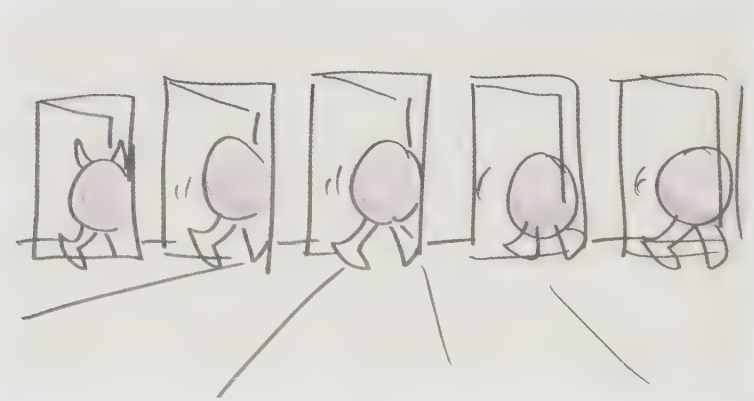
RIGHT
Bob Pauley, pencil

BELOW
Matthew Luhn, pen
and colored pencil



Ted Mathot, marker and colored pencil





ABOVE
Matthew Luhn, marker and pencil

RIGHT
Matthew Luhn, pen and colored pencil

HOW TO COOK
FOUR HUMANS

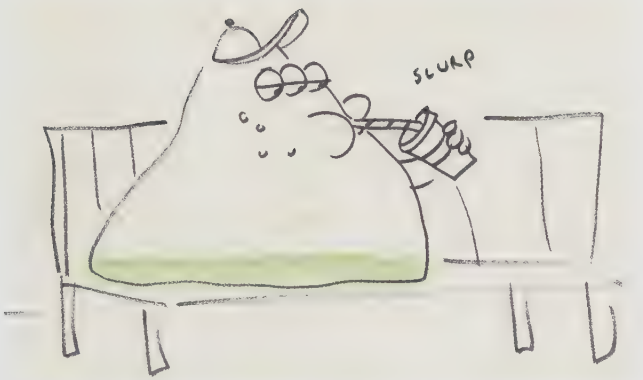
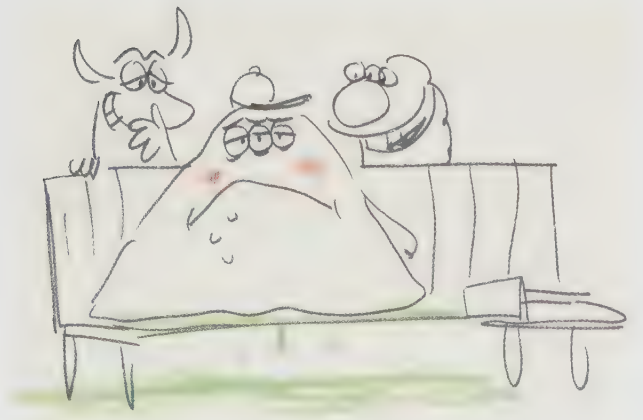
OPPOSITE
Jason Katz, pen, marker and colored pencil

LEFT
Jeff Pidgeon, marker

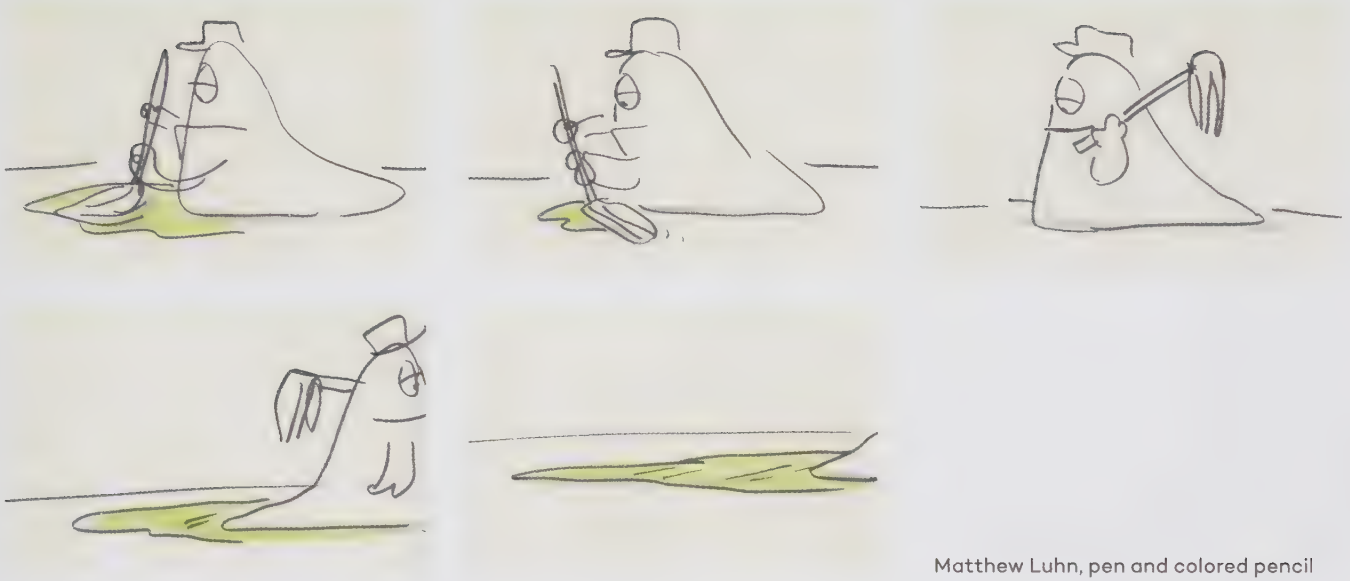
Matthew Luhn, pen and colored pencil





Matthew Luhn, pen and colored pencil

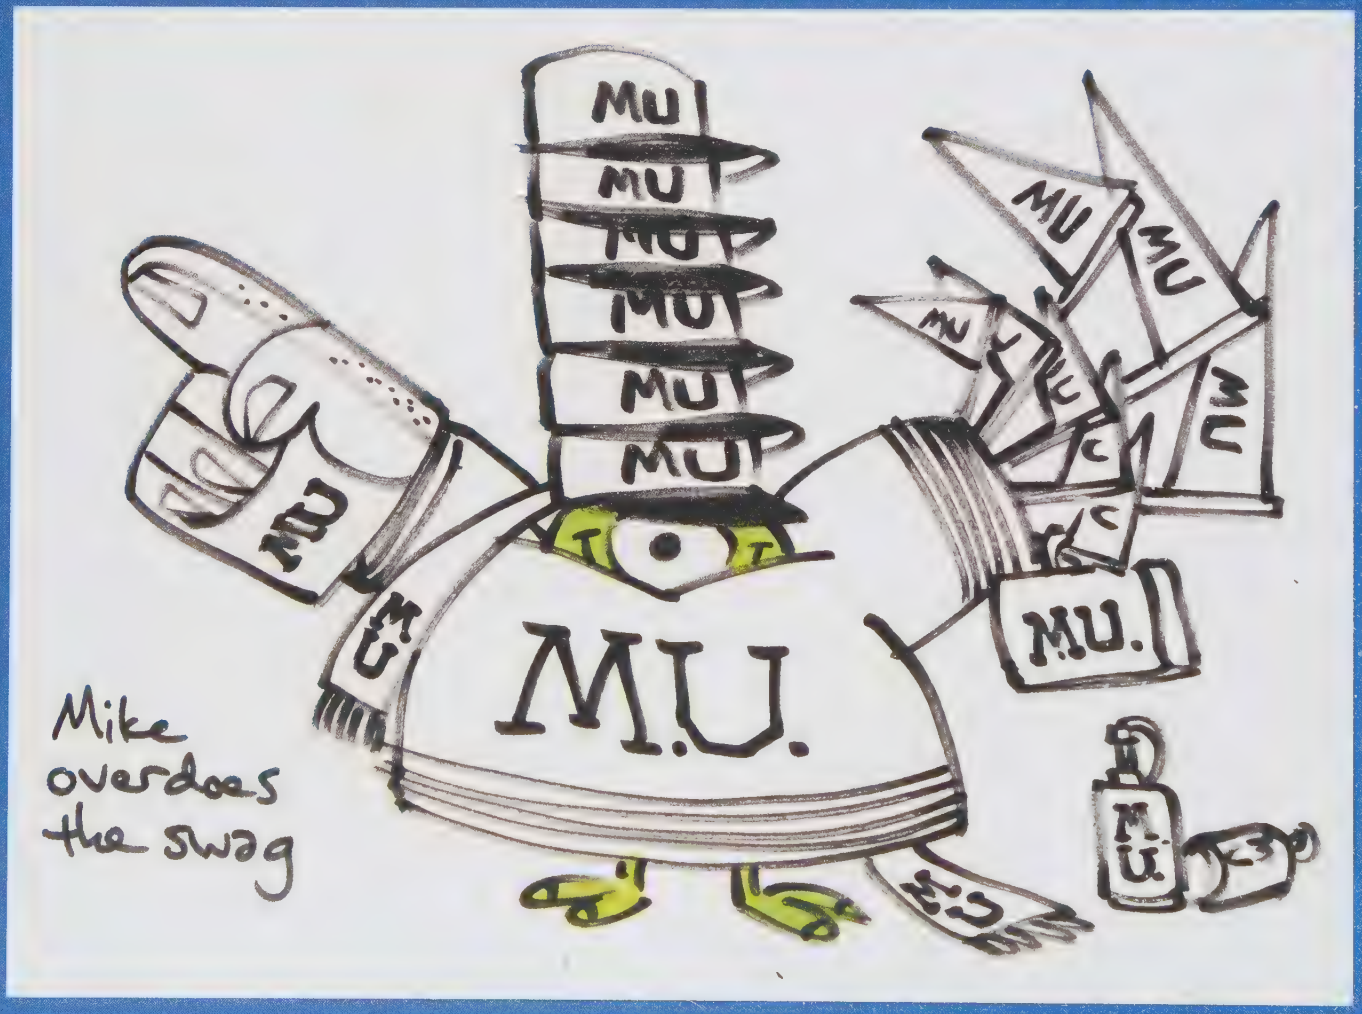
We have a "pee" gag in almost all of our Pixar movies! Remember Pearl the octopus inking herself in Finding Nemo? Or the Yeti offering Mike and Sulley yellow snow cones in Monsters, Inc.? Or Mater saying "He did what in his cup?" when Lightning McQueen explains the Piston Cup in Cars? You know urine a great company when pee gags are still funny. —Matthew Luhn



Matthew Luhn, pen and colored pencil

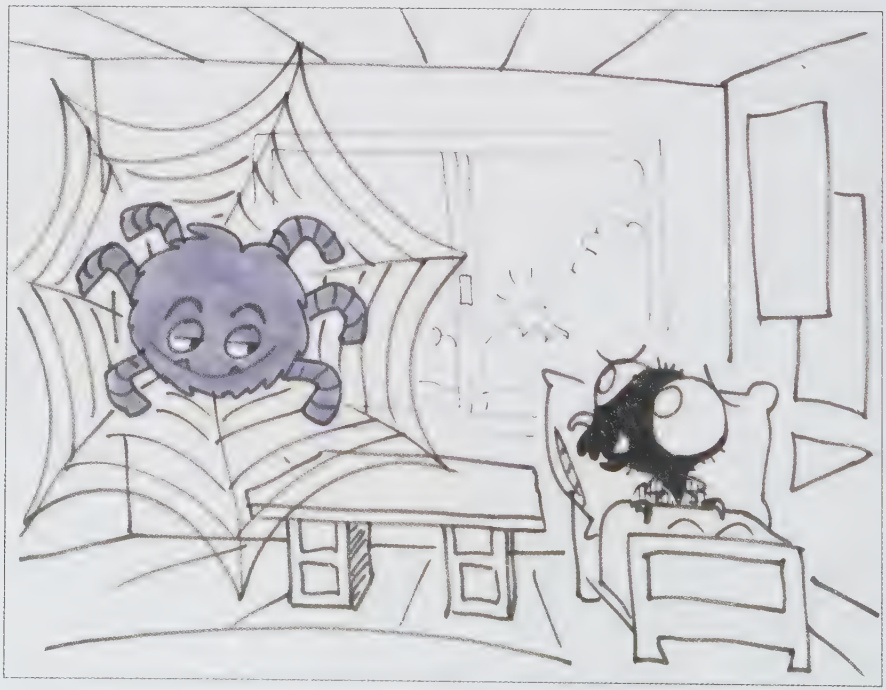
Jeff Pidgeon, pen

Disney PIXAR
MONSTERS UNIVERSITY



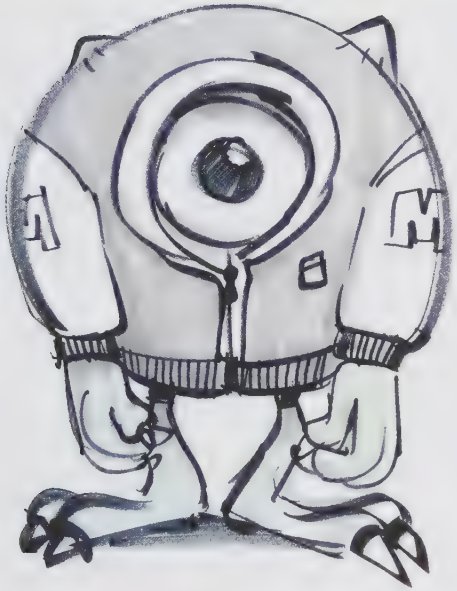
Jeff Pidgeon_marker

Matthew Luhn, digital



THIS PAGE
Jeff Pidgeon, marker

Matthew Luhn, digital



M.U.
Glee club

GO
TEAM
GO!

OPPOSITE, CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT
Jason Deamer, marker,
Jeff Pidgeon, marker

ABOVE
Jeff Pidgeon, marker

RIGHT
Matthew Luhn, digital

THIS SPREAD

Matthew Luhn, digital

The salsa contact eye gag was an idea first pitched by Jason Katz on Monsters, Inc. The gag never made it into the film, but I thought it was hilarious, so I tried to pitch it again on Monsters University. It's common at Pixar for us to take unused gags from one film and insert them into another. Good ideas always seem to find a way of resurfacing. —Matthew Luhn

Monsters University traditions

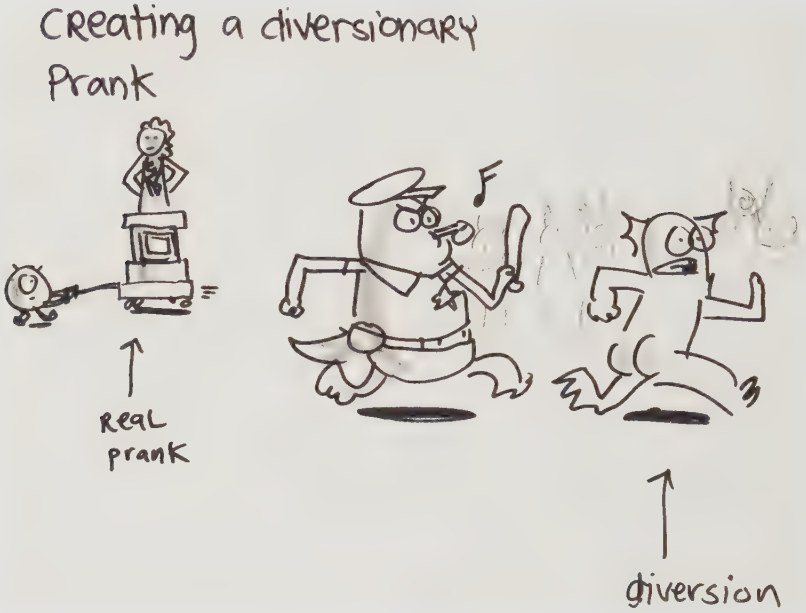
ABOVE
Matthew Luhn, digital

LEFT
Kelsey Mann, digital



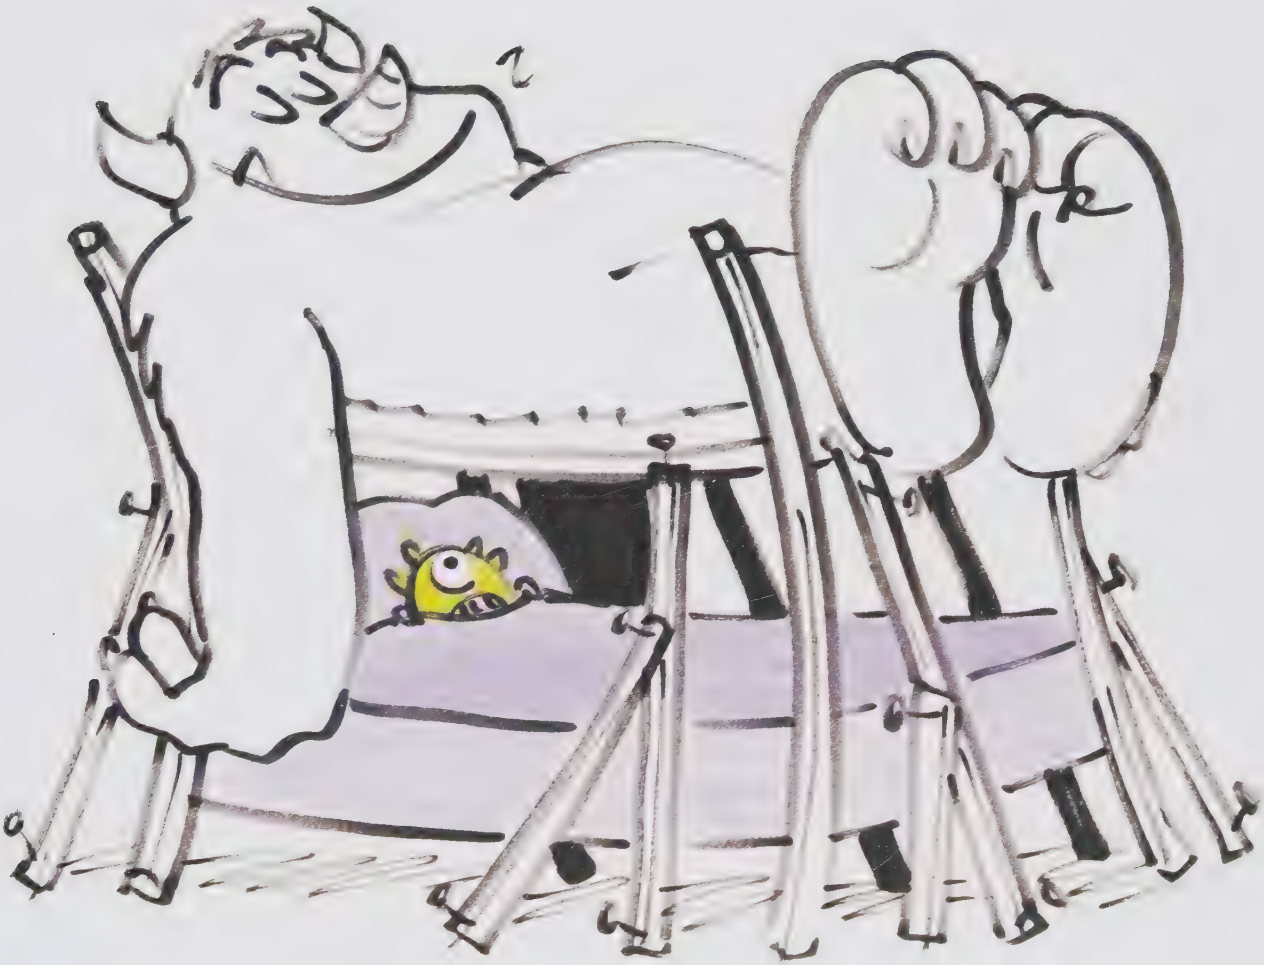
ABOVE
Jeff Pidgeon, marker

TOP RIGHT
Adrian Molina, marker and pencil

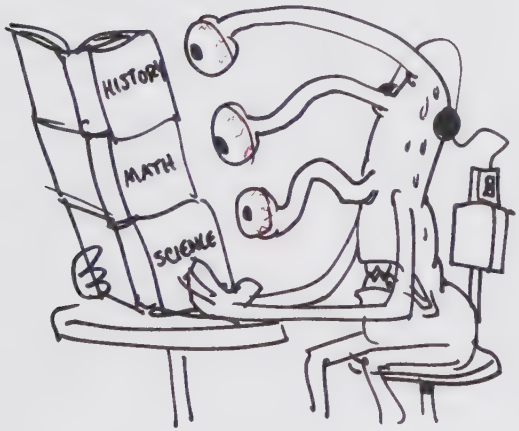
RIGHT
Adrian Molina, pencil

THIS PAGE
Matthew Luhn, digital

OPPOSITE
Jeff Pidgeon, marker and colored pencil

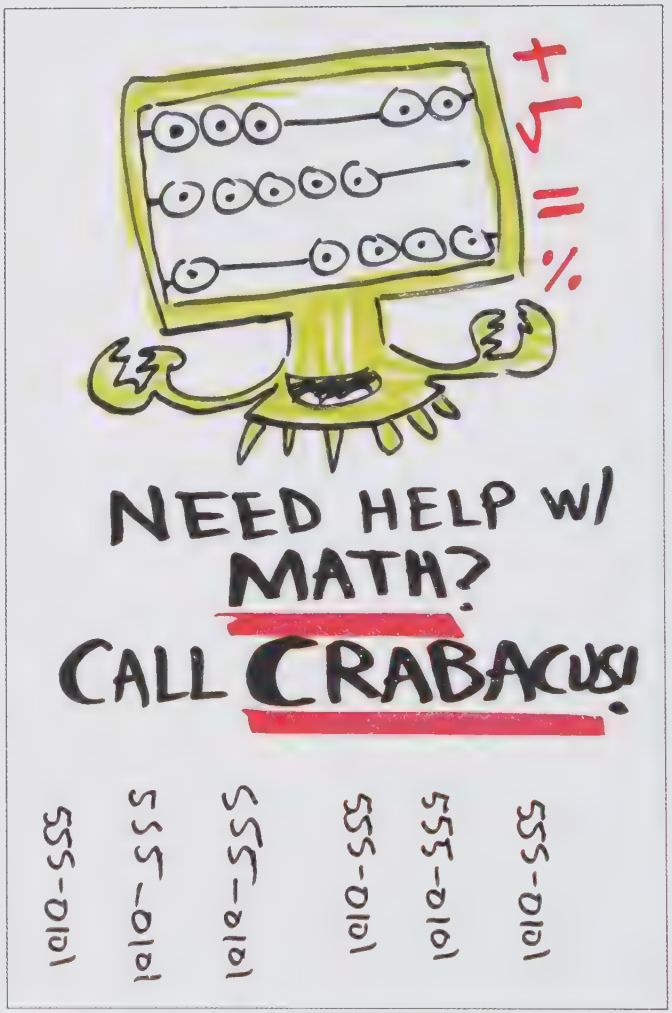


Cramming with multiple books



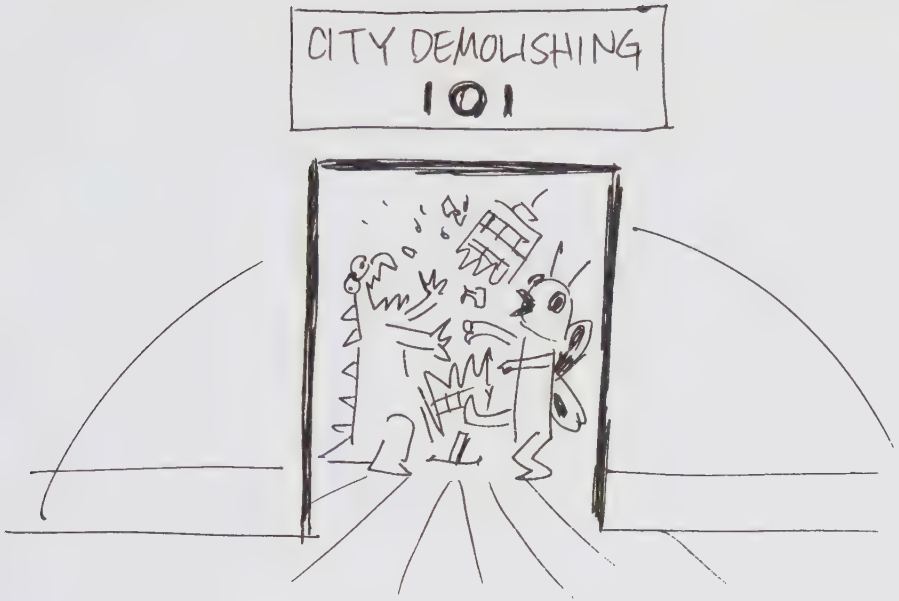
Jeff Pidgeon, marker

Jeff Pidgeon, marker



Adrian Molina, marker

Sometimes you just have to give your brain the problem and get out of the way. Crabacus is the direct result of zero editing and zero shame. You put your head down, draw the picture, and hope somebody laughs when you reveal it. —Adrian Molina



LEFT
Adrian Molina, pen

BELOW
Matthew Luhn, digital

WE WENT TO SCHOOL TOGETHER.

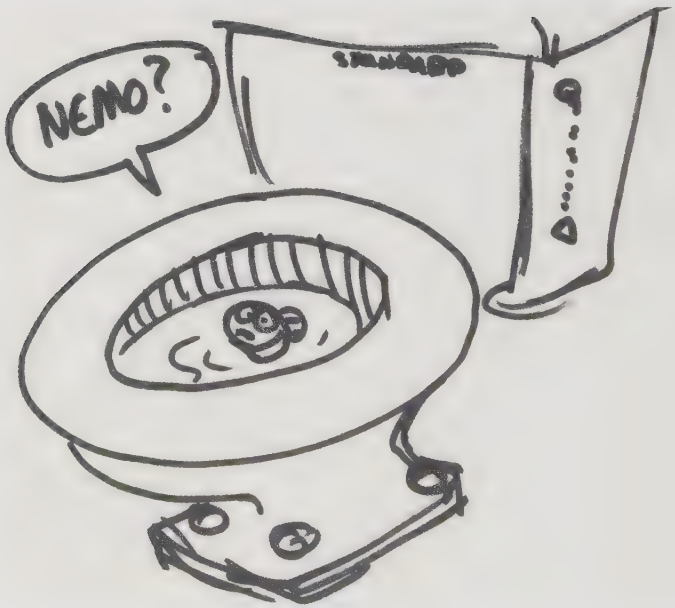
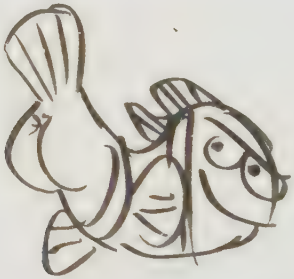
OPPOSITE
Dan Jeup, pencil and marker

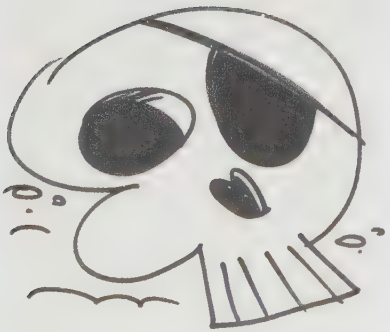
The Tank Gang were grown in fish tanks to sell along with aquariums. They knew more about people than about being ocean fish. Of course, they were limited to the dentist, his patients, and whatever was onscreen in the waiting room. We storyboarded whole sequences where the gang waited for their favorite soap opera to come on and it would be about any or all soap tropes. Easy now to imagine why the members of The Tank Gang are rather melodramatic and hammy. —Ronnie del Carmen

LEFT
Ricky Nierva, colored pencil

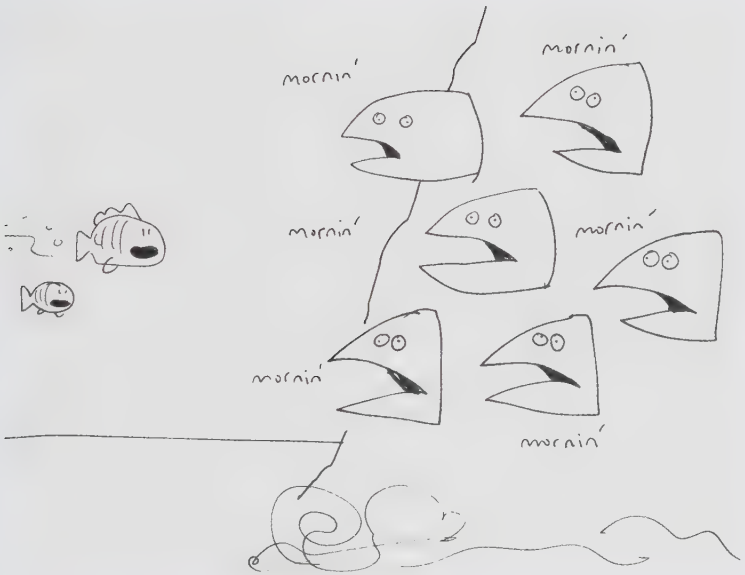


Ralph Eggleston, marker

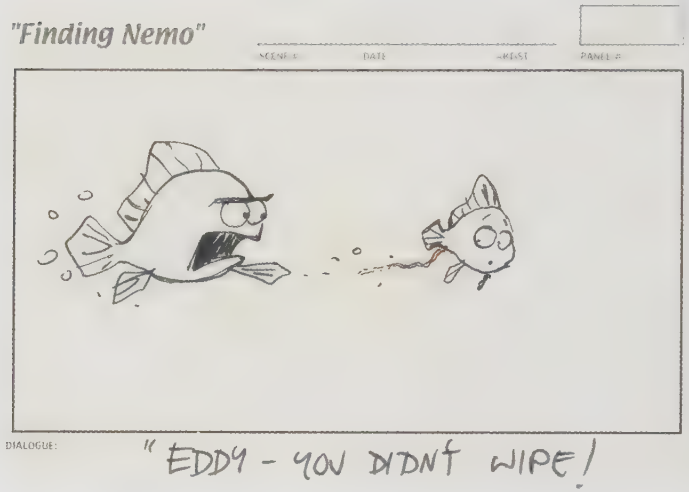




CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT
Jason Katz, marker ,
Jason Katz, china marker and colored pencil,
Jason Katz, marker
Ricky Nierva, marker,

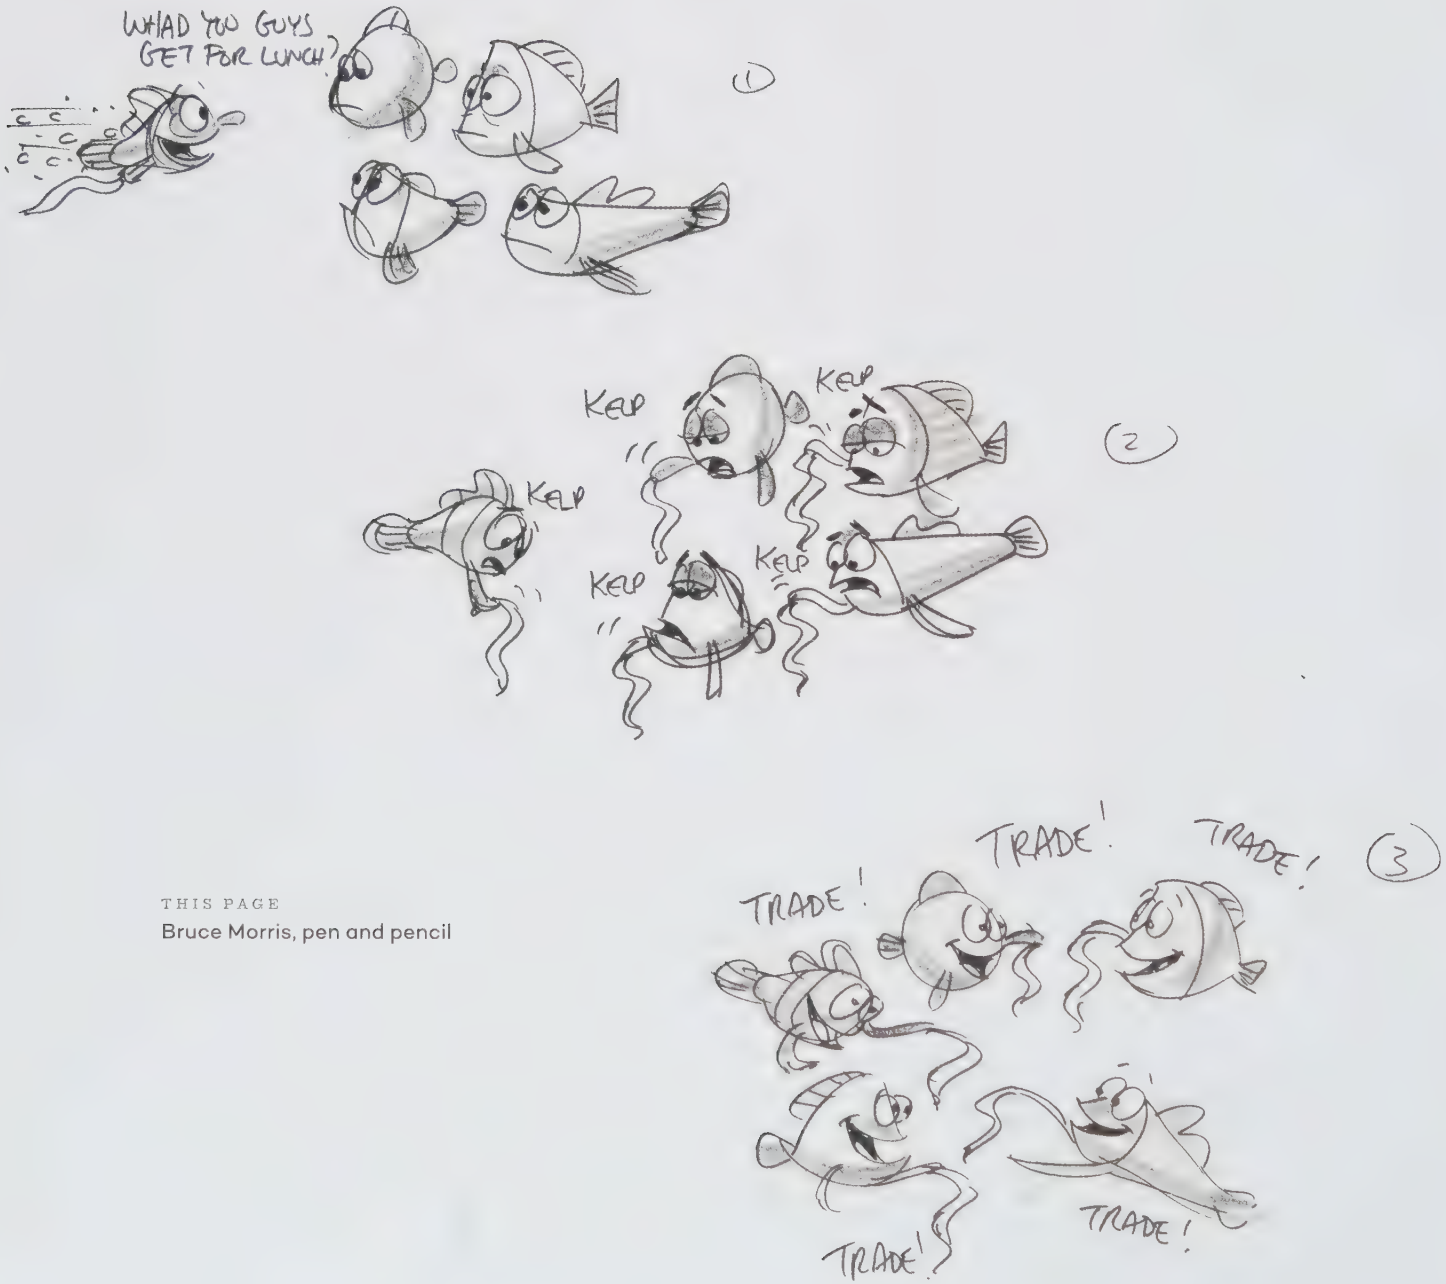


Unknown artist, pen



Joseph "Rocket" Ekers, pen and colored pencil

Jeff Pidgeon, marker

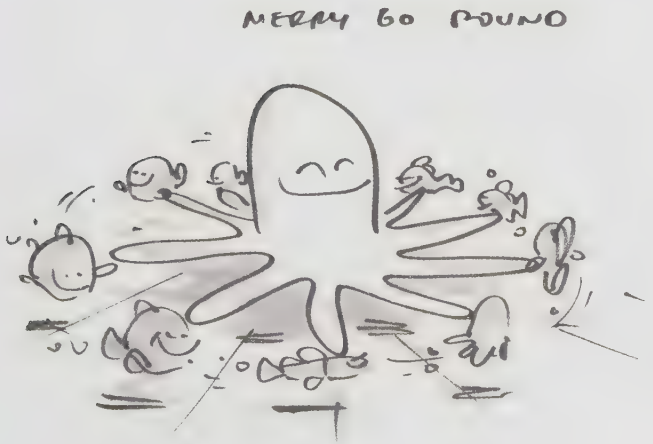


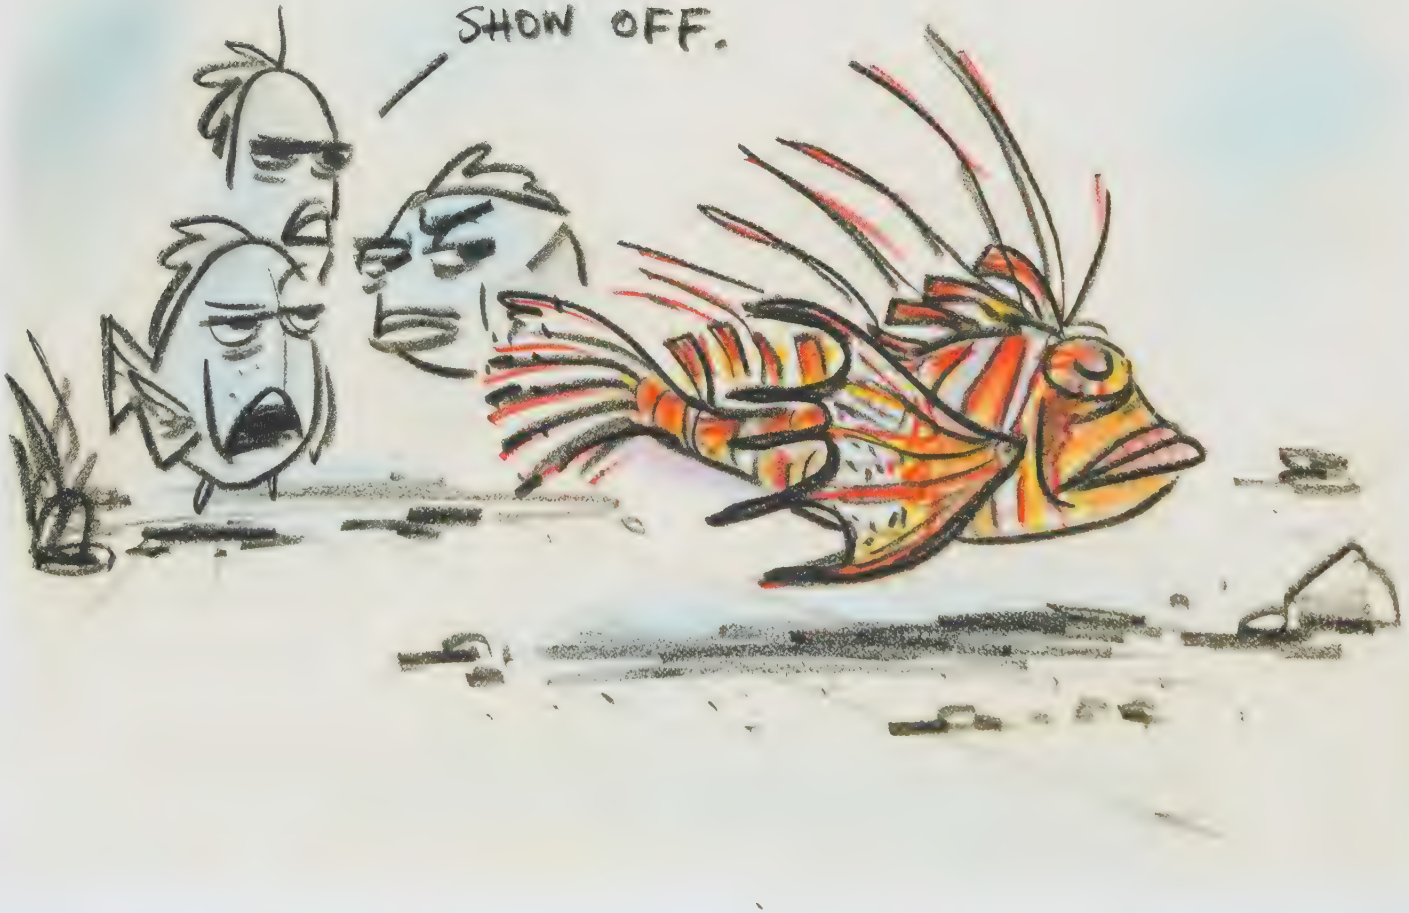
THIS PAGE
Bruce Morris, pen and pencil

RIGHT
Bruce Morris, pen and pencil

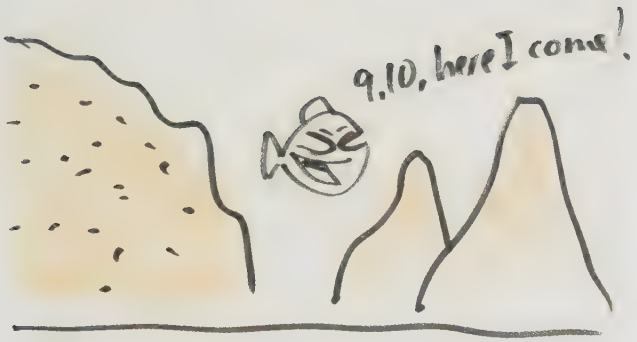
BOTTOM LEFT
Jason Katz, marker

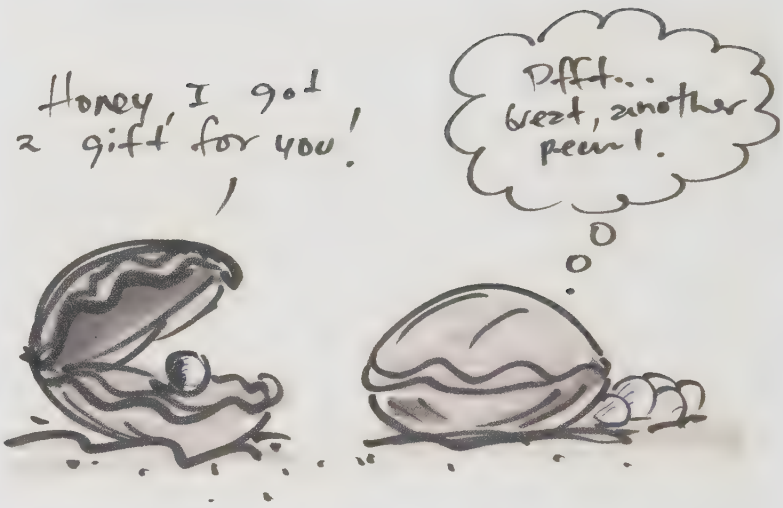
BOTTOM RIGHT
Matthew Luhn, marker

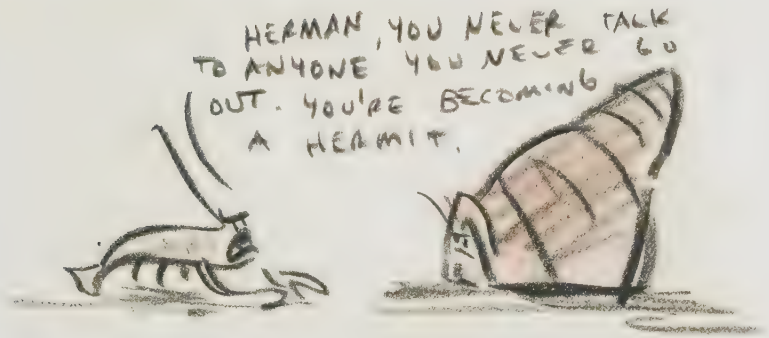


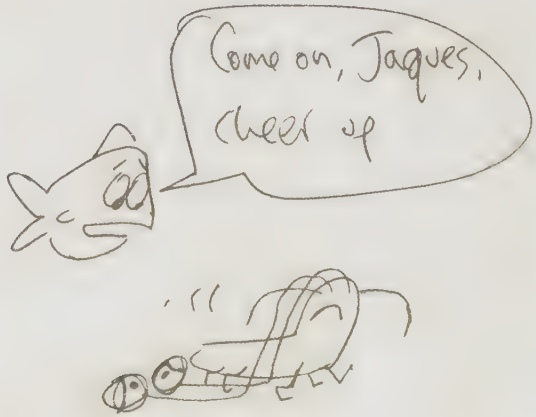


Jason Katz, china marker and colored pencil









CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT

Matthew Luhn, marker; Jeff Pidgeon, marker; Matthew Luhn, pen; Jason Katz, china marker and colored pencil.

Disney PIXAR

THE INCREDIBLES

THIS SPREAD
Teddy Newton, marker

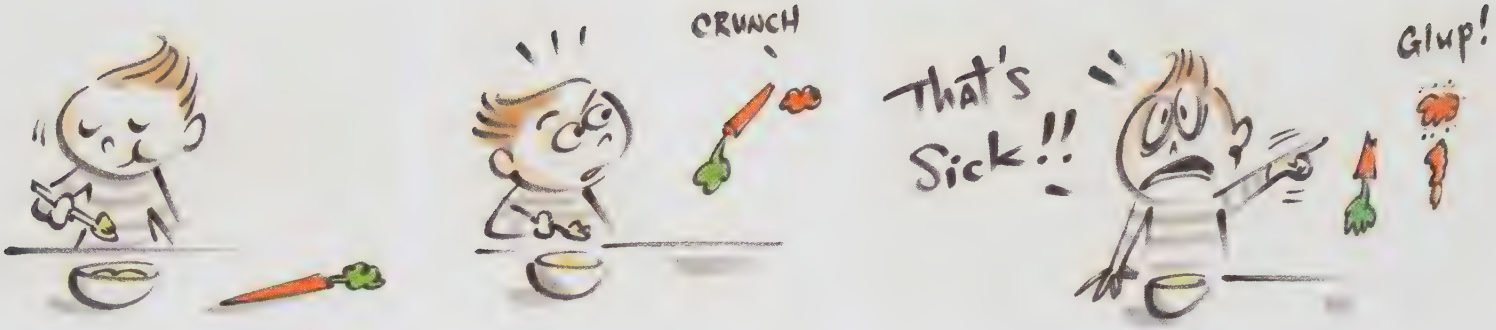
THIS SPREAD
Teddy Newton, marker

SEAT
...AND IF YOU FINISH EARLY, I'LL LET YOU SHINE MY SHOES FOR FREE.

BOB DROWNS BOSS IN TOILET.

Teddy Newton, marker

Geefwee Boedoe, marker



THIS PAGE
Teddy Newton, marker

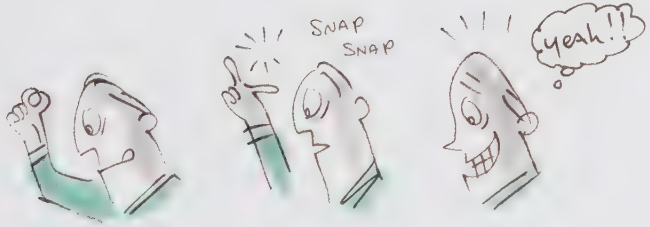
Honey?



SNAP
SNAP
Yeah!!

CREEEEK!!

YAWN

THIS SPREAD
Teddy Newton, pen and marker

KICK ME HARD

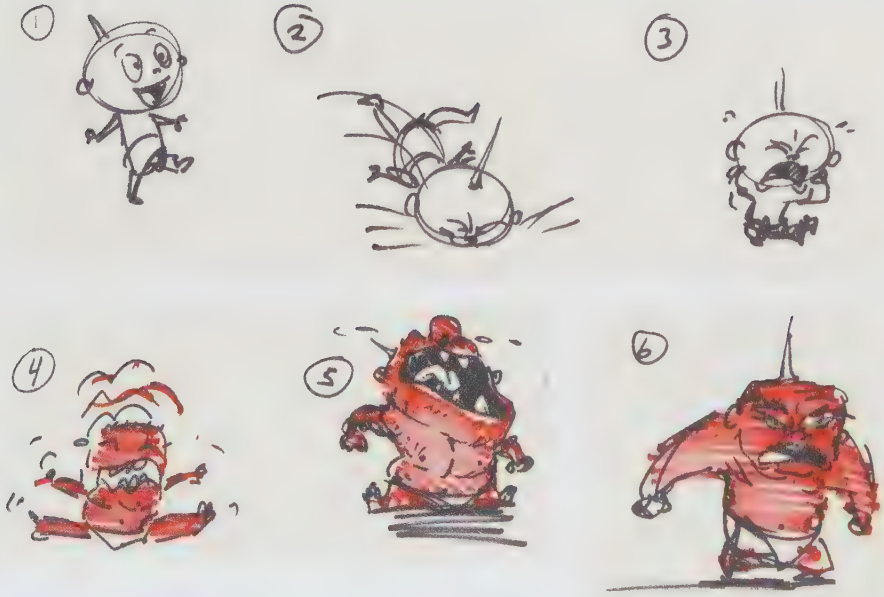
STRAW

THIS SPREAD

Teddy Newton, marker

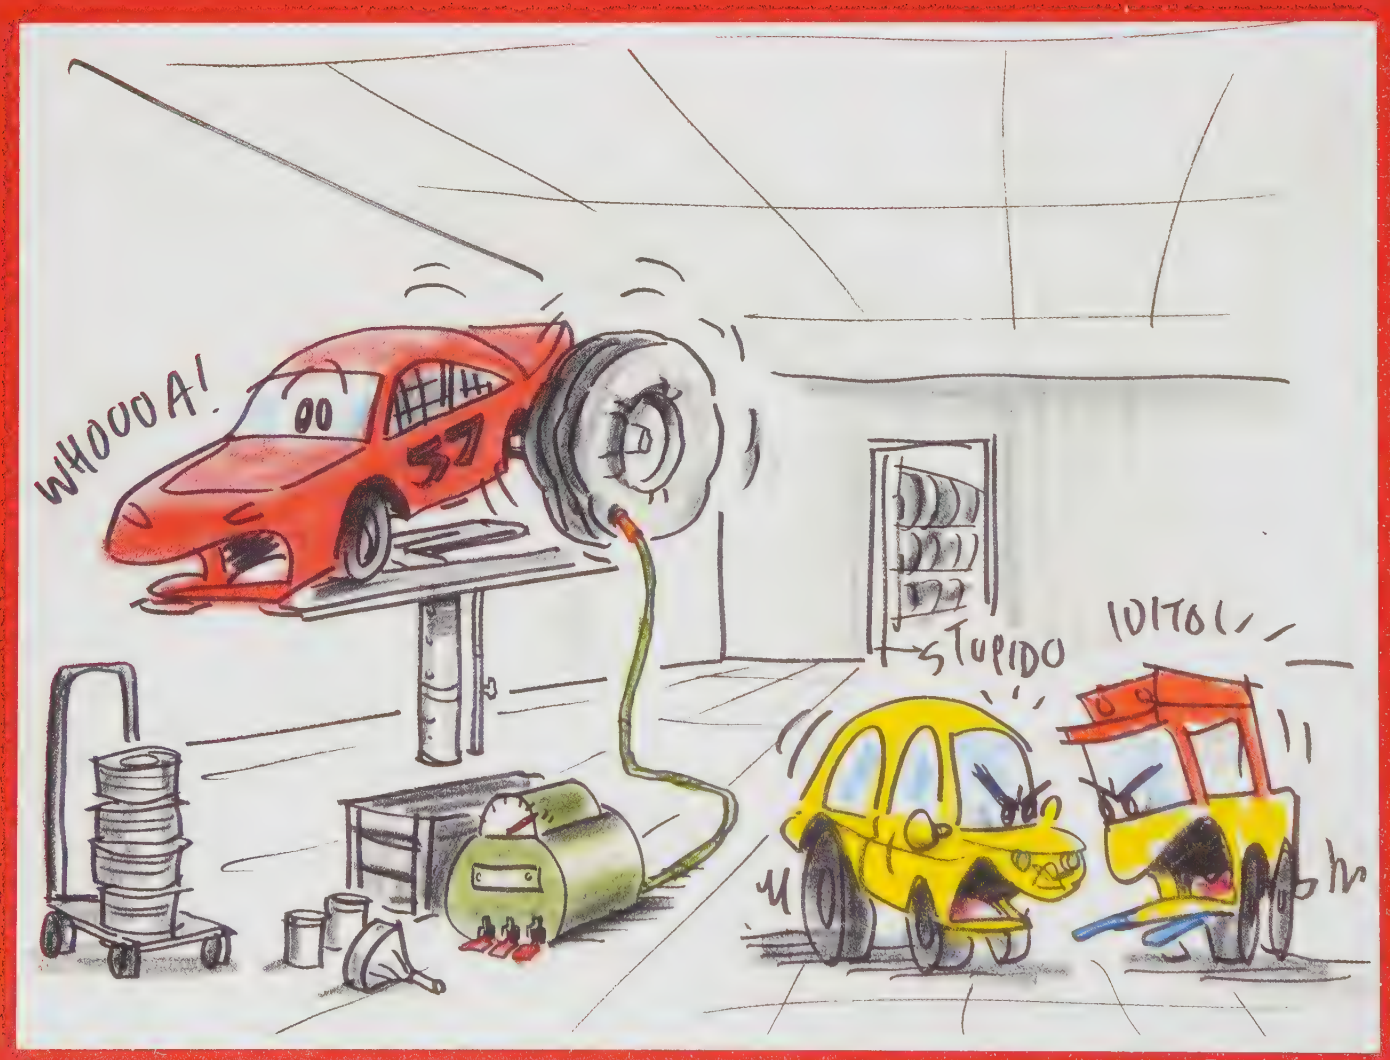
The secret to a great story gag has less to do with its novelty and more to do with the truth it possesses. To me, the funniest moments in The Incredibles are not the outrageous bits of spectacle, but the banal moments we recognize from our own lives. —Teddy Newton

Teddy Newton, marker

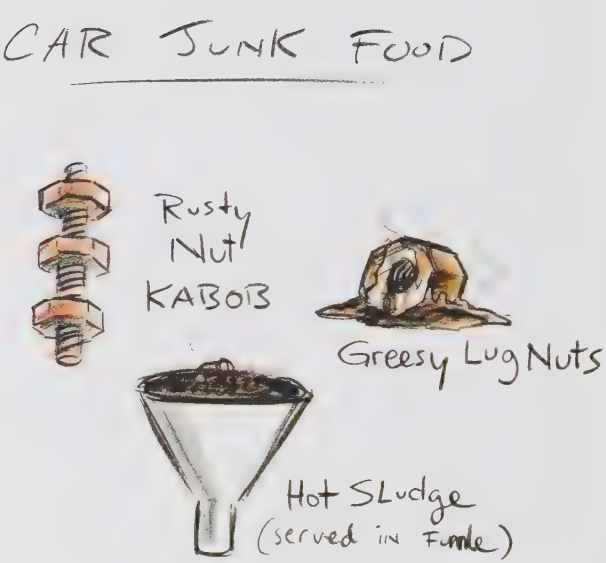


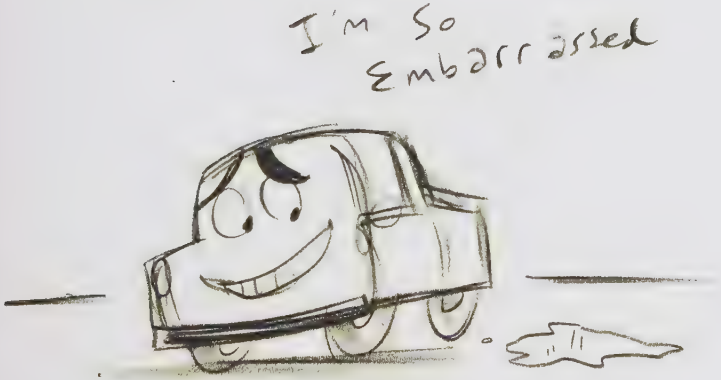
Max Brace, marker

Teddy Newton, marker

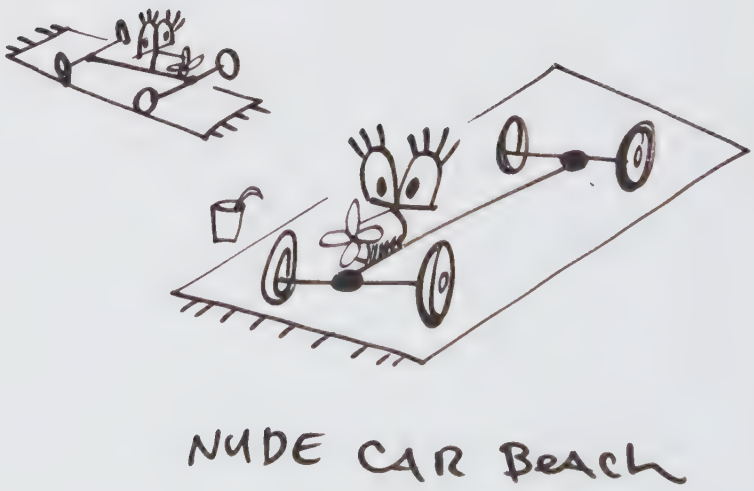


Matthew Luhn, marker and colored pencil





CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT
Teddy Newton, marker
Rob Gibbs, colored pencil
Matthew Luhn, colored pencil
Rob Gibbs, pencil

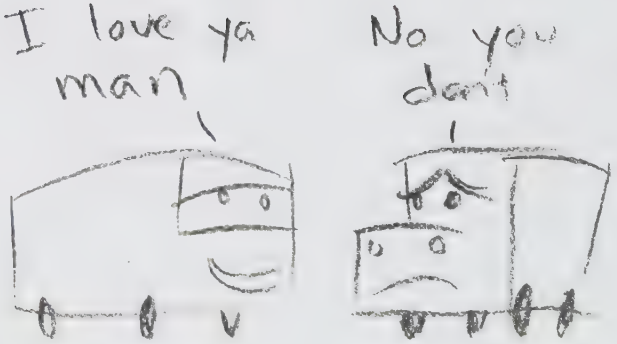


THIS PAGE
Teddy Newton, marker

Though a director must stay on point with their picture, a good gagman can generally inspire that director with an unexpected drawing. Sometimes an irreverent idea, which may never end up in the final film, has the ability to prompt that "eureka!" moment every creative person lives for. —Teddy Newton

Teddy Newton, marker

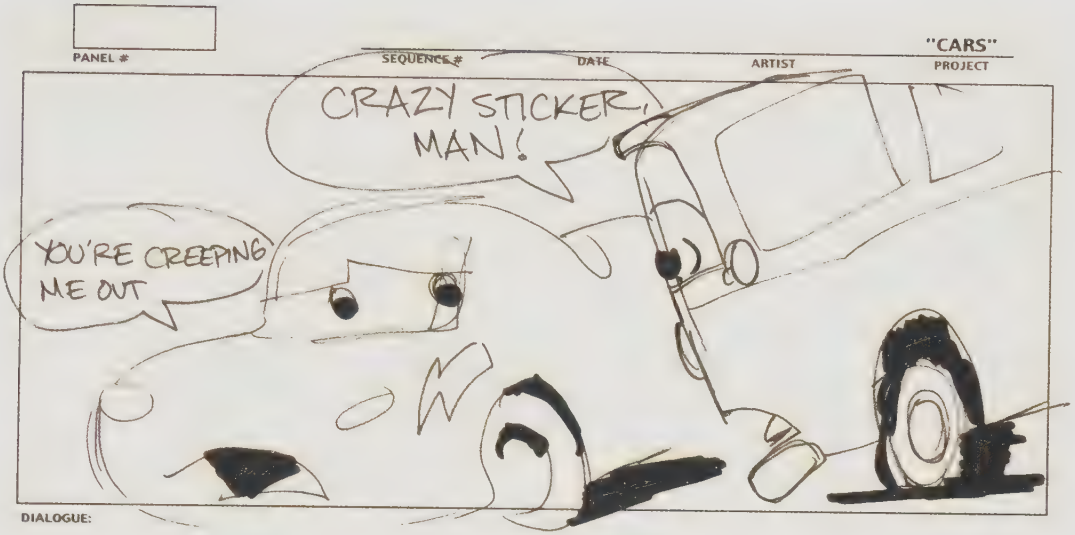
Teddy Newton, marker



Rob Gibbs, china marker

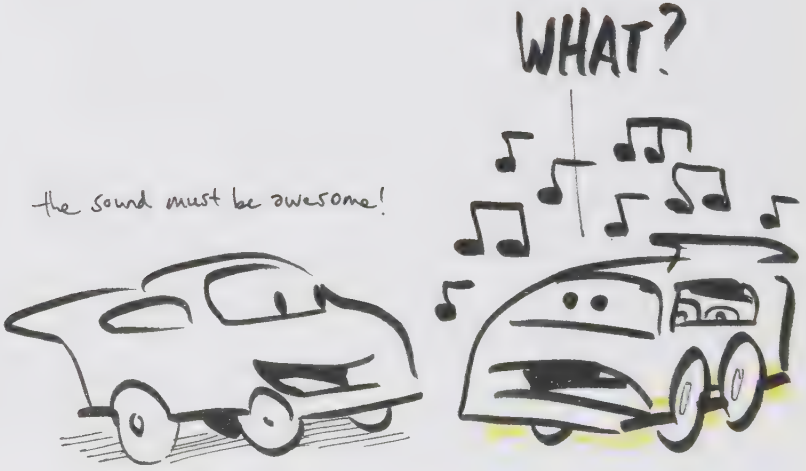
Bud Luckey, pencil

Brian Fee, pencil



Bobby Podesta, marker

Erik Benson, marker



Jeff Pidgeon, marker

Teddy Newton, marker

Teddy Newton, marker

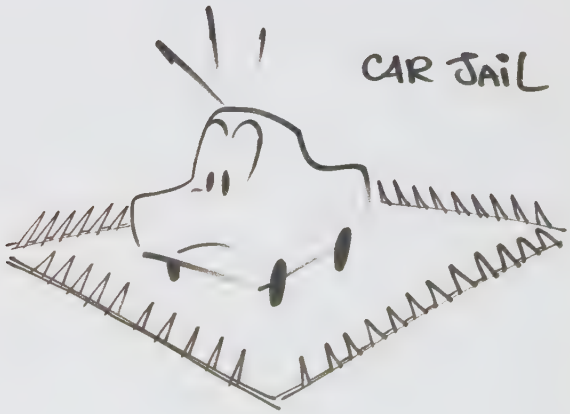
Teddy Newton, marker

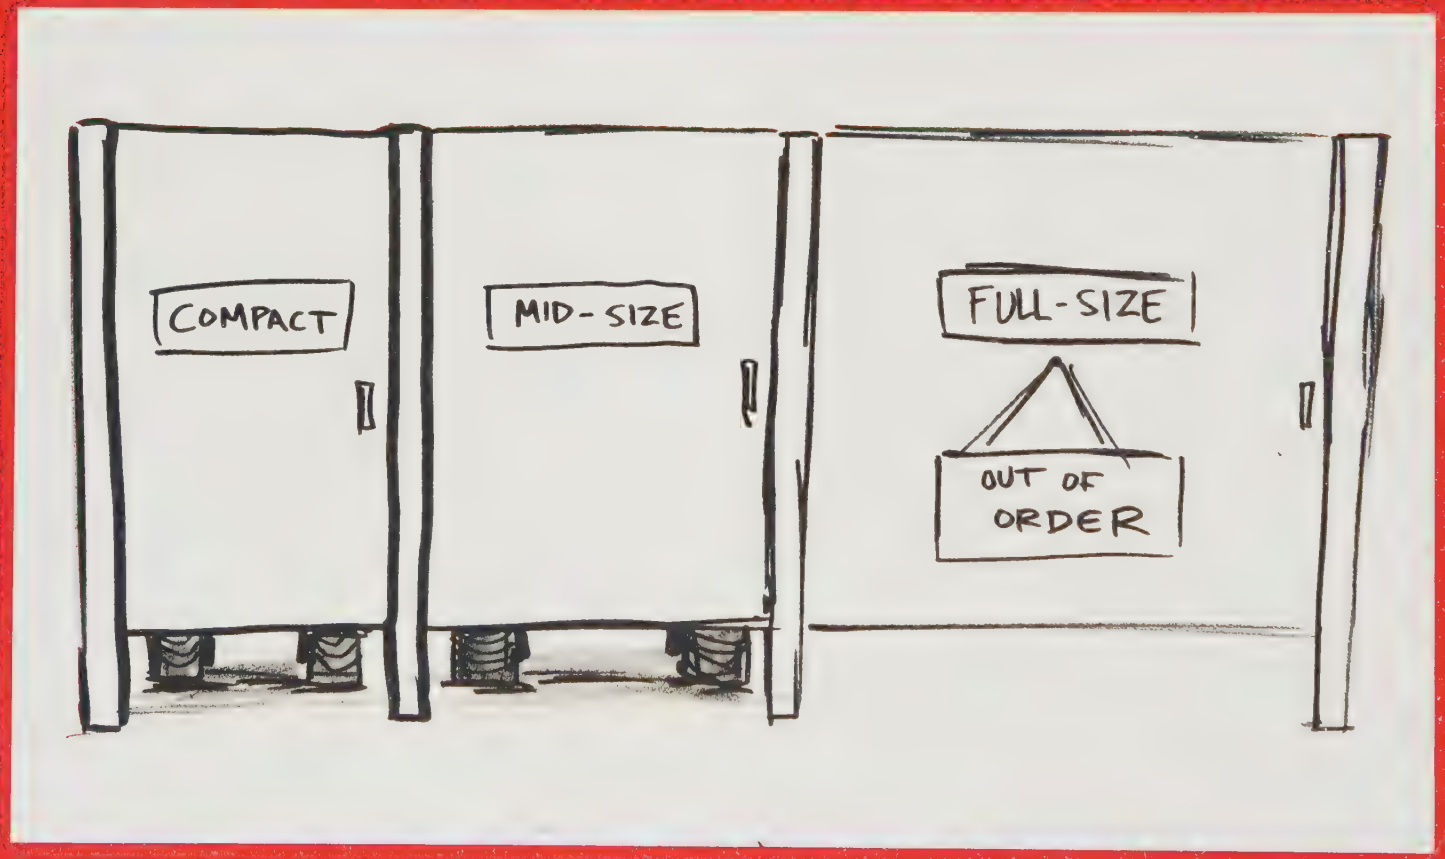
Rob Gibbs, marker

Unknown artist, marker

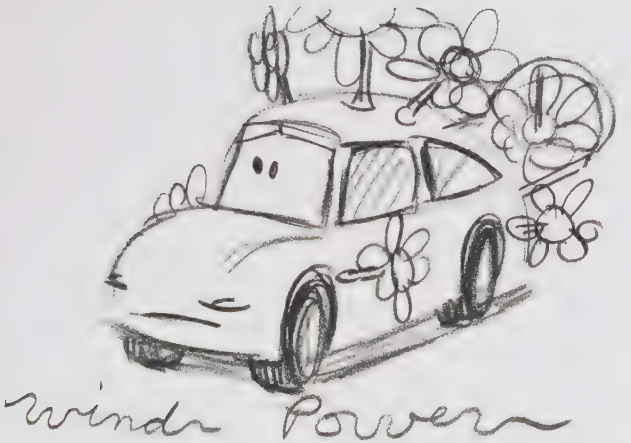
Rob Gibbs, pencil

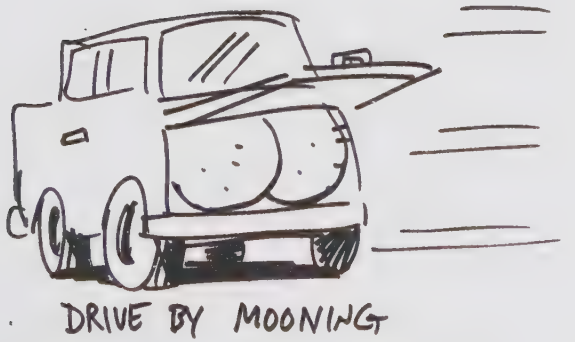
FIGHT AND FAR RIGHT
Teddy Newton, marker

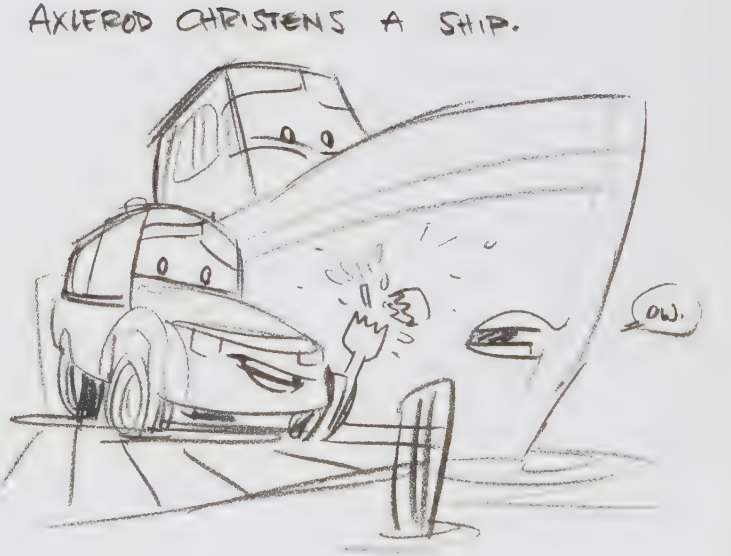




Josh Cooley, marker and pencil





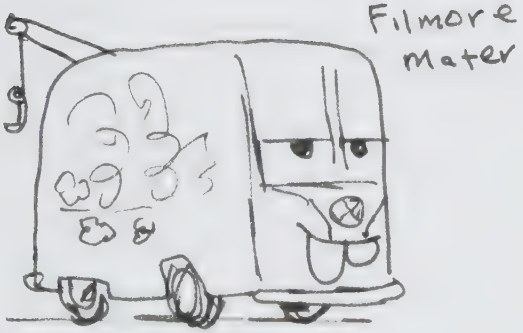


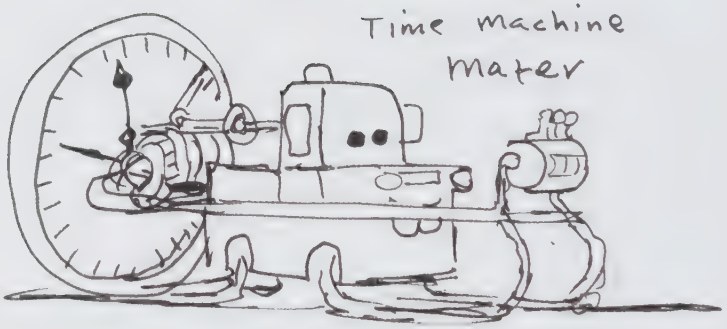
CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT
Rob Gibbs, pencil
Josh Cooley, pencil
Josh Cooley, pencil
Josh Cooley, marker

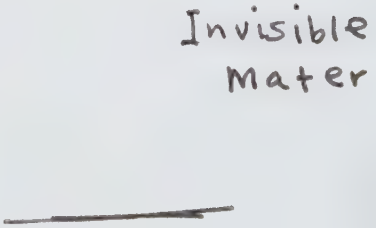
THIS PAGE

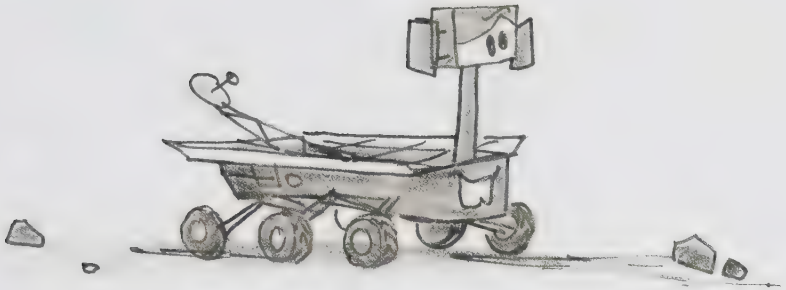
Erik Benson, pen

These handcrafted drawings were made with thousands of hours of meticulous focus and dedication. I think the beauty speaks for itself. —Erik Benson

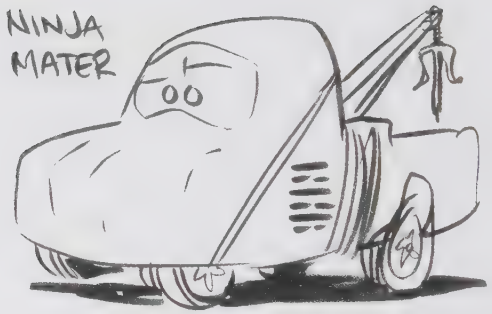




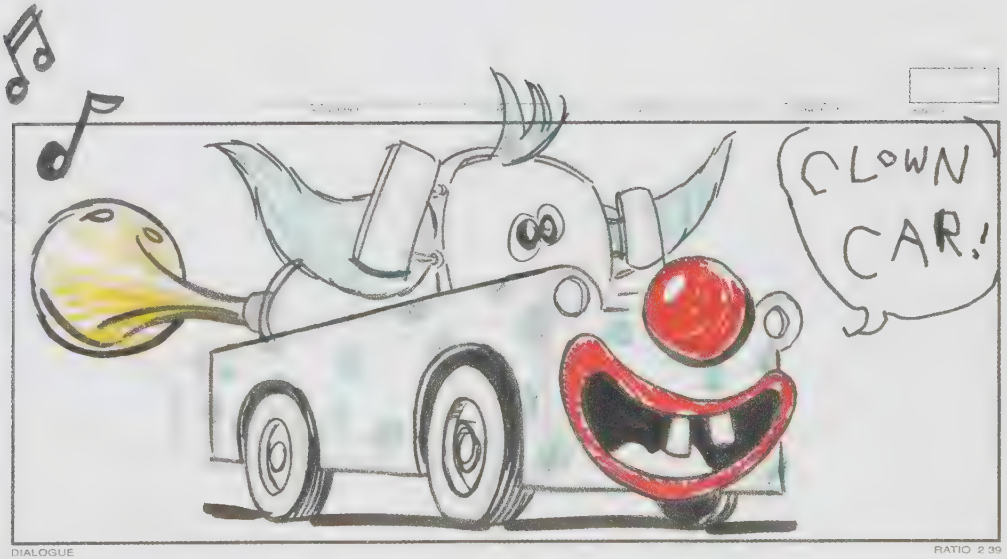




Derek Thompson, pen and pencil



Scott Morse, pen

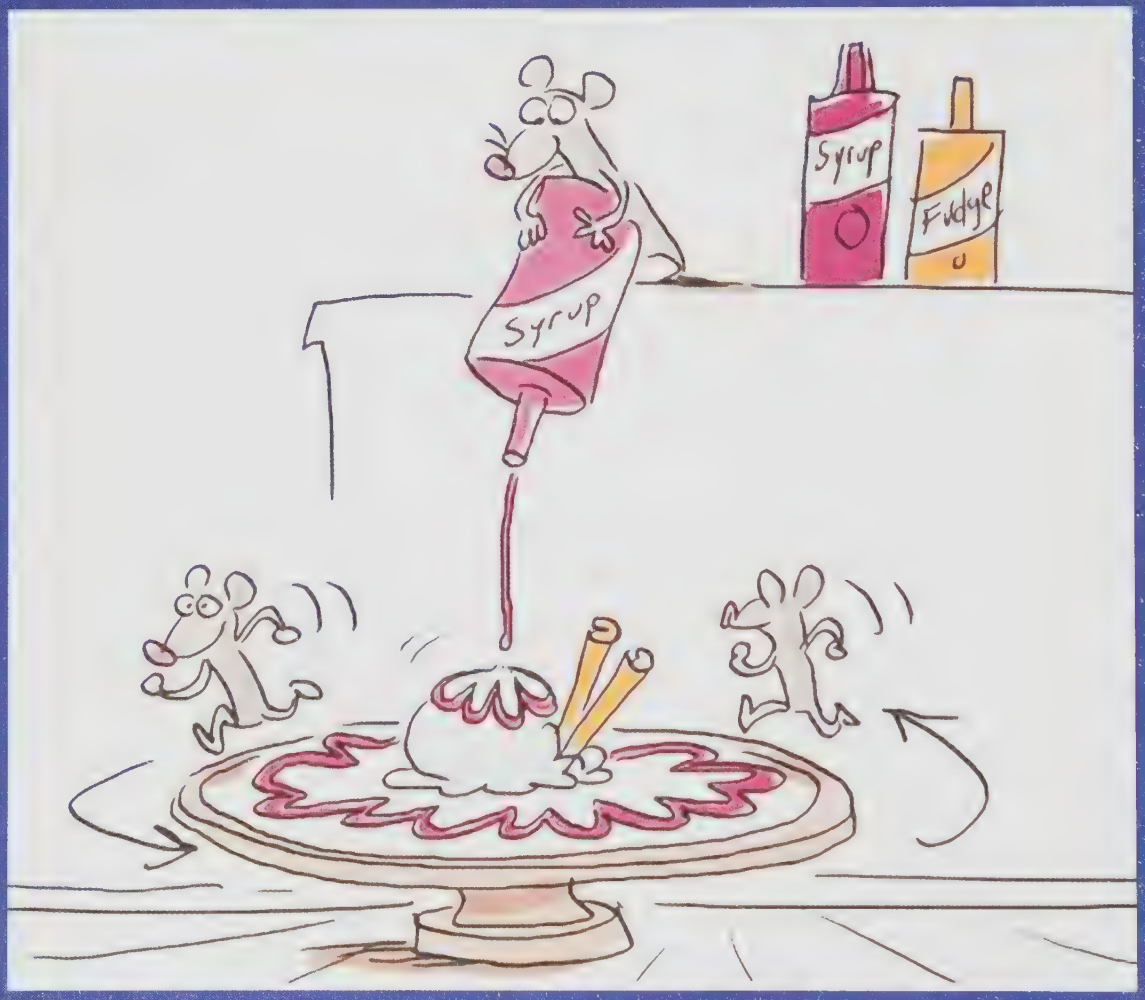


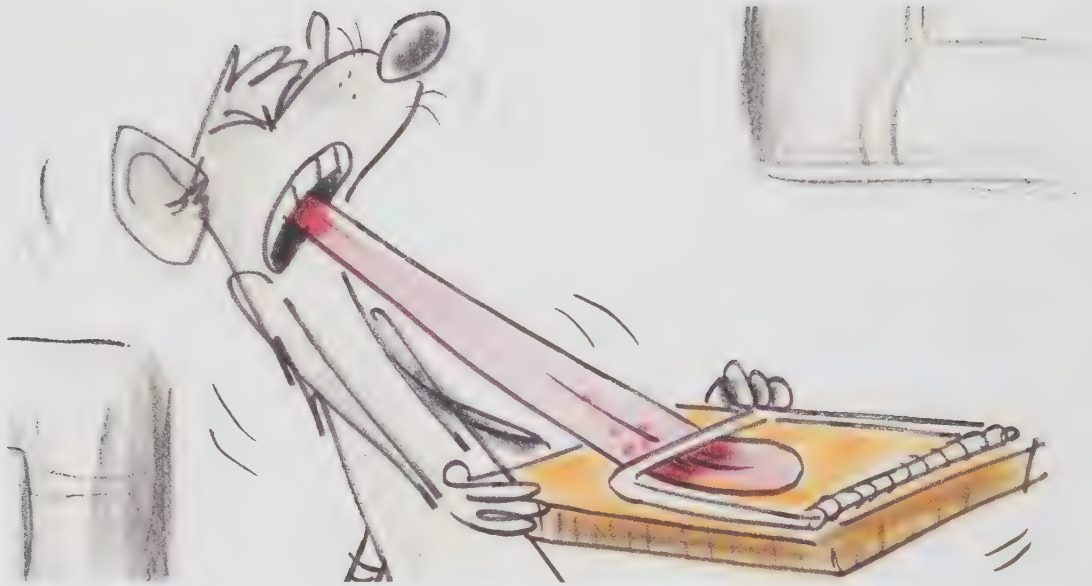
Kevin O'Brien, marker and colored pencil

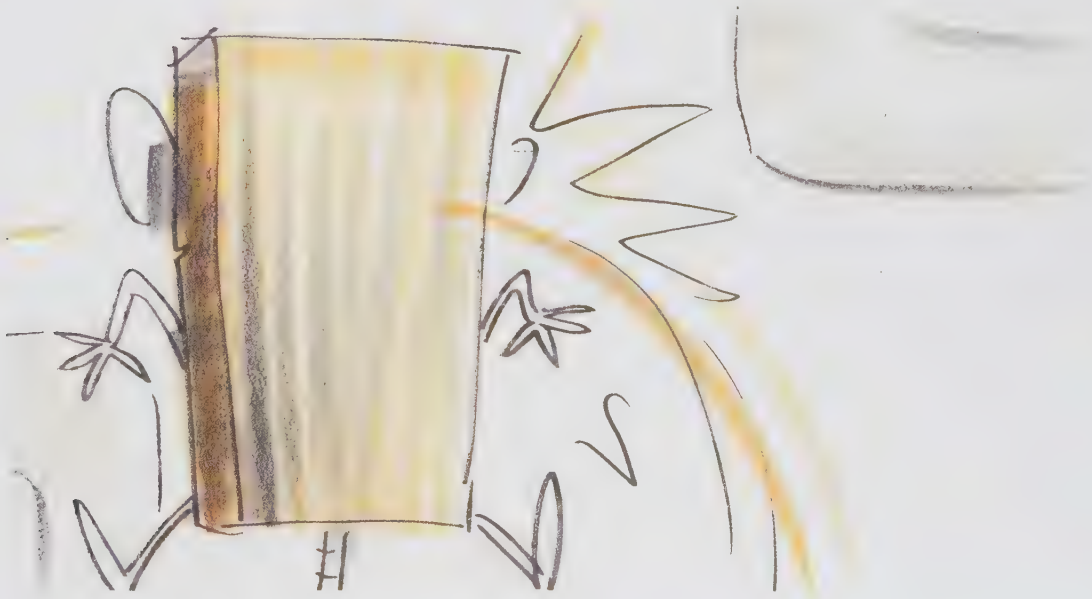
Disney PIXAR

RATATOUILLE

(rat•a•too•ee)

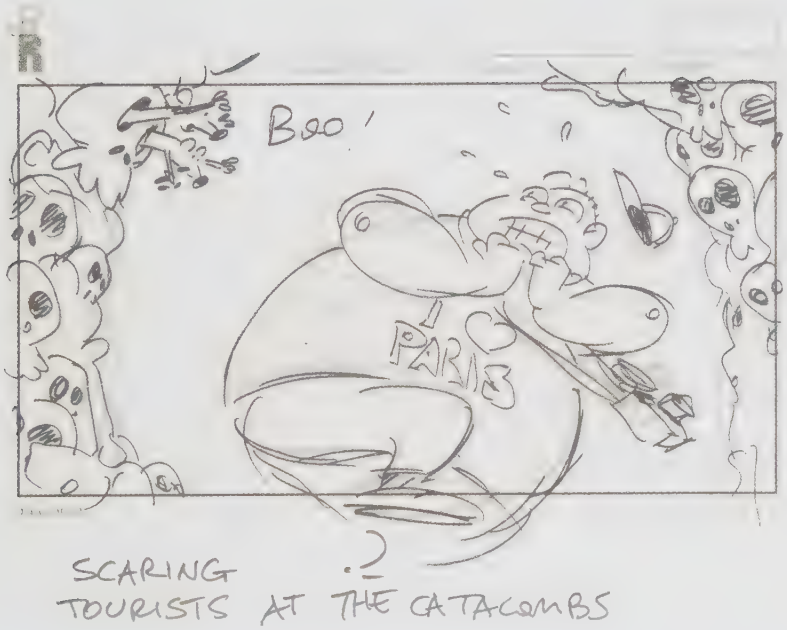






OPPOSITE
Matthew Luhn, digital

THIS PAGE
Matthew Luhn, pen and colored pencil



Jim Capobianco, pen and pencil

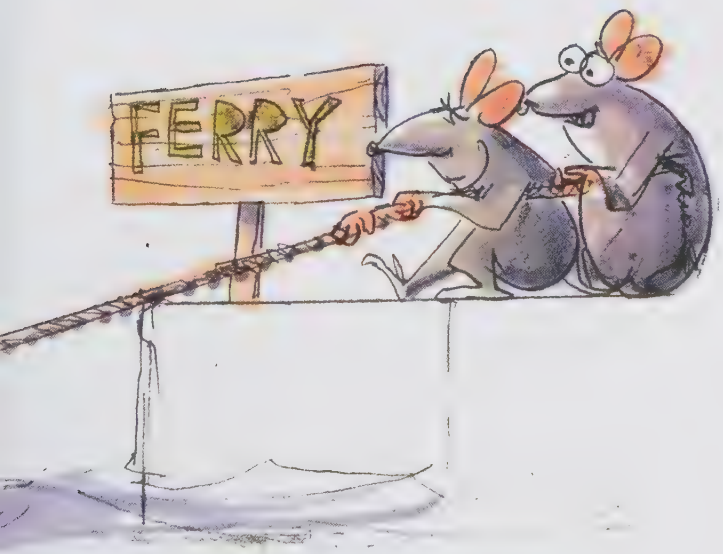
Jeff Pidgeon, marker

RIGHT
Harley Jessup, pen, marker, and colored pencil

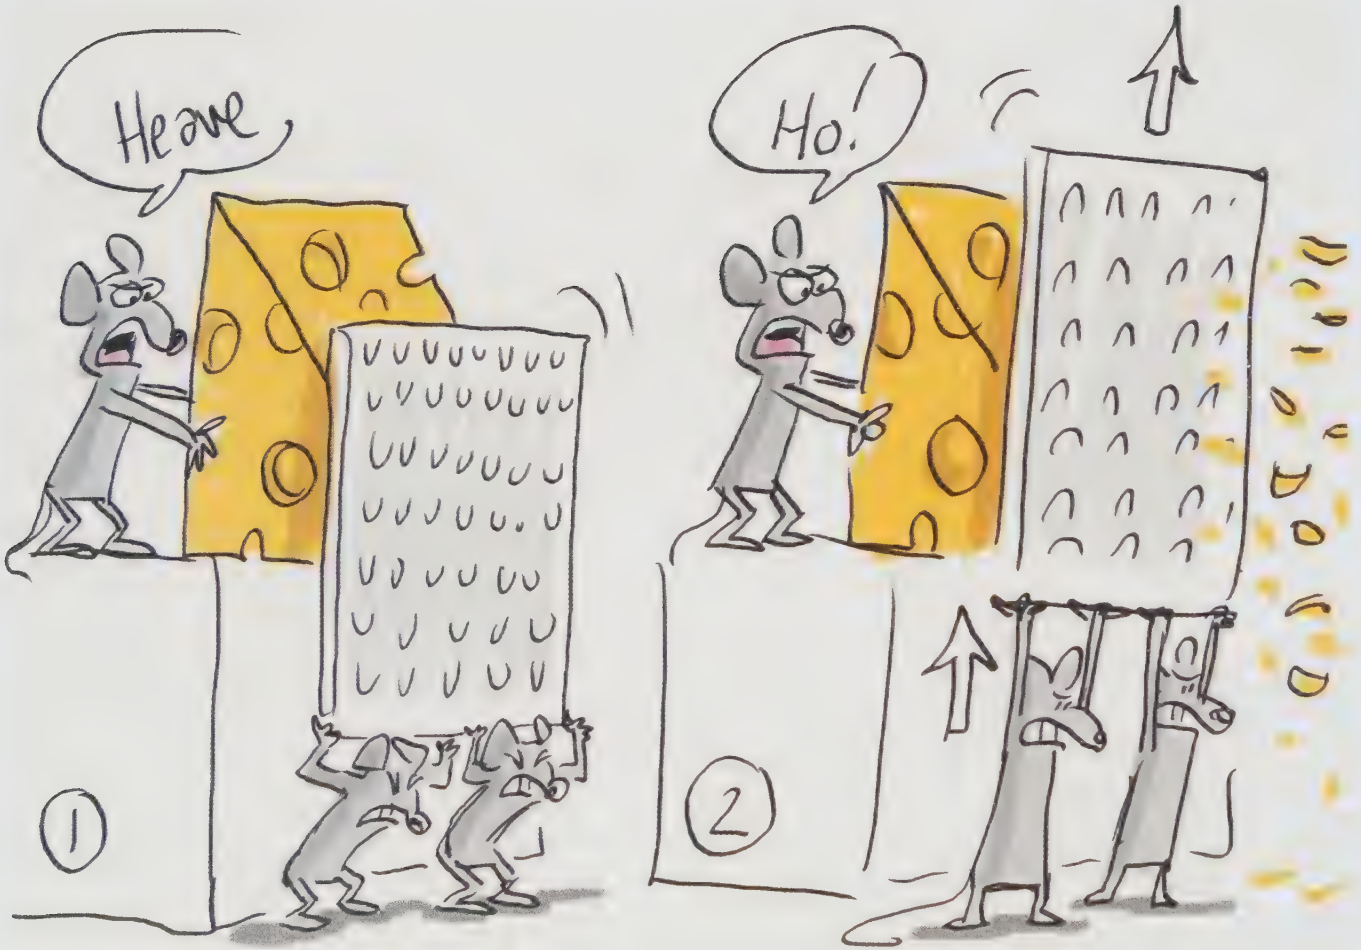
CHAIR IDEAS

HIGHTOP SNEAKER

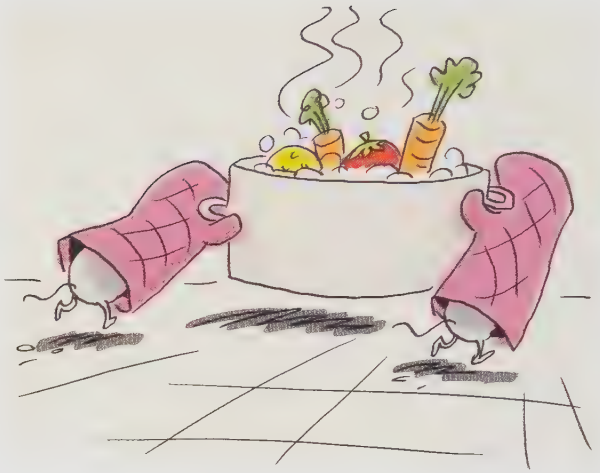
CHAMPAGNE CORK



COUNTER-WEIGHTED ELEVATOR



Matthew Luhn, digital

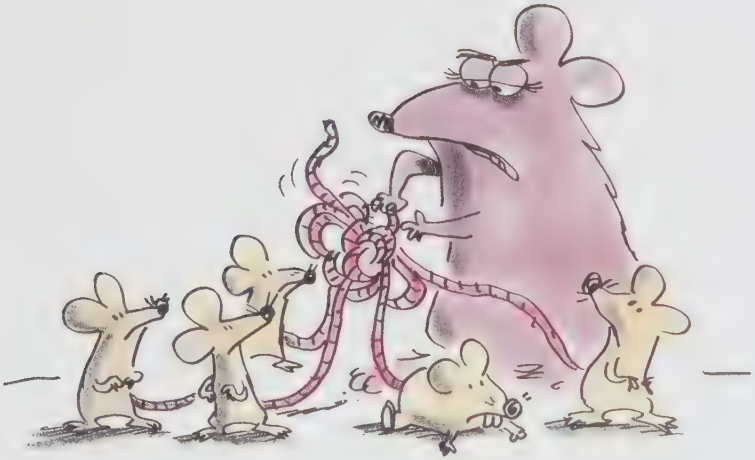


ABOVE
Jeff Pidgeon, marker

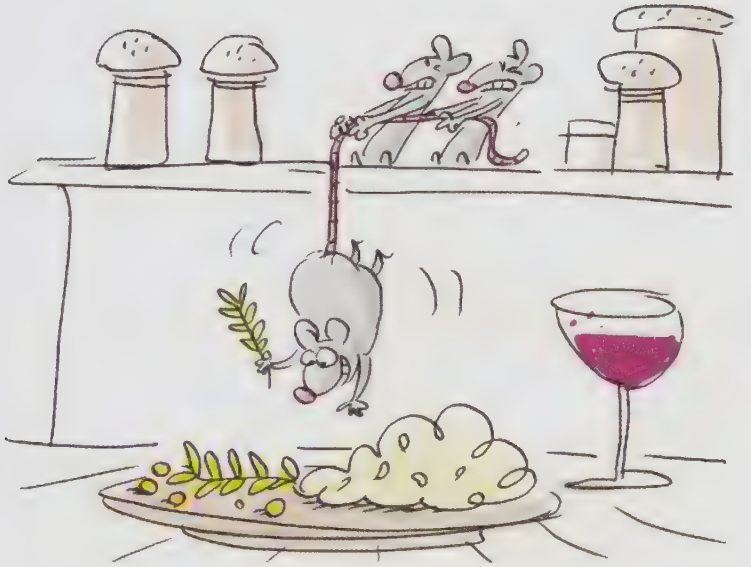
TOP RIGHT AND RIGHT
Matthew Luhn, digital

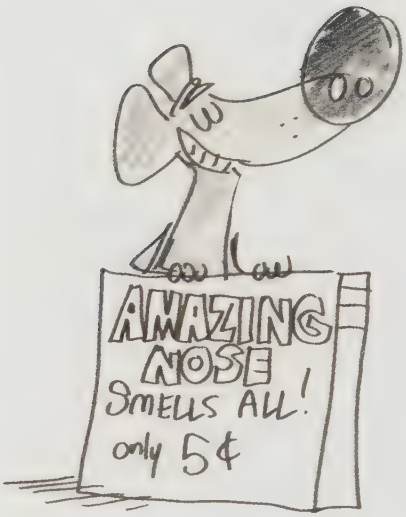
Matthew Luhn, digital

Matthew Luhn, pen, marker, and pencil



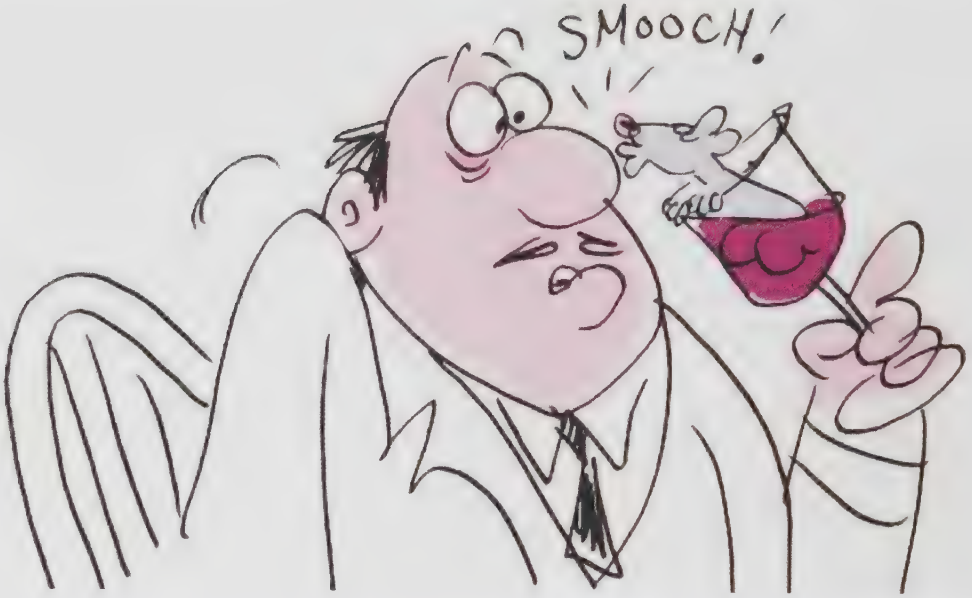
Matthew Luhn, pen, marker, and pencil

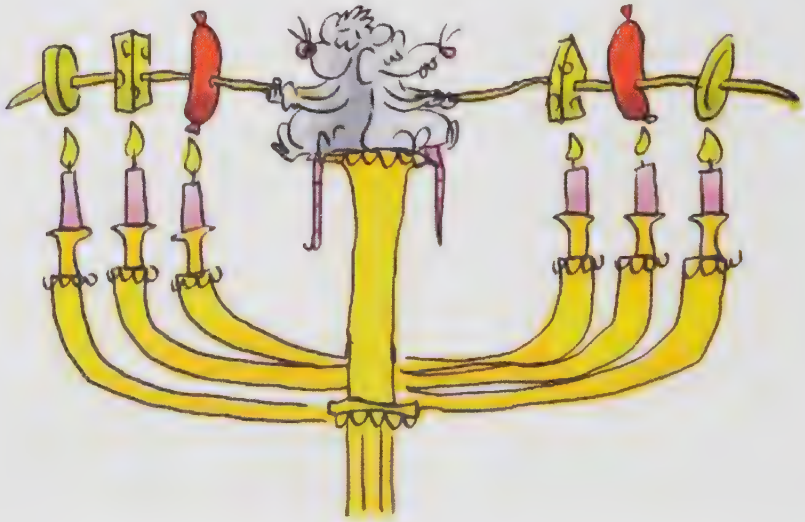




CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT
Matthew Luhn, digital
Matthew Luhn, pen and pencil
Matthew Luhn, pen and colored pencil

THIS PAGE
Matthew Luhn, digital

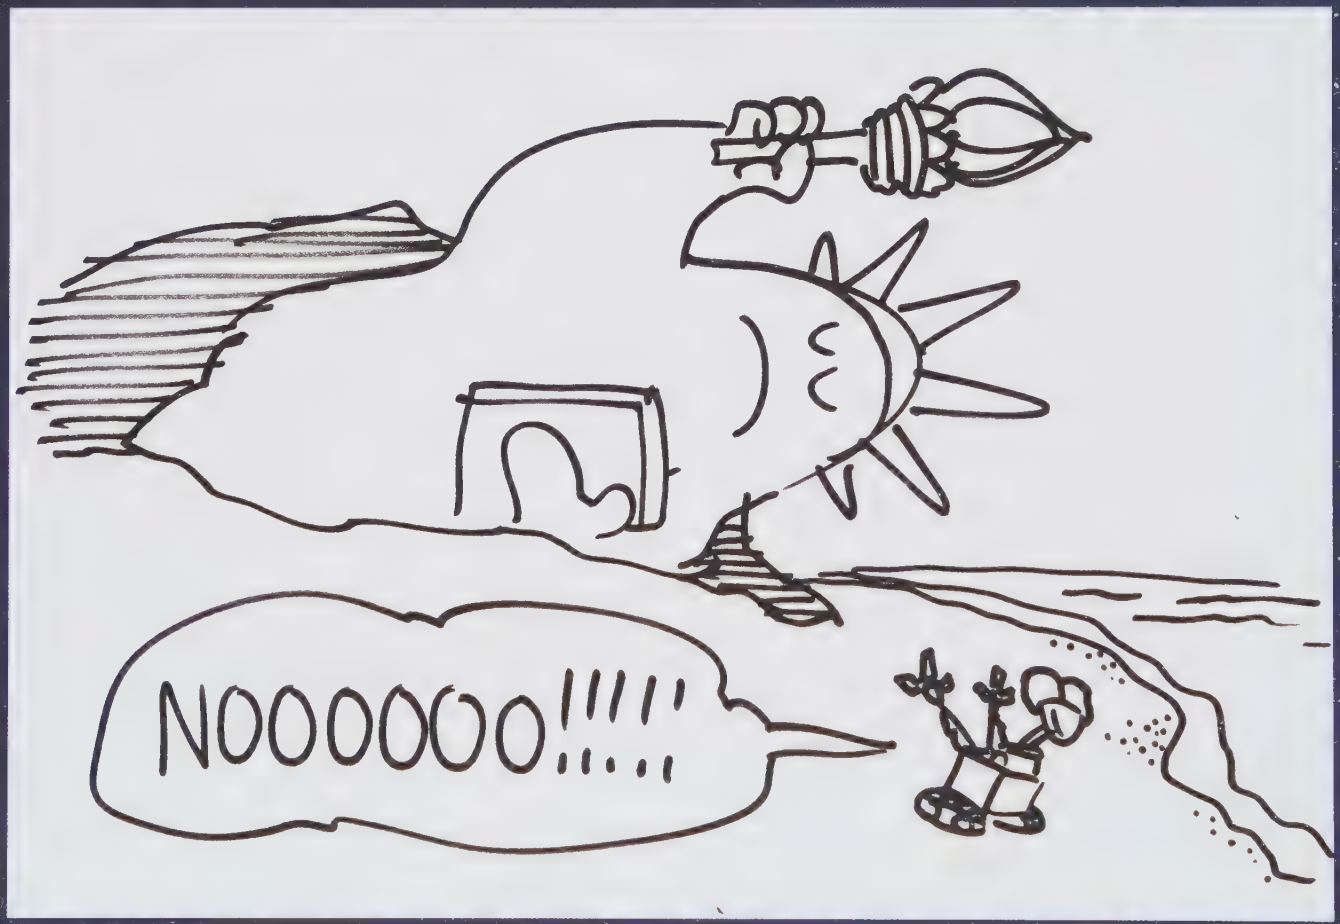


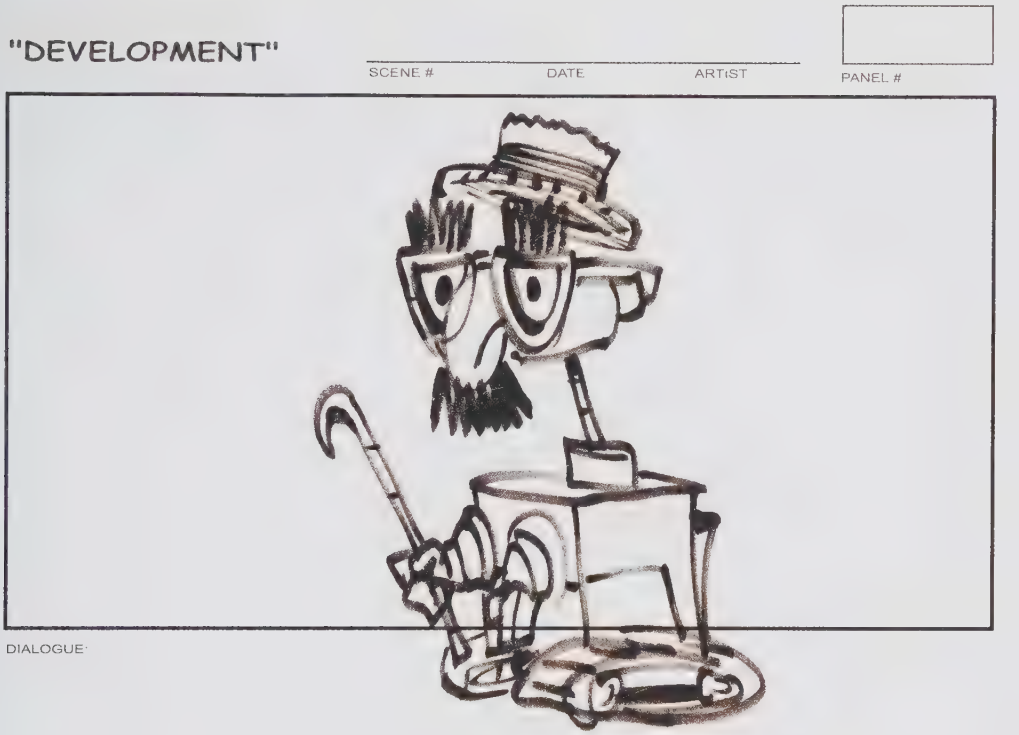


ABOVE
Jason Deamer, marker

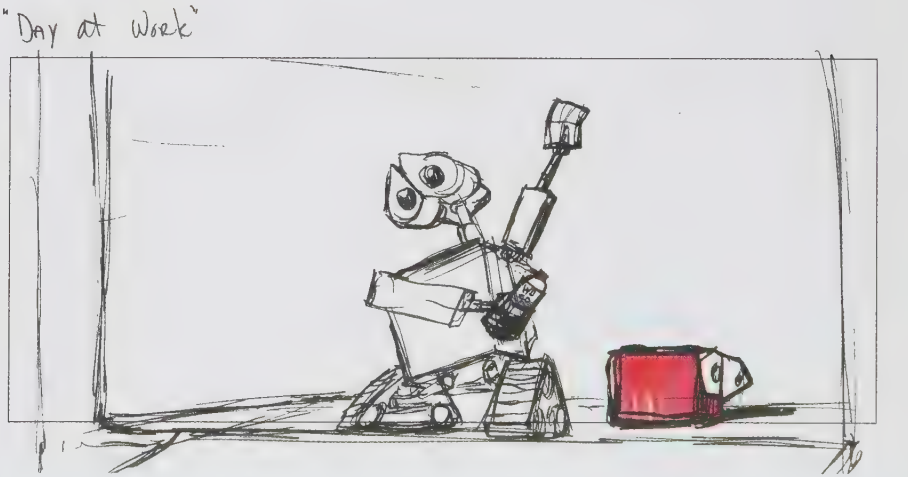
TOP RIGHT AND RIGHT
Matthew Luhn, digital

Disney · PIXAR
WALL·E

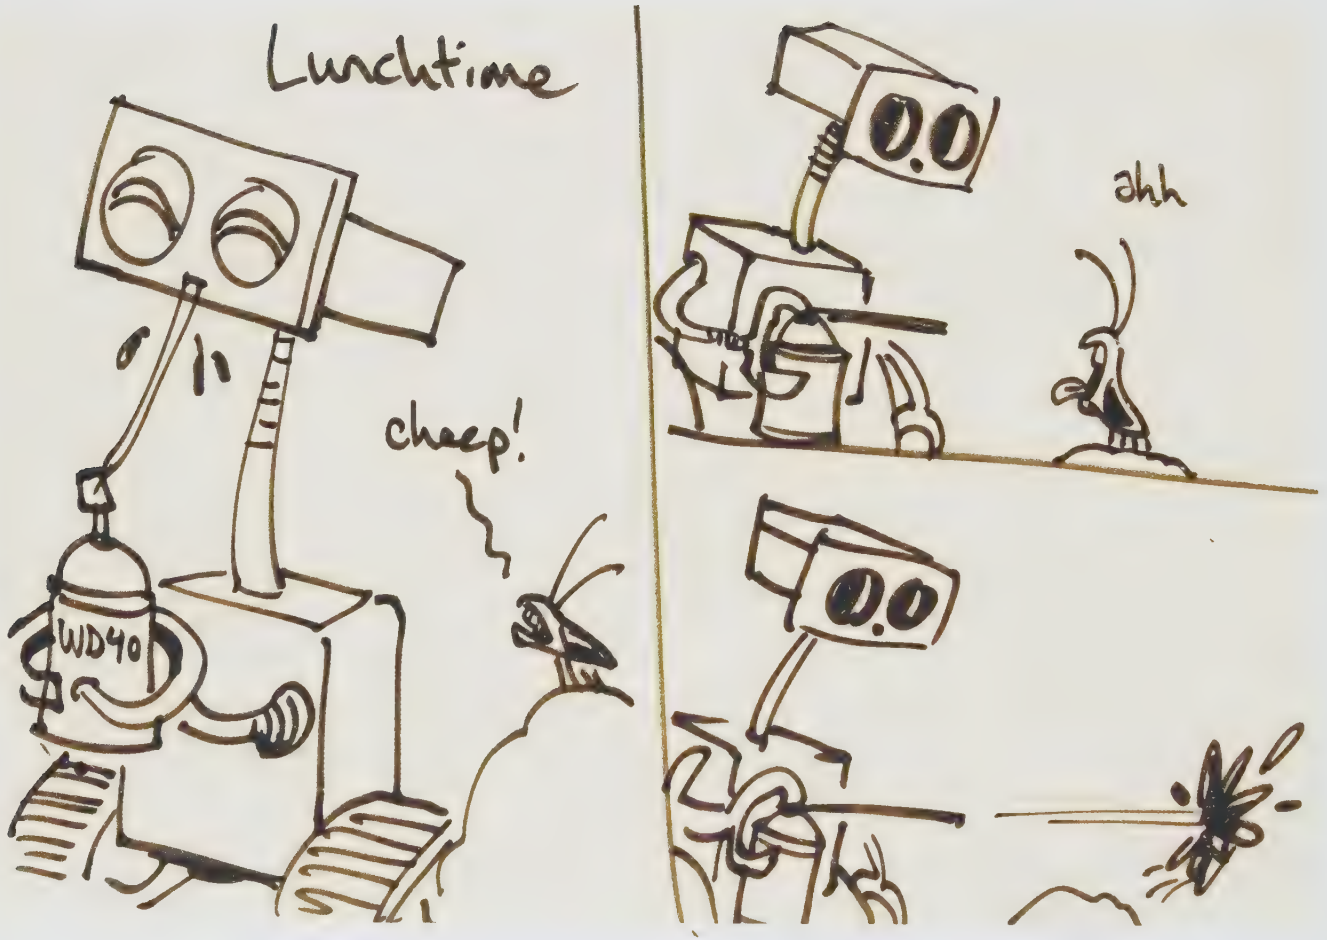




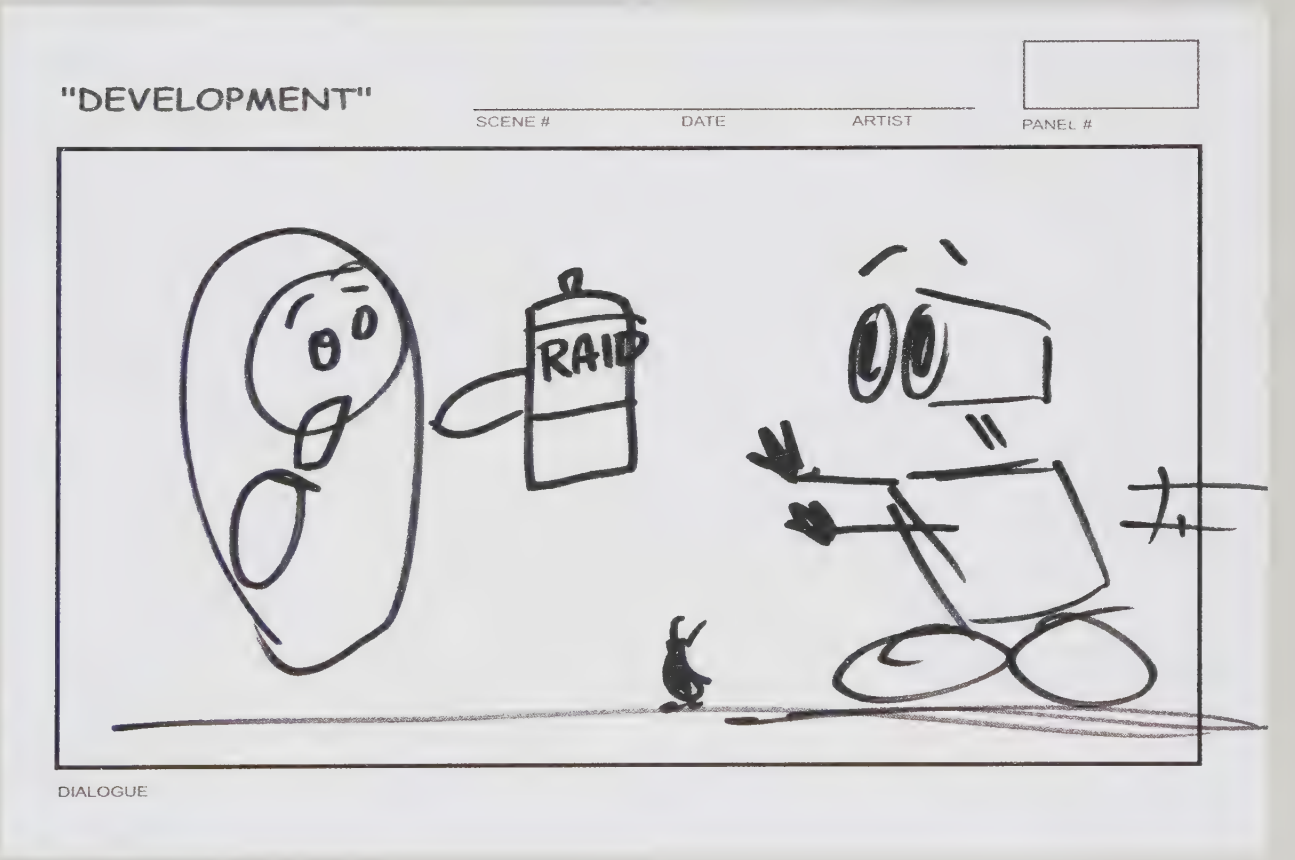
OPPOSITE AND ABOVE
Jeff Pidgeon, marker



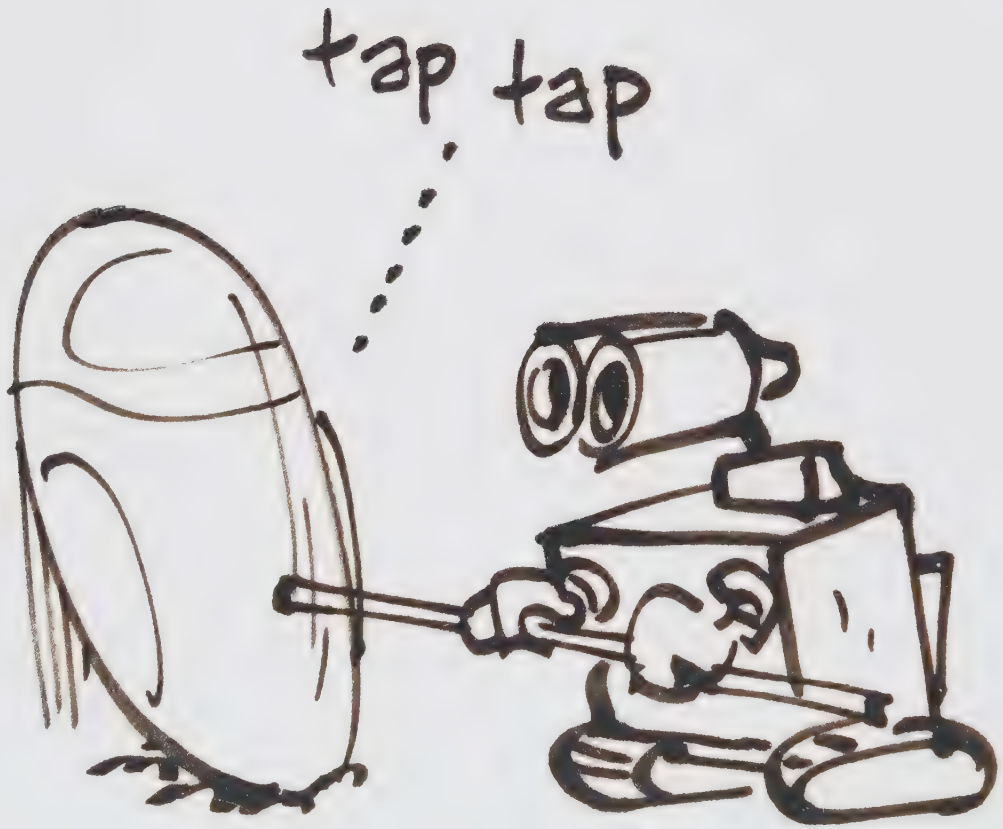
Max Brace, pen and marker



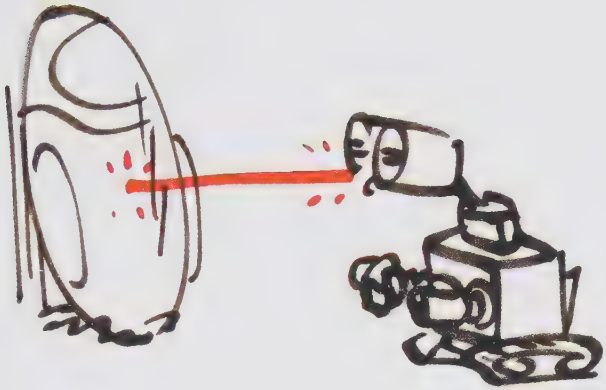
Jeff Pidgeon, marker

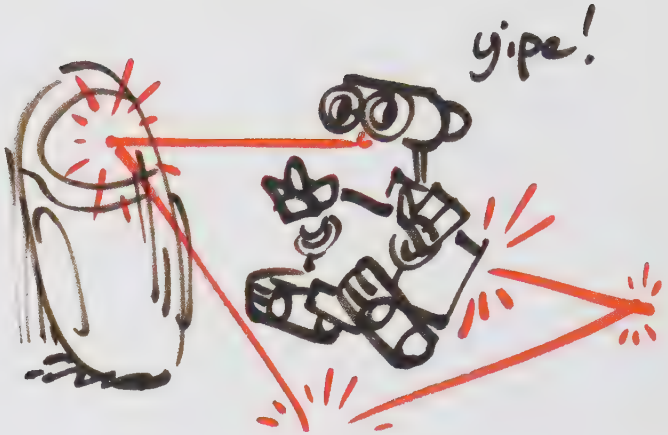


Jim Reardon, marker



THIS SPREAD
Jeff Pidgeon, marker

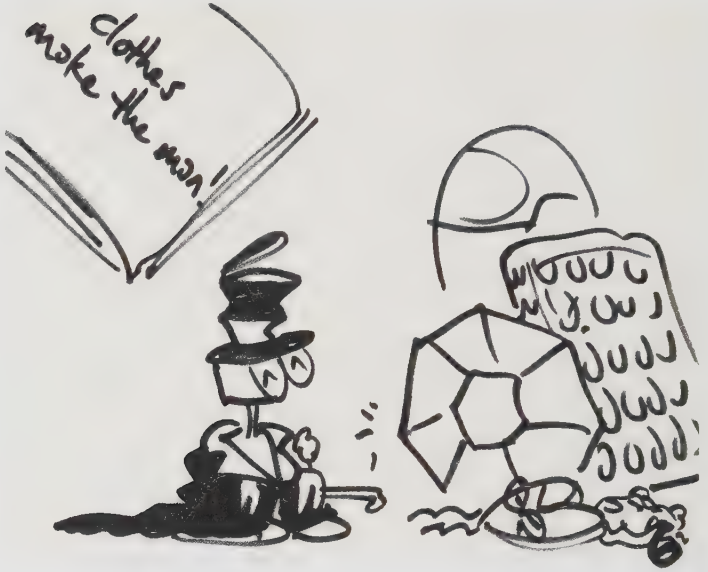




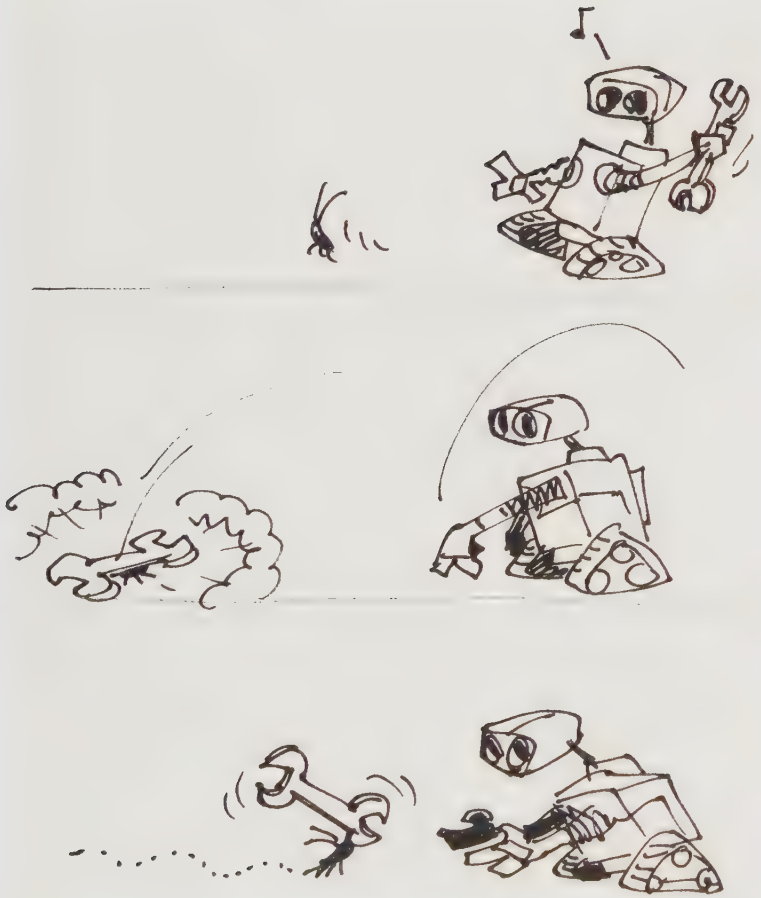
yipe!

Out there....

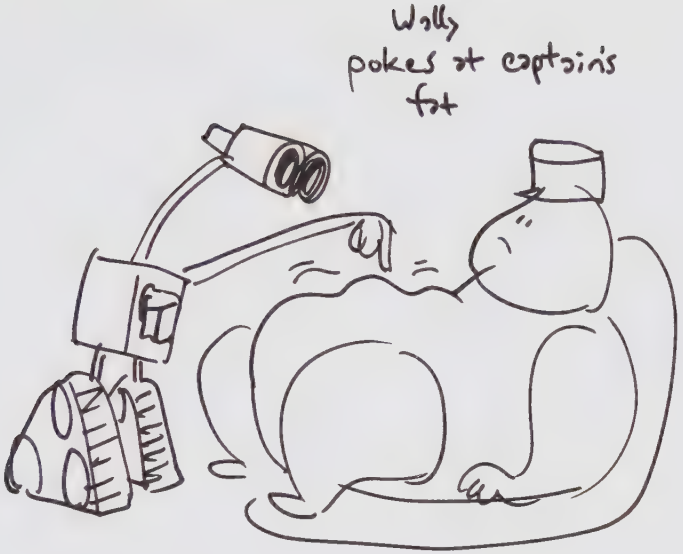
THIS SPREAD
Jeff Pidgeon, marker

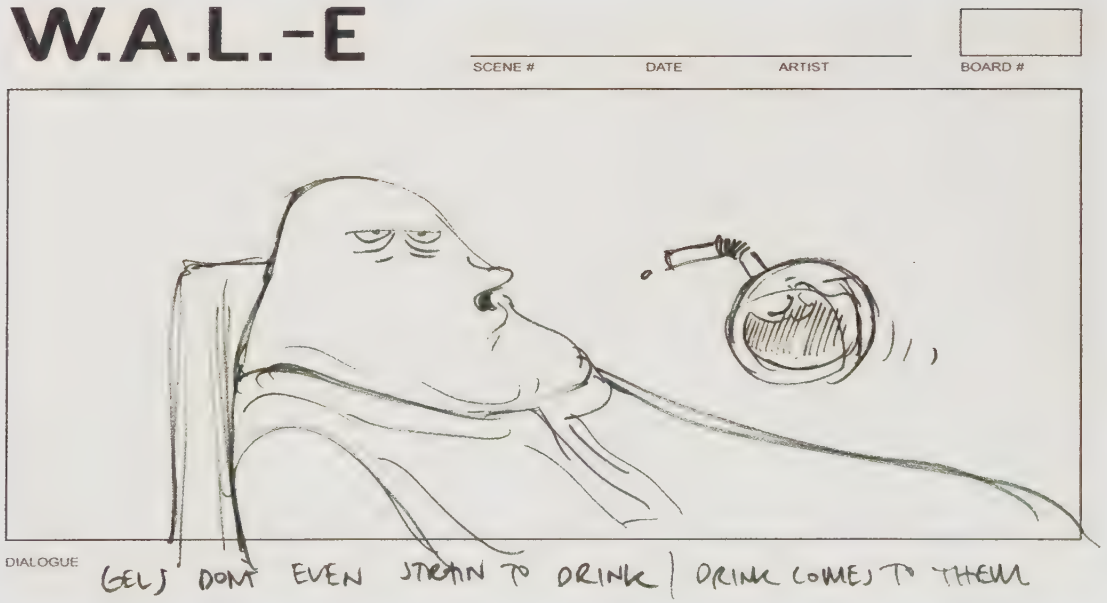


This series of gags comes from a classic short film structure called "Try and Fail." Sometimes the main character comes up with a series of ideas to achieve his/her goal, and sometimes an instruction book is used to set up each "Try." When EVE goes into shutdown mode, I thought WALL·E could dig up an old "How to Be Romantic" book and try to coax her out. My thought was that some of the humor and charm would come from the fact that WALL·E would only have trash items at his disposal! —Jeff Pidgeon



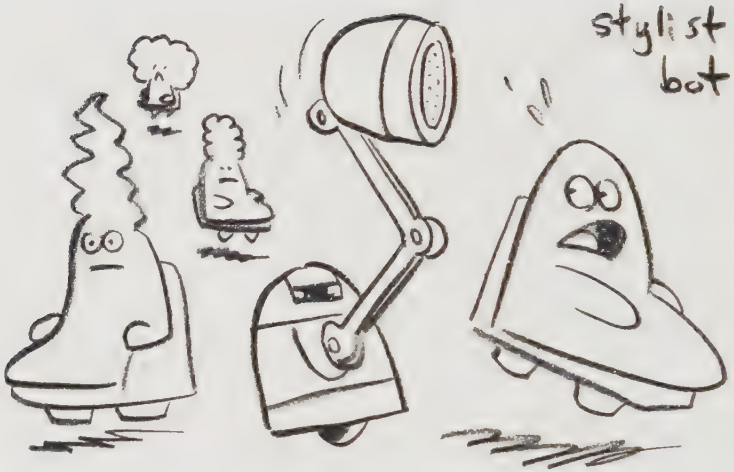
THIS PAGE
Jeff Pidgeon, pen

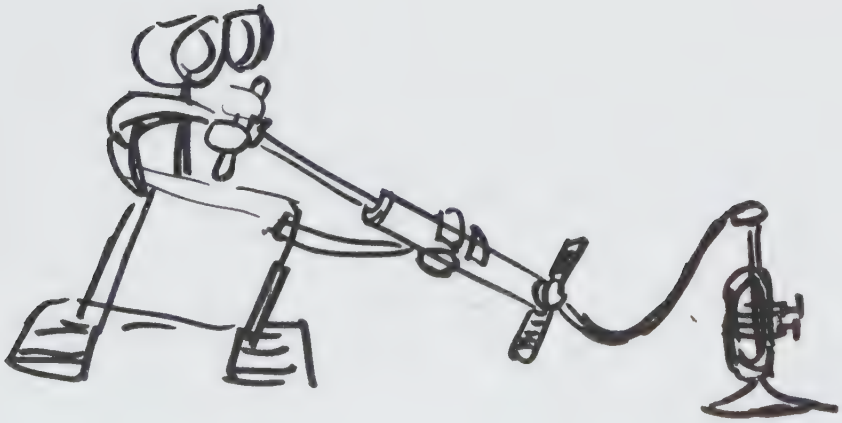




ABOVE
Jeff Pidgeon, pen

RIGHT
Nate Stanton, pen





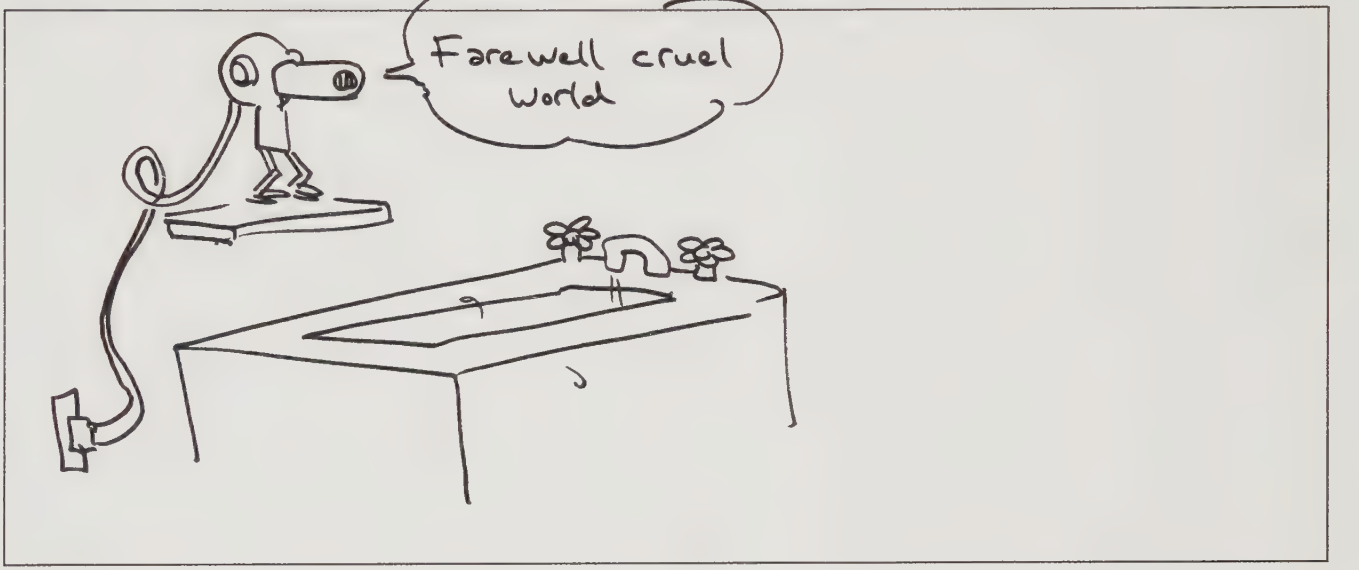
TOP LEFT
Jim Reardon, pen

ABOVE
Jeff Pidgeon, china marker

LEFT
Jim Reardon, marker

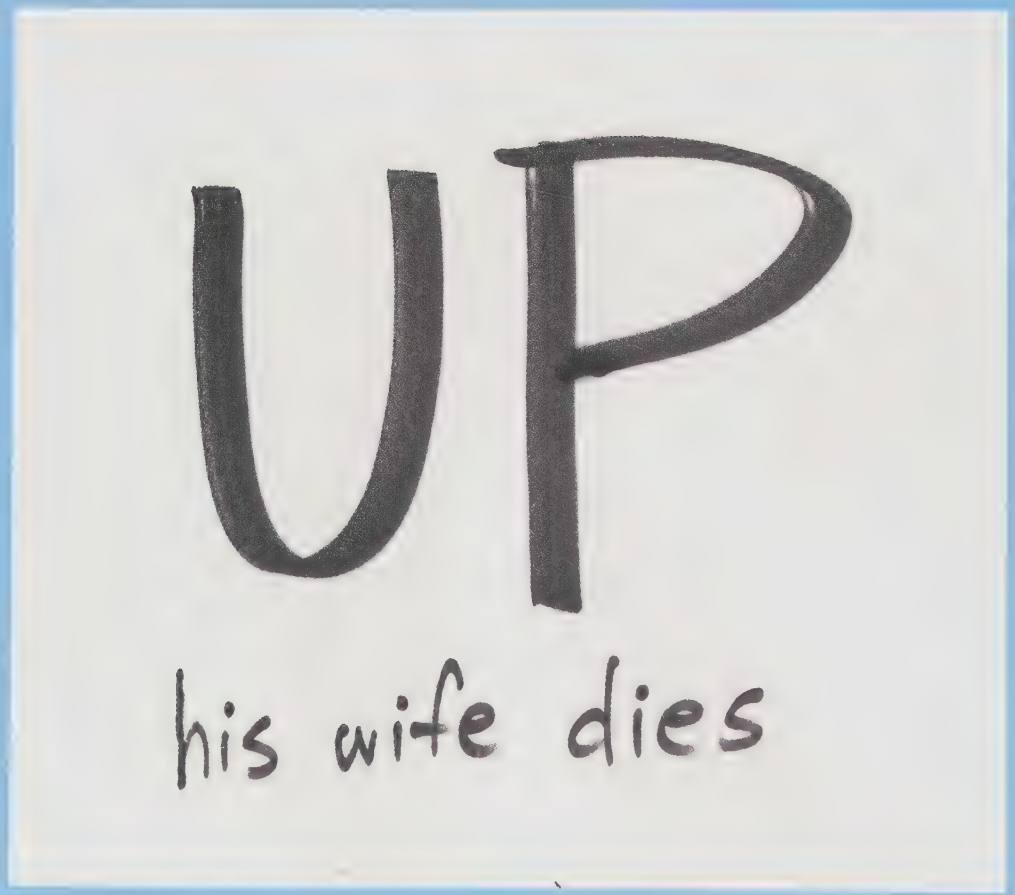
W.A.L.-E

SCENE # DATE ARTIST BOARD #



DIALOGUE:

THIS PAGE
Jeff Pidgeon, pen

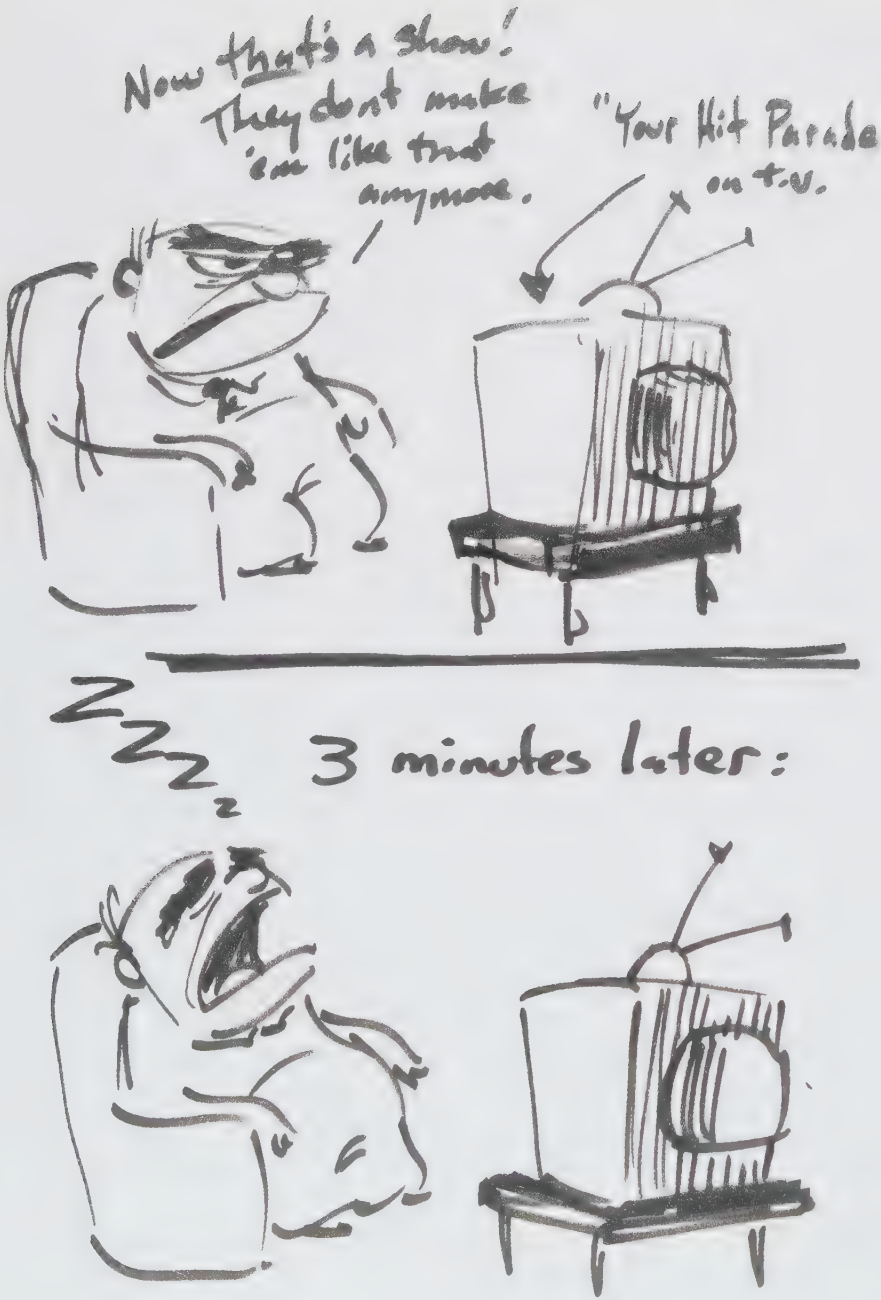


Teddy Newton, marker

Patrick McDonnell, pen and watercolor

Pete Docter, marker and colored pencil

This was the first drawing I did after Bob Peterson and I talked of doing a film about a grouchy old man. The fact that he sold happy, fun, colorful balloons seemed like a funny contrast to his demeanor—and also helped explain where he gets the goods to float his house. —Pete Docter

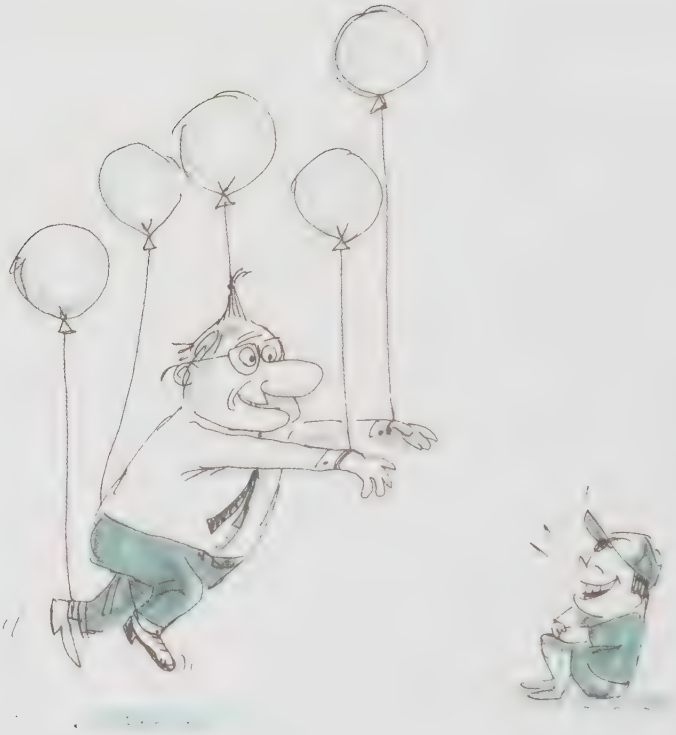


Pete Docter, marker

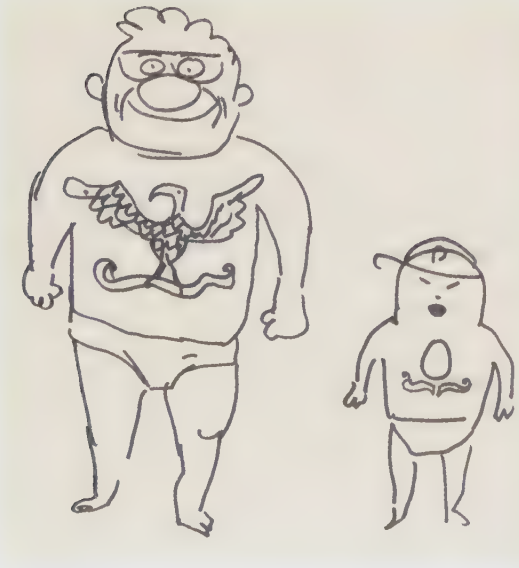
I did a whole series of scribbles like these, exploring Carl's habits and mannerisms, trying to get a handle on who he was before we wrote the script.
—Pete Docter

THIS PAGE
Teddy Newton, pen

Teddy Newton, marker



Teddy Newton, pen and marker



Teddy Newton, pen

Teddy Newton, pen and marker

Matthew Luhn, pen and pencil

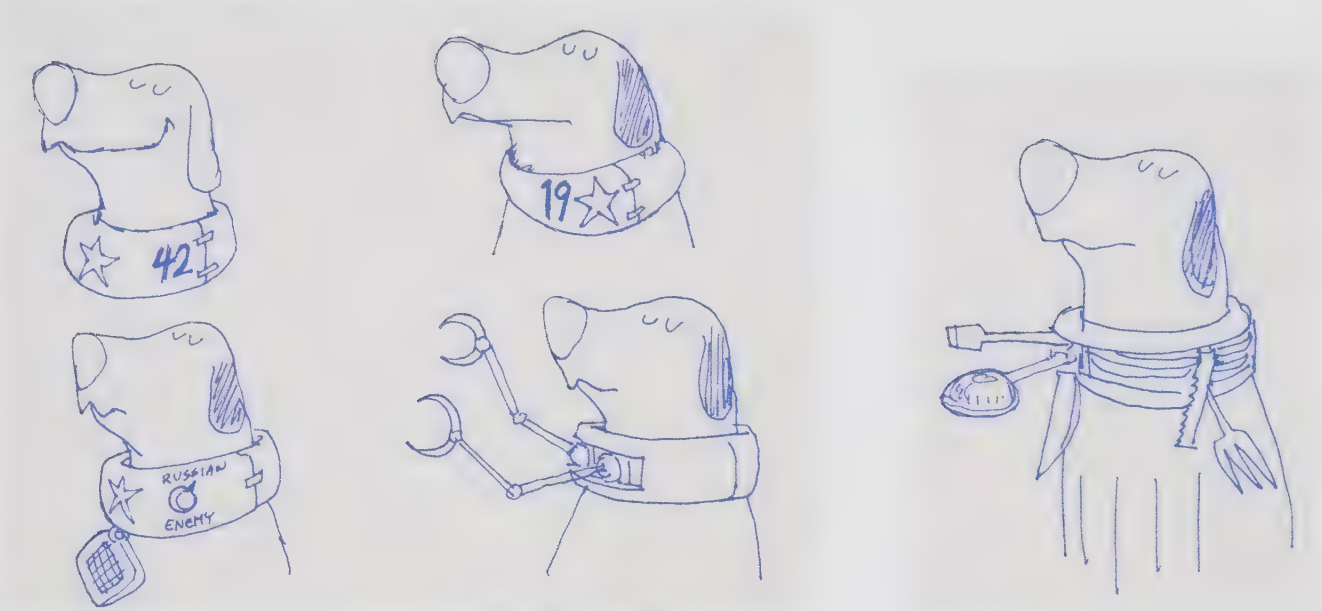
Teddy Newton, pen

Ken Bruce, pen and pencil

THIS PAGE
Jeff Pidgeon, marker

THIS PAGE
Jeff Pidgeon, marker

OPPOSITE
Peter Sohn, pen



42
19 RUSSIAN ENEMY

DUG SNORE

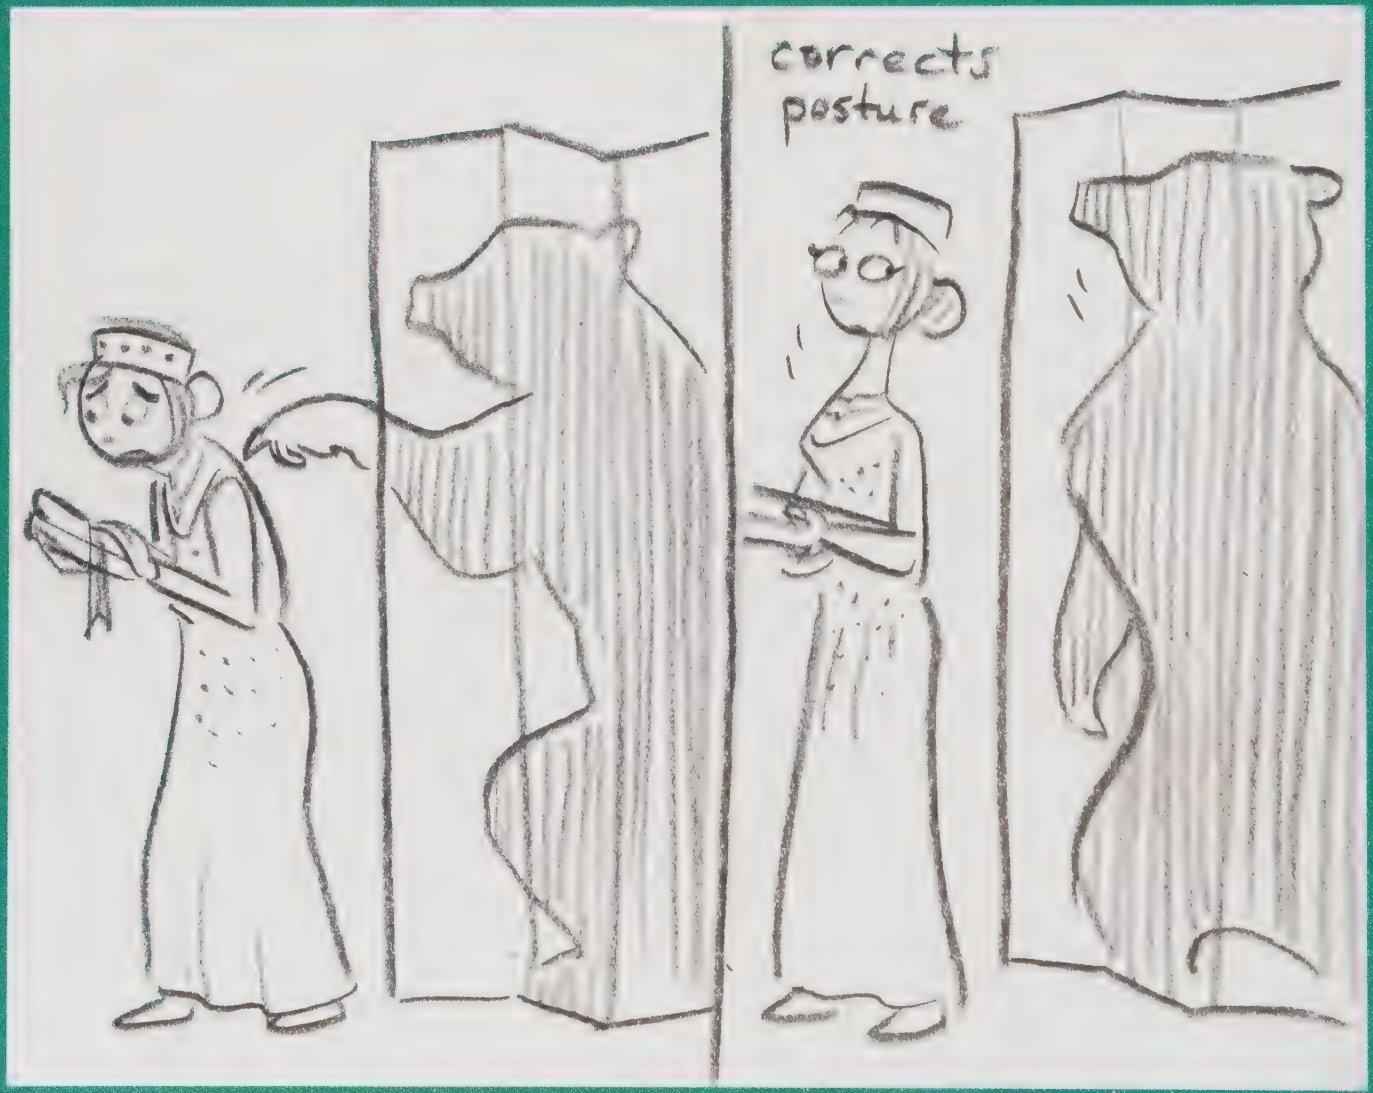
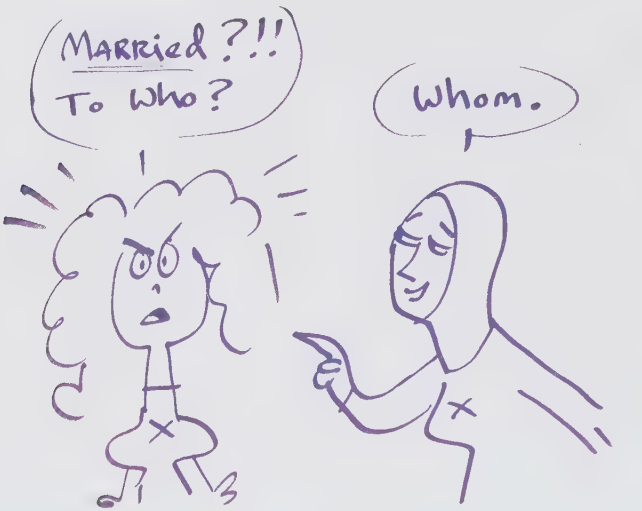
Disney PIXAR
BRAVE

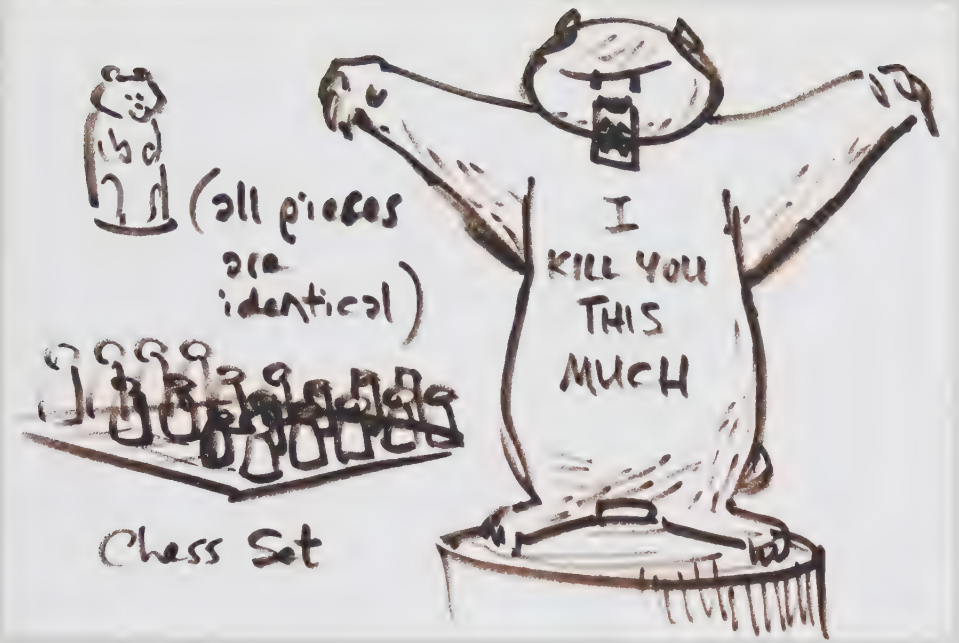


ABOVE
Teddy Newton, marker

RIGHT
Jeff Pidgeon, marker

OPPOSITE
Jeff Pidgeon, china marker

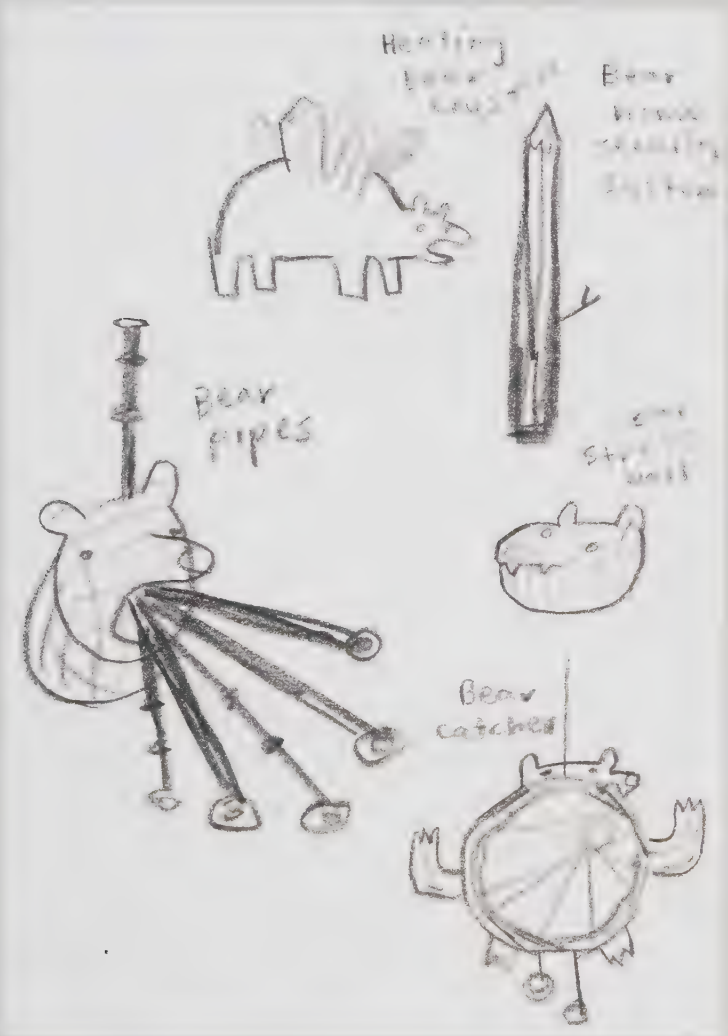


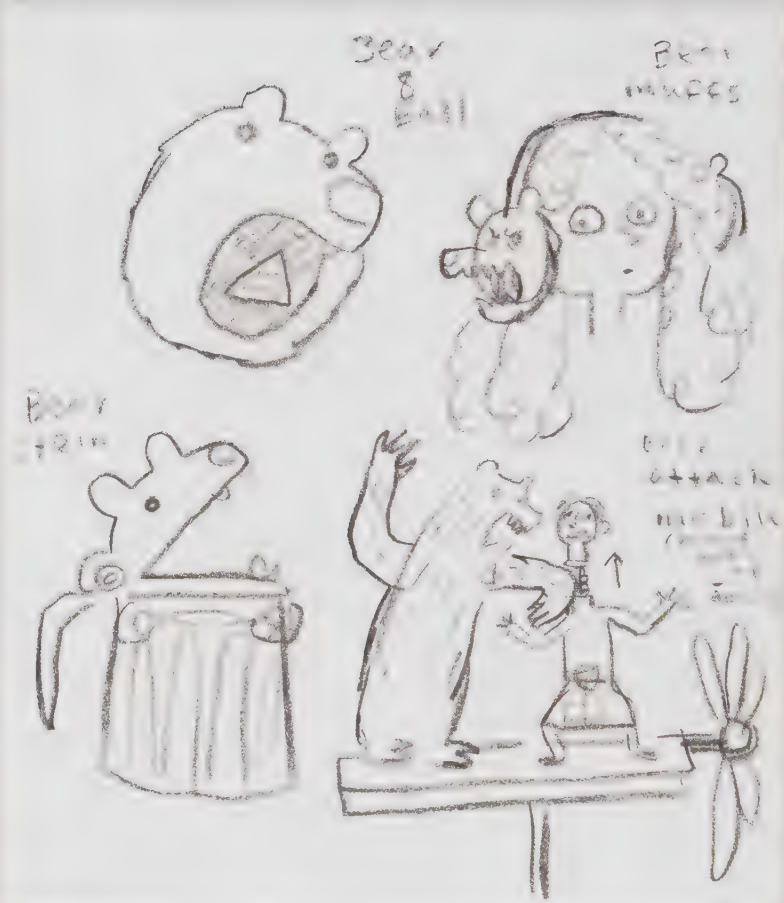


TOP LEFT AND LEFT
Jeff Pidgeon, marker

TOP RIGHT
Jeff Pidgeon, pencil

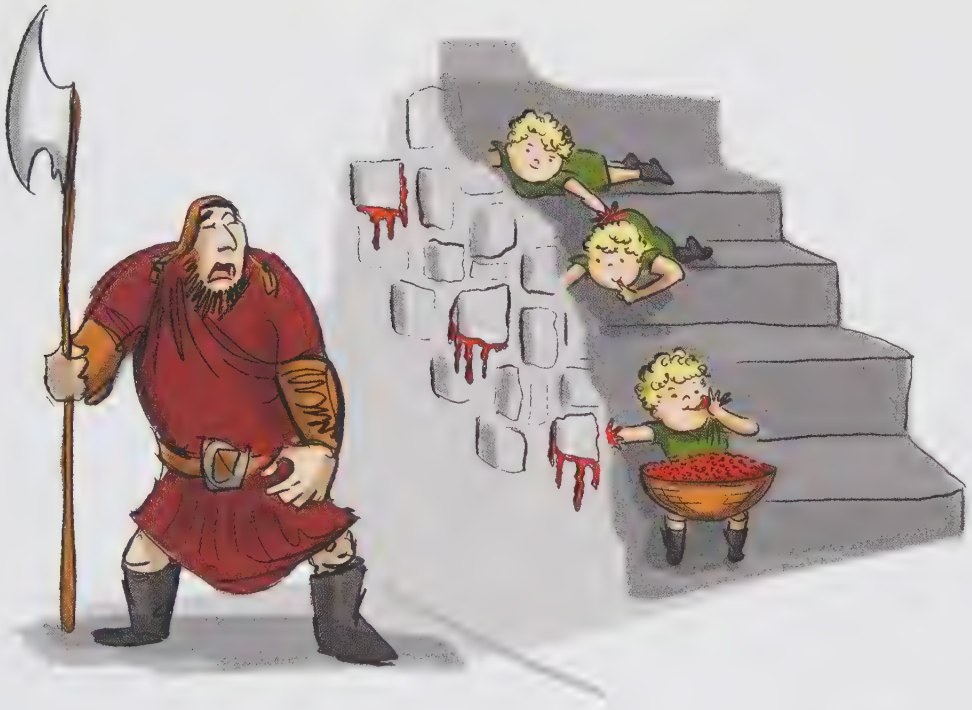
ABOVE
Erik Benson, pencil





THIS PAGE
Erik Benson, pencil

These are souvenirs for the old witch's hut in Brave. Inspired by the many quality items I have purchased at old witch's huts inside airports. —Erik Benson



THIS SPREAD

Valerie LaPointe, digital

How would Merida's brothers scare or distract the guards in order for Merida and her mother to escape? That was the challenge for these gags, with the limitation of what would be available as props and settings in a medieval-like castle. —Valerie LaPointe

THIS PAGE
Jeff Pidgeon, china marker and marker

Jeff Pidgeon, china marker

THIS SPREAD
Jeff Pidgeon, china marker

Josh Cooley, marker and pencil

THIS PAGE
Daniel Chong, marker

Daniel Chong, pen

Unknown artist, pencil

THIS PAGE

- Tony Fucile, pencil

Domee Shi, pen

You never see it onscreen, but most of the imaginary boyfriends Joy created to get back to Headquarters must have ended up in the Memory Dump. In the story room, we felt bad about that until we remembered . . . they would die for Riley. And they're imaginary.
—Josh Cooley

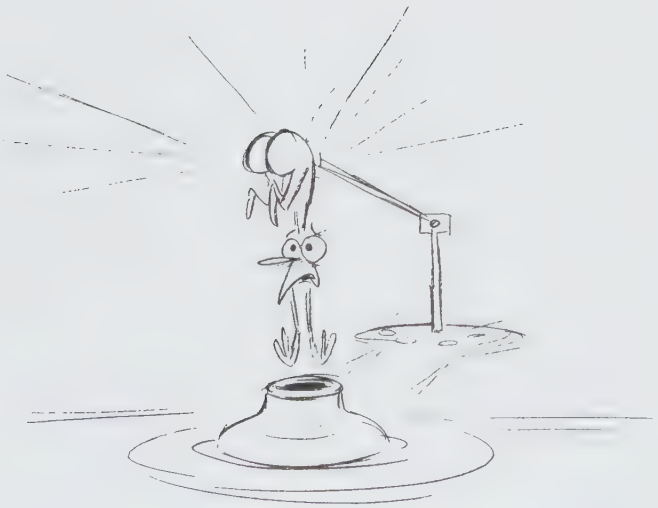
Tony Fucile, pencil

Daniel Chong, marker

Yung-Han Chang, marker

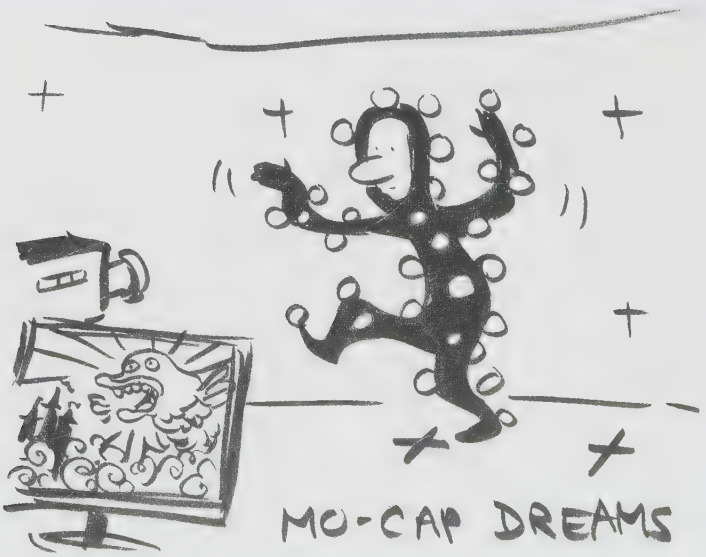
RIGHT
Domee Shi, marker

BELOW
Tony Rosenast, pen



FEAR gets into recall unit his butt gets projected on the screen

CUT to Riley singing "Butt" song



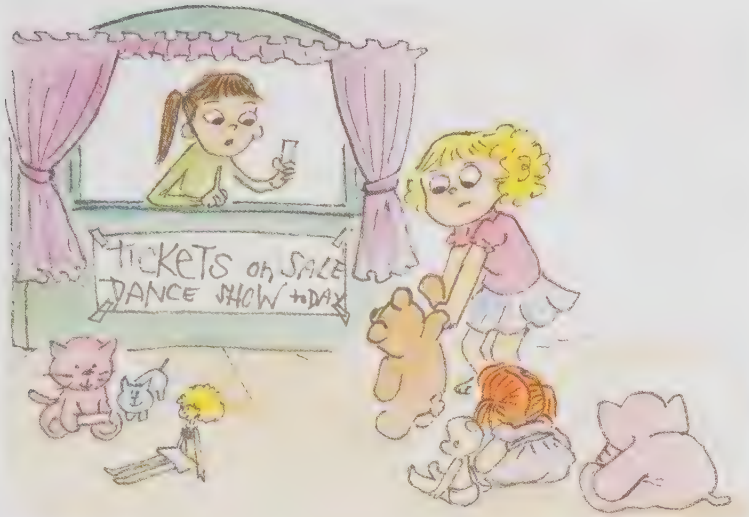
ABOVE
Vlad Kooperman, pencil

RIGHT
Matt Jones, marker

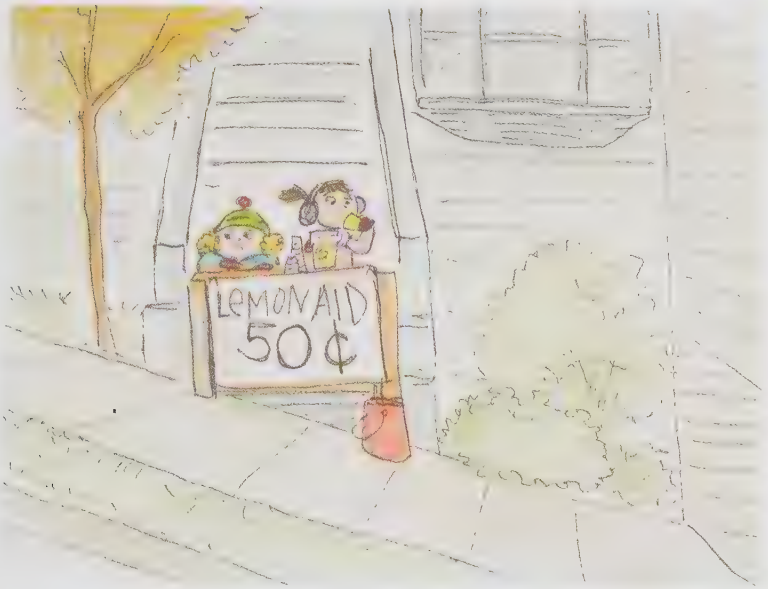
THIS SPREAD

Valerie LaPointe, pen and watercolor

Riley's story shifted a lot in the early stages of developing Inside Out. One of my particular favorites was when it was about Riley's relationship with her long-time best friend. I drew ideas directly from my own memories of playing with my close friends and cousins when I was young. Small, humorous moments are often the best way to make a character specific and original. —Valerie LaPointe



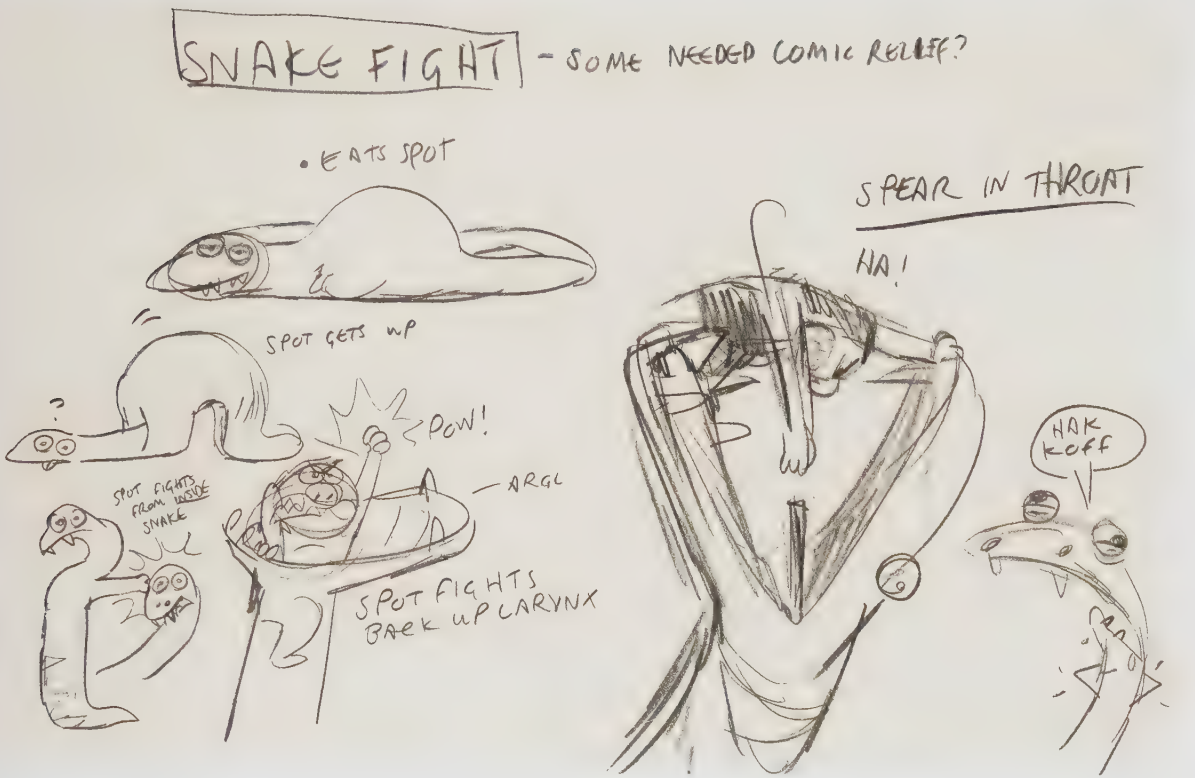
TICKETS ON SALE
DANCE SHOW TODAY



LEMONAID
50¢

Hot coco
50¢

Disney PIXAR
THE GOOD DINOSAUR

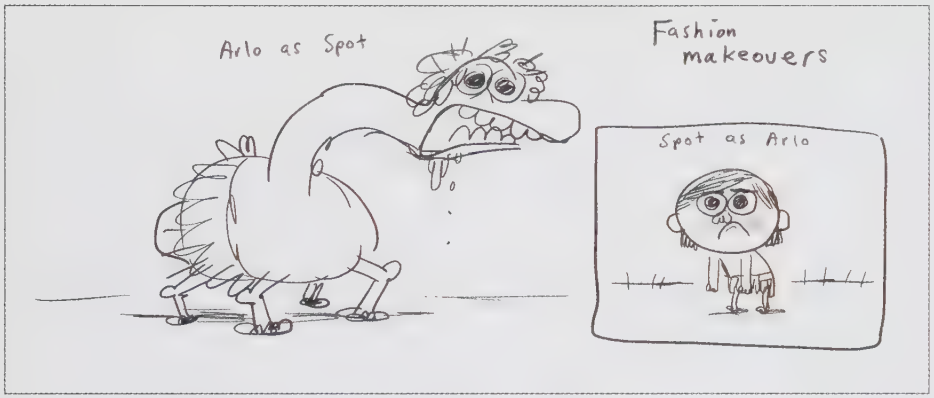


LEFT
J.P. Vine, pencil

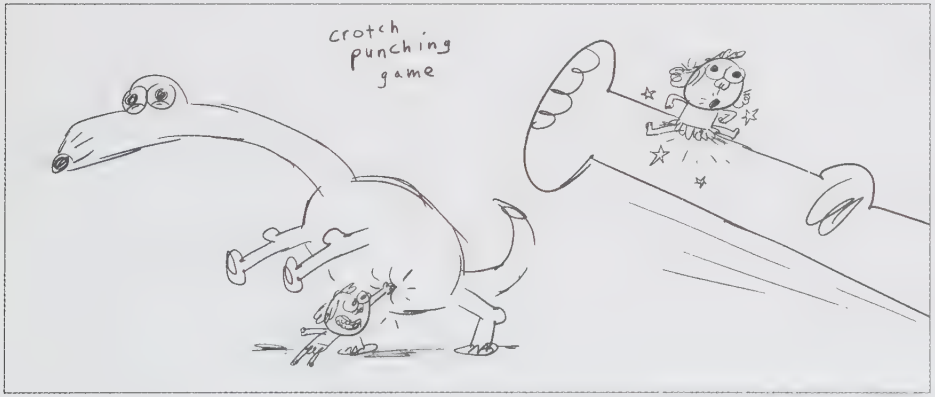
BELOW
Louise Smythe, digital

OPPOSITE
Kelsey Mann, marker

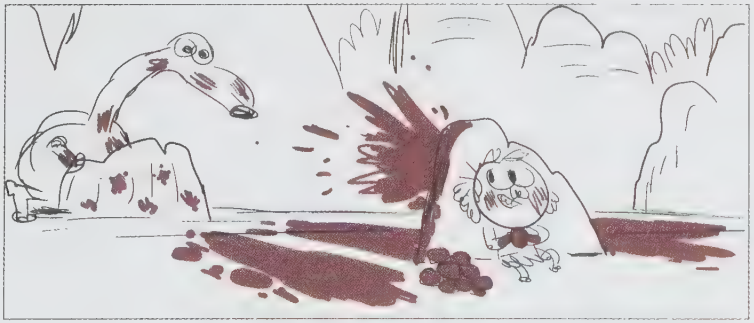
This is the first gag drawing I ever did on the show. I was searching for entertaining ways to see Arlo helping out on the farm. I have no idea why I thought he would have hands with fingers. With gag drawings, it's more about the idea and the joke. At least that's what I keep telling people to avoid them realizing that I'm just plain lazy. —Kelsey Mann



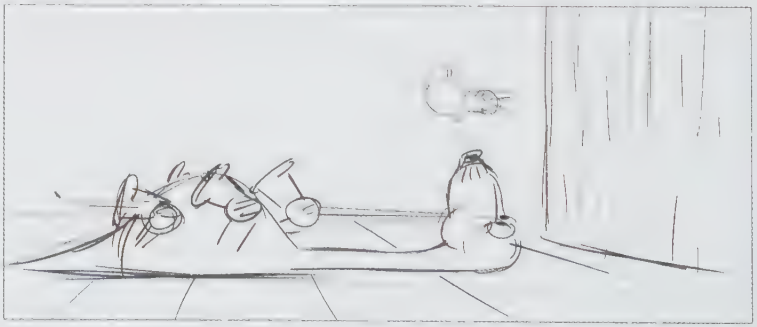
Erik Benson, digital



Erik Benson, digital



Erik Benson, digital



Edgar Karapetyan, digital

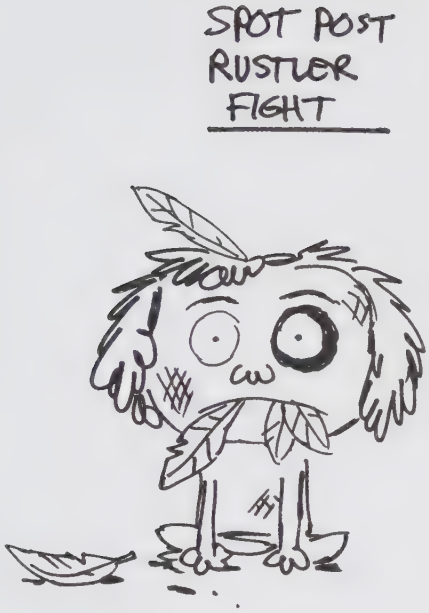
ABOVE
Louise Smythe, digital

RIGHT
Erik Benson, pencil

Austin Madison, digital

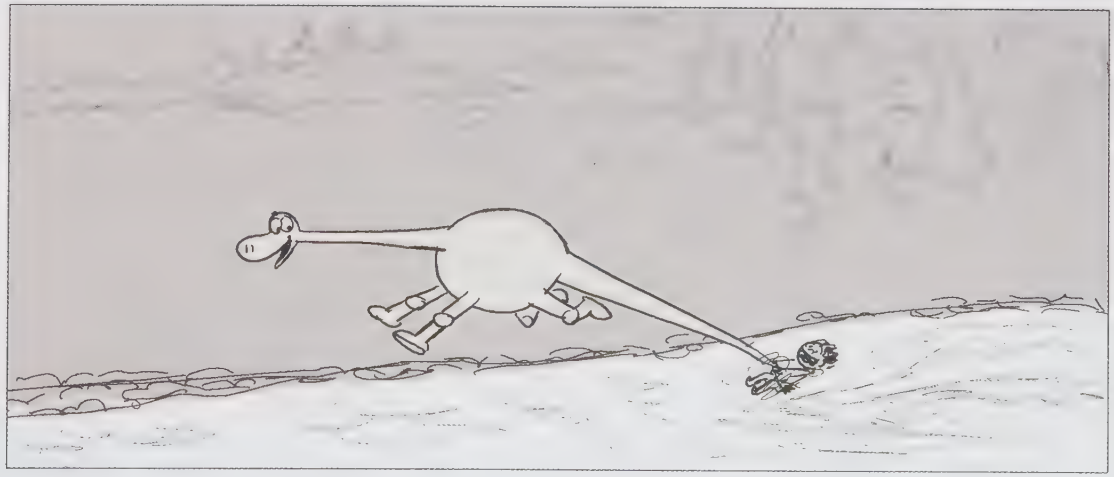
LEFT
Mark Walsh, marker and pencil

We struggled with the humans for a long time. As you do in story, you explore all avenues. Like the one where dinosaurs keep humans locked up in cages and poke at them with spears in a rhythmic pattern to make their screams produce music. Come to think of it, I'm not sure why we didn't go this route. Kids love human torture. —Kelsey Mann



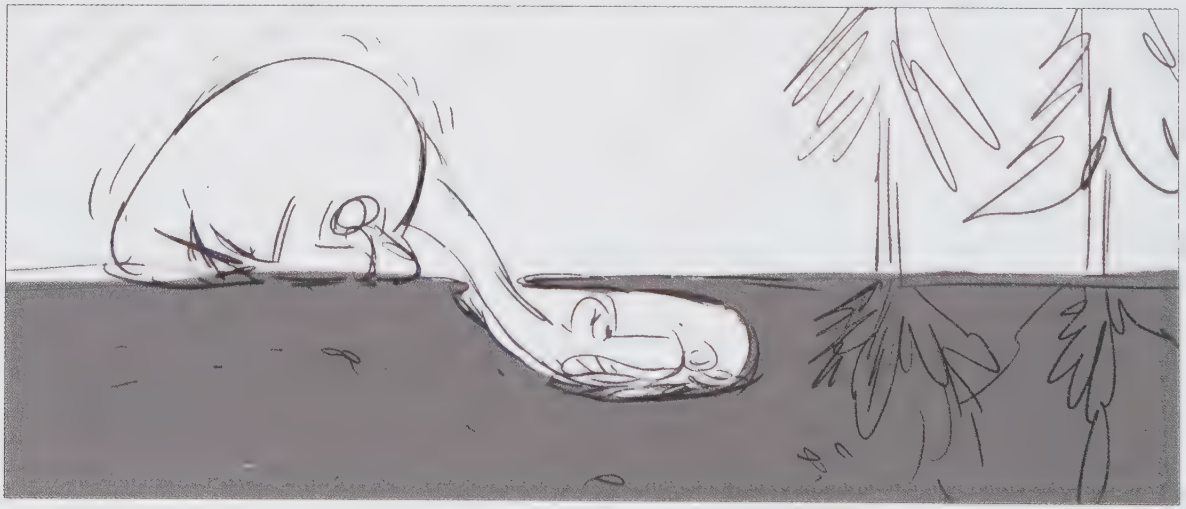
Kelsey Mann, marker

Mark Walsh, marker

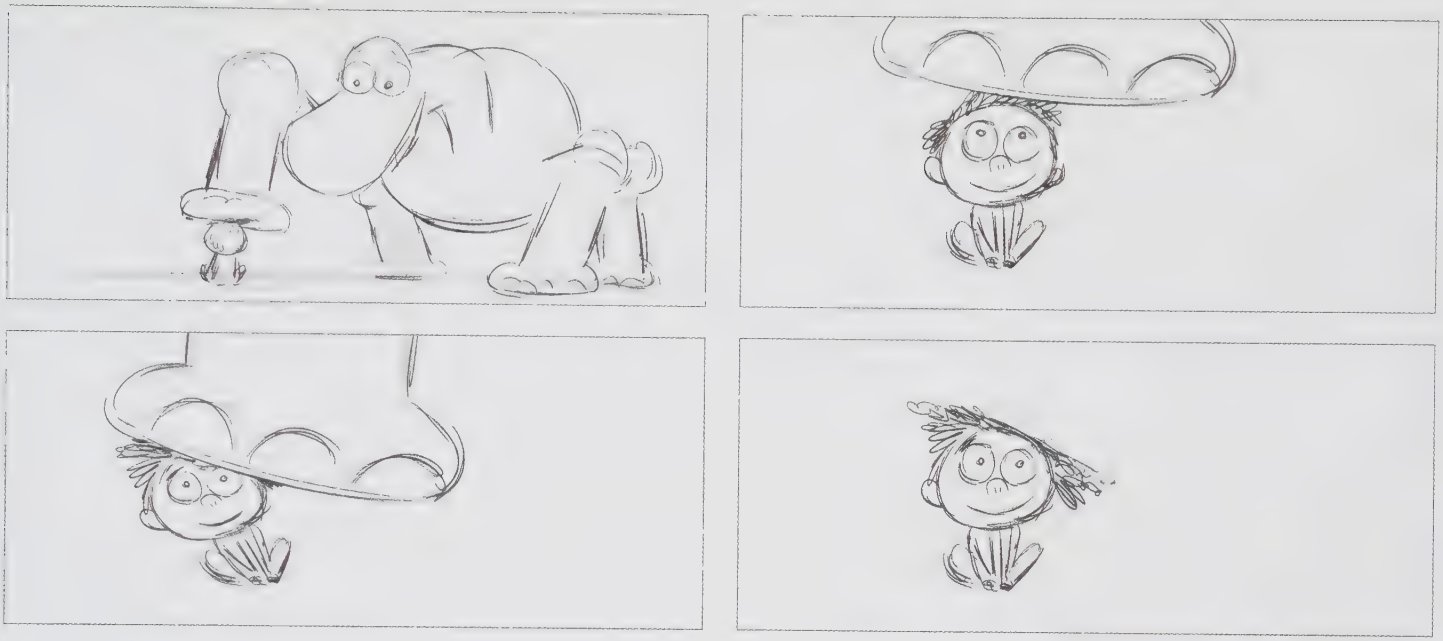


Valerie LaPointe, digital

Rosana Sullivan, digital



Gleb Sanchez-Lobashov, digital



THIS PAGE
Gleb Sanchez-Lobashov, digital

Acknowledgments

Thanks to all of the filmmakers who ever did battle behind the Pixar story room doors:

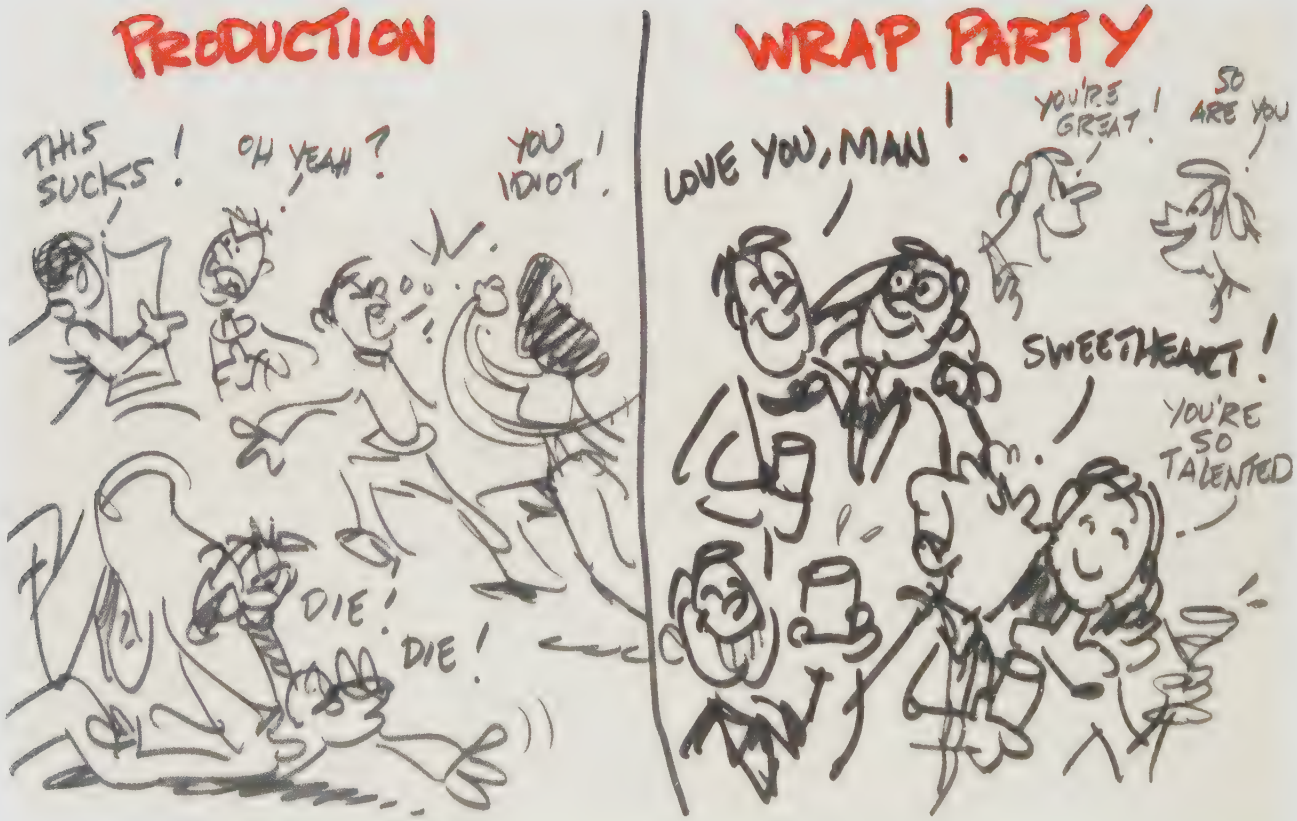
Mark Andrews
Kelly Asbury
Robert Baird
James Baker
Erik Benson
Randy Berrett
Brad Bird
Geefwee Boedoe
Courtney Booker
Rejean Bourdages
Steve Boyett
Max Brace
Colin Brady
Ash Brannon
Ken Bruce
Mike Cachuela
Adam Campbell
Jim Capobianco
Doug Carney
Enrico Casarosa
Yung-Han Chang
Brenda Chapman
Daniel Chong
Emma Coats
Josh Cooley
Jill Culton
Ricardo Curtis
Elias Davis
Jason Deamer
Ronnie Del Carmen
Pete Docter
Don Dougherty
Everett Downing
Ralph Eggleston
Joseph "Rocket" Ekers
Perry Farinola
Brian Fee
Dave Feiten
Doug Frankel
Tony Fucile
David Fulp
Daniel Gerson
Rob Gibbs
Louis Gonzales
Dalton Grant
Craig Grasso
Stephen "Toaster" Gregory
Kirk Hanson
Tasha Harris
Jimmy Hayward
Manny Hernandez
John Hoffman
Mark Holmes
Sam Hood
Justin Hunt
Steven Hunter
Harley Jessup
Dan Jeup
Andrew Jimenez
Trevor Jimenez
Barry Johnson
Matt Jones
Edgar Karapetyan
Jason Katz
Charles Keagle
Dean Kelly
Jorgen Klubien
Vlad Kooperman
Valerie LaPointe
Brian Larsen
John Lasseter
Dan Lee
Robert Lence
Kristen Lester
Brad Lewis
Bud Luckey
Matthew Luhn
Jeffrey Lynch
Angus MacLane
Lauren MacMullan
Austin Madison
Tony Maki
Kelsey Mann
Max Martinez
Ted Mathot
Patrick McDonnell
Nathaniel McLaughlin
Jon Mead
Paul Mica
Ken Mitchroney
Adrian Molina
Stanley Moore
Bruce Morris
Scott Morse
Teddy Newton

Bosco Ng
Ricky Nierva
Floyd Norman
Kevin O'Brien
Brian O'Connell
Chris O'Dowd
Sanjay Patel
Bob Pauley
Bob Peterson
Laura Phillips
Jeff Pidgeon
Jan Pinkava
Bobby Podesta
David Pollock
Karen Prell
Bill Presing
Steve Purcell
John Ramirez
Joe Ranft
Jim Reardon
David Reynolds
James Robertson
Octavio Rodriguez
Christian Roman
Lou Romano
Tony Rosenast
Bobby Rubio
Gleb Sanchez-Lobashov
Chris Sanders
John Sanford
Jeff Sangalli
Dan Scanlon
Gary Schultz
Bob Scott
Garett Sheldrew
Domee Shi
Kyle Shockley
Patrick Siemer
David Silverman
David Skelly
Louise Smythe
Peter Sohn
Andrew Stanton
Nate Stanton
Rosana Sullivan
Nick Sung
Doug Sweetland
Shion Takeuchi
Derek Thompson
Bud Thon
Lee Unkrich
J.P. Vine
Mark Walsh
Tasha Wedeen
Glenn Williamson
Alex Woo
Justin Wright
Michael Yates

Thanks to all of the creatives at Pixar and Chronicle who crafted this book:

Kelly Bonbright
Lia Brown
Deborah Cichocki
Michelle Clair
Deborah Coleman
Michael Del Rosario
Courtney Drew
Andy Dreyfus
Neil Egan
Heather Feng
Liam Flanagan
Christine Freeman
Emily Haynes
Molly Jones
Jason Katz
Shana Levin
Matthew Luhn
LeighAnna MacFadden
Jeanette Marker
Karen Paik
Bowbay Pellicano
Jeff Pidgeon
Juliet Roth
Shiho Tilley
Melissa Woods

–Jason Katz



Floyd Norman, marker

Most cartoonists are first and foremost observers. We simply watch what happens around us and put it down on paper. I've been practicing this animation tradition since the sixties at the Walt Disney Studios and continued it when I moved to Pixar in 1997. This gag is based on my animation colleagues and what usually happens after a picture wraps: we forget all the arguments and fights and suddenly we're best friends again. —Floyd Norman

JOHN LASSETER is a two-time Academy Award®–winning director, chief creative officer at Walt Disney and Pixar Animation Studios, and principal creative officer at Walt Disney Imagineering.

JASON KATZ is a veteran story supervisor, having worked on a number of Academy Award®–winning features, including Finding Nemo, Ratatouille, and Toy Story 3.

Manufactured in China
Copyright 2015 © Disney Enterprises, Inc. and Pixar Animation Studios

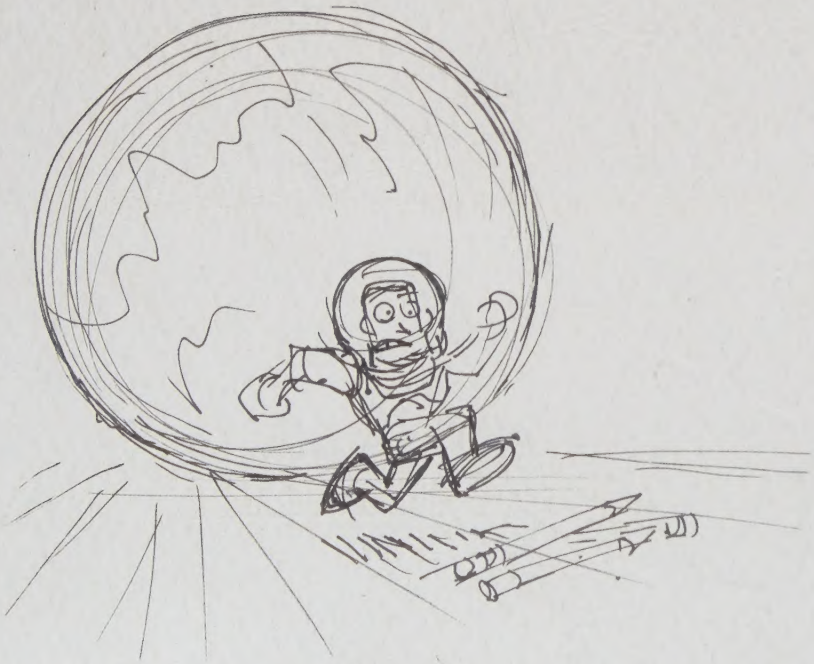
Jacket design by Liam Flanagan
Cover photograph by Deborah Coleman, Liam Flanagan, and Neil Egan

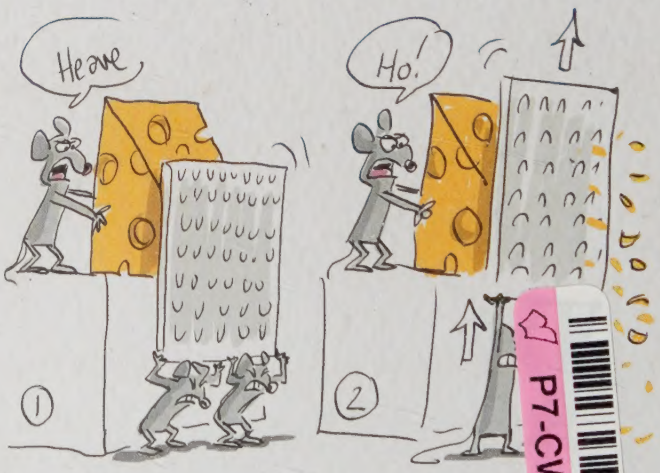
Chronicle Books publishes distinctive books and gifts. From award-winning children's titles, bestselling cookbooks, and eclectic pop culture to acclaimed works of art and design, stationery, and journals, we craft publishing that's instantly recognizable for its spirit and creativity. Enjoy our publishing and become part of our community at www.chroniclebooks.com.

BALTIMORE COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY
3 1183 17897 3225

DECEMBER 2015

PIXAR'S FILMS ARE MANY THINGS—heartfelt, nuanced, adventuresome, timeless—but above all they are funny. The pages of this book showcase a curated selection of gags and story ideas from the last twenty-five years of filmmaking, from Toy Story to The Good Dinosaur, including iconic moments as well as inside jokes that never made it to the screen. The drawings, doodles, and storyboards in the book reveal the moment a spark of an idea takes shape and turns into something the world can enjoy. Welcome to the Pixar story room.





P7-CWS-085

WWW.CHRONICL M

FSC
www.fsc.org
MIX
Paper from responsible sources
FSC™ C104723

$29.95 U.S. / £18.99 U.K.

ISBN 978-1-4521-2228-1

9 781452 122281 52995